The following message was received from his Excellency the Governor, by Col. G. D. Mitchell, his private Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and House of Representatives:

The biennial meeting of the Legislature imposes on me the Constitutional duty of communicating to the representatives of the people the state of the country. The past two years has presented a period of very general prosperity. The health of the country has been good. Industry and economy, united with a sound currency, propitious seasons and a fruitful soil have rewarded the toils of the husbandman with a fair income. Blessed with tranquility at home and peace abroad, our country has gone forward towards the high destiny which awaits her. The people rejoicing that their destiny has been cast in a land of liberty—in a land where the written constitution and the laws throw the ægis of their protection alike over the humble and the exalted, have pursued their several vocations with profit to themselves and honor to their country. With the destruction of the causes which produced them, vice and immorality have measurably disappeared, and the christians heart is gladdened by the manifest improvement in religion and morality. These are matters which awaken feelings of gratitude to our divine master and call forth expressions of devoutest praise. Whilst we witness this general prosperity among the people, it is pleasing to know that the State has prospered also. She has recovered rapidly from her embarrassments, and, if not checked by unwise legislation, must very soon throw off her shackles entirely. Her financial affairs have greatly improved. The Auditor's report of January 1st., 1844, exhibited the indebtedness of the State on account of

Auditor's Warrants at - - - - -	$614,743 83½
There has been issued from January 1st., 1844, to January 1st, 1846, - - - - -	$436,508 41½
Making an aggregate of - - - - -	$1,051,252 25

There has been paid into the Treasury, on all accounts, from January 1st., 1844, to January 1st., 1846, ... $779,711 58

Showing a balance outstanding on the first of January, 1846, of $271,707 07

The assessments of taxes for 1845, very little of which has yet been collected and paid into the Treasury, amounts to $413,772 98 to this the Auditor adds $20,000 on account of miscellaneous items, and subtracts $30,000 for assessing, collecting and insolvencies, leaving a balance of $403,772 98 which will be paid on account of taxes for 1845; so that by the close of the present fiscal year, should the tax collectors settle with the same promptness that characterised them in 1844, the State will have redeemed an amount equal to the warrants that are now outstanding, and leave a surplus if no others, were issued of $131,062 91. What amount shall be issued in the mean time depends mainly on the action of the Legislature. I have been congratuating myself that the sum would be unusually small. There are but few private demands against the Treasury, which will require appropriations, and I am not aware that the public interest will need any important outlay of money beyond the ordinary expenses of the government. The Legislature has doubtless imbibed the prevailing sentiment of the age, that economy is the greatest and best virtue with States, as well as with individuals—and it will therefore limit the appropriations to such objects as are indispensable.

Of the Auditor's Warrants outstanding on the 1st inst., $159,716 68 is in the form of funded scrip, not payable until after January 1st., 1847, and may therefore be placed in the account of the next year. Estimating the expenses of the Legislature at $60,000 and the State Government at $125,000. I set down the sum necessary to be provided for the present year, as follows:

Auditor's Warrants issued prior to January 1st., 1846, not funded, or funded and due in the year 1846, ...	$105,845 09
Expenses of the Legislature, ...	$ 60,000 00
State government for 1846, ...	$125,000 00
Total, ...	$290,845 09

It will be seen that these are items of indispensable necessity and must be provided for. They leave a surplus of $113,927 86 on the first of January, 1847. There has been paid into the Treasury, at various times, on account of the Seminary fund $79,548 76, which drawing by law an interest of 8 per cent. amounts now to $103,068 40 and there has been paid on account of the sinking fund $84,000. It is so palpably just that these items should be speedily adjusted with the public creditors, that I feel at full liberty to press them on your attention.

STATE SEMINARY.

The first payment should be made to the Seminary fund. This Institution has been located at Oxford, in Lafayette county, where a suitable cite has been procured for the buildings. The trustees held a meeting in July, 1845, and subsequently furnished me with printed copies of their proceedings, which I herewith transmit to the Legislature. An appropriation will be necessary to enable them to erect their buildings. Economy should be observed in their construction, convenience and durability being consulted rather than beauty and ornament. I recommend that the sum set apart for building be limited to fifty thousand dollars.

This fund was formerly collected through the agency of the Planters Bank, and by law it was invested in the stock of that Institution. It was a trust fund, so declared by the Act of Congress making the donation of lands, out of which it sprung. The State, as trustee, had no authority for investing it in the stock of any bank; she did so, however, and eighty-four thousand nine hundred dollars, with several years interest on that amount, has been lost. The State is, in my opinion, under the most solemn obligation to pay it back. It is an obligation, not to Congress, but to the children within her own borders, for whose especial education the fund was set apart. I am fully persuaded that Mississippi will never incur the reproach of withholding justice and the means of education from her own children; and therefore I submit the question to you without discussing the State's legal liability. The amount of this fund may be stated as follows:

Amount now in the Treasury of the State,	$103,068 40
Lost principal and interest in Planters Bank,	$110,000 00
To be collected—but in safe hands and secure,	$ 38,287 93
Total,	$251,356 33

What disposition should be made of this fund, I propose to speak in connection with another subject.

RAIL ROAD EAST.

Within a very few days after the adjournment of the Legislature in 1844, the Commissioners of the Jackson and Brandon Rail Road and Bridge Company, made an application to me for twenty-five thousand dollars of the two per cent. fund, loaned to that Company by an Act of the Legislature, Approved, February 26th, 1842. The period limited by law for the completion of the Road having expired, and the Road being still unfinished, I thought the franchises of the Company so far forfeited as not only to justify, but indeed to require me to withhold the money and await farther legislative action. In presenting this subject to the Legislature, it is proper for me to say, that the failure of the Company to complete the Road within the required time, was owing, in a great degree, to circumstances which they could not control: not the least among these was their disappointment in not receiving the benefits of this loan as early as 1843. It will be recollected that the Act of 1842 made the loan contingent upon the consent of Congress. Some time after the adjournment of the Legislature in that year, an agent of the Company repaired to Washington for the purpose of obtaining that consent, in which he succeeded. For reasons satisfactory to himself my predecessor withheld the money. When I came into office I thought the Company entitled to receive it, and should have directed its payment, but for the expiration of the charter. It seems not to have been the fault of the Company that they did not realize the benefits of the loan, and to that extent they are irresponsible for the non-completion of the Road. I recommend that the $25,000 and such other portion of the two per cent. fund, as is necessary for that purpose, be expended in completing the Rail Road from Jackson to Brandon, under the direction of Commissioners to be appointed for that purpose.

This Road forms a link in the great chain which is ultimately to connect the Mississippi river with the Atlantic, and in that view it swells into an importance far beyond any thing connected with the mere existence of a Road from Jackson to Brandon. At the time when Congress, at the earnest and repeated solicitations of this State, relinquished the two per cent. fund to a Rail Road from Brandon to the Alabama line, it was confidently expected that the link between Jackson and Brandon, then in a state of progress, would be completed by other means. These expectations have been disappointed. They induced Congress, however, to mention Brandon, instead of Jackson, as the starting point of the Road. The consent of Congress has only been obtained to the application of the twenty-five thousand dollars to this intermediate link. Her consent should be asked to the use of so much of the two per cent. fund as is necessary to complete the Rail Road from Jackson to Brandon; or, in other words, the consent of Congress should be obtained for commencing the Road at Jackson, instead of Brandon. And in anticipation of this consent being had, the Legislature ought at once to make such provision as will ensure the most economical and speedy application of the money. I invite the special attention of the Legislature to the several memorials from this State, and the final action of Congress in relinquishing the two per cent. fund. It will be seen that the State asked, and Congress relinquished it to this particular Road.

The scheme of connecting the Atlantic with the Mississippi river by means of a Rail Road is one of vast magnitude and will doubtless engage the early attention of the Legislature.

Rejecting the idea that Congress may apply the National Treasure to improvements which are only local in their character, it is nevertheless true, that works which are essential to the "common defence" of the confederated States may, and ought to be constructed at the National expense. Viewing the contemplated Rail Road as a work of this character, I do not hesitate to advise the Legislature to make an earnest appeal to Congress to aid in its construction.

Should the South-Western States be invaded, the Road, as a means of speedy and safe transportation of troops and munitions of war, would be found of incalculable advantage to the Nation at large.

The delays and dangers incident to a voyage around the Floridas, on the one hand, and the perplexities of tedious marches over land on the other, would be avoided. Army supplies, instead of being sent down the river when the waters are low and the delays great, could be forwarded from the East, and by the same means the Eastern and Middle States could be supplied with safety and expedition from the South and West.

If this country is ever invaded by our ancient foe, it is scarcely to be doubted that the Southern States will be selected as the theatre of his most active operations—how essential, therefore, that the means of throwing defence into the country, without danger and without delay, should be provided as speedily as possible.

Should the Legislature make an address to Congres on this subject, I respectfully suggest that, instead of asking a direct appropriation of money to this object from the Treasury of the Nation, they should solicit a donation of one-half of all the vacant lands in all the land districts through which the Road is to pass to be taken by alternate, quarter, half and whole sections. The magnitude of the work will justify the Legislature in making the request, and its National consequence will, in my opinion, fully authorize Congress in granting it. A donation thus liberal will ensure the success of the enterprise, and give us the means of speedily concentrating all our defences, which will, of itself, be more terrible to an enemy than millions of soldiery scattered over the broad extent of our country. I pass over the incidental advantages which it would give to commerce, and the facilities it would afford in the transportation of the mail, and the strength which it would give to our band of union, by bringing the remote parts of the country closer together, and intermingling, as it were, the citizens of Texas with those of New England. Apart from these considerations, Congress should make the grant on other grounds. If the Road is completed the remaining lands must be greatly appreciated in value; and it appears to me that if Congress, by applying our moiety of the public domain to an object of great National importance, can increase the value of the remaining half five fold, or even two fold, it is not only competent for her to do so, but that she is called upon by the highest considerations of public policy and public justice to make the grant.

At what point the rail road approaching from the Atlantic, should strike the Mississippi river, must be left of course, to the decision of those who furnish the means for its construction. It may not be amiss, however, for us to suggest the reasons why Vicksburg should be selected as the most proper point. In the first place, the road from Vicksburg to Jackson is completed; it is, to be sure, in the hands of a private company, but the construction of the road is the question of primary importance, to whom it shall belong is only secondary. In the second place, the grading on the line from Jackson to Brandon is completed. In the third place, a survey of the route from Brandon to the Alabama line has been made, and the cost of constructing this part of the work estimated at only $1,083,428; and fourthly, the two per cent. fund amounting to within a fraction of three hundred thousand dollars, has been appropriated to this road. Is it assuming too much, to say that Mississippi in asking the relinquishment of this fund to this particular object, and Congress in granting it, decided that Vicksburg should be the point where the road is to intersect the river. The two per cent. fund, in the State of Alabama, amounts to $232,000, and one half of it has been relinquished to the construction of the road through that State.

FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND.

The five hundred thousand acres of land given to this State for works of internal improvement by the general government, has been located by commissioners appointed for that purpose, as has also the Chickasaw school lands, amounting to 174 thousand acres. I have procured a map of these lands to be made at the office of the U. S. surveyor general. For special reasons I have not deemed it prudent to have all the lands registered, though they have all been located. There are about thirty thousand of the five hundred thousand acres not yet registered, and therefore not exhibited on this map.

The present is not, in my judgment, a propitious season for bringing these lands into market. So far as relates to the school lands, I doubt if good policy does not forbid the State's parting with the free-hold at any time. The lands should be leased for short terms, not exceeding fifteen years; and the rents and profits paid into the Treasury of the State, to the separate account of the school land in the chickasaw counties, and be used for that purpose and no other.

Whether the State should grant pre-emptions to settlers on the five hundred thousand acres of her lands, is a question on which I defer to the superior judgment of the Legislature; and whilst I do not recommend it, I shall not feel at all at liberty to withhold my assent, if the Legislature, on mature consideration, deem it right, especially if a proper estimate is placed on the value of the land, and care is taken to exact prompt and rigid payments from pre-emptors. The State should adhere as closely as possible to the cash system. My experience has been that the less she deals with the citizens on a credit, the better for both parties.

The acquisition of Texas, and the tide of emigration to that country, together with a prevailing mania among planters to embark in the production of sugar, must of necessity, depress the value of cotton lands in this State for some years to come. Should the Legislature contrary to what I think is the policy of the State determine to hurry those lands into Market, I recommend, that they be classed, into first, second, third and fourth classes, and offered at public sale on due notice, at a minimum of two, four, six and eight dollars per acre, for cash; or else that the whole be offered at a minimum of eight dollars the acre, and the price graduated to seven dollars the first year thereafter, to six the second, and so on, down to one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre.

When it is recollected that these lands have been selected in small bodies and with great care, and that they are now the best uncultivated cotton lands east of the Mississippi river, it will appear, I think, that these prices are not too high. It is certain they will command such prices after a few years. The sales being over, an office should be opened, and the lands not disposed of at the general bidding should be offered at private entry, and at the prices just stated. At whatever time and at whatever price the lands are sold, I strenuously urge upon the Legislature to order them sold for cash only; and that the first proceeds be used in reimbursing to the Treasury the amount of money expended in locating them.

Selling on a credit will encourage combinations to buy on speculation, and if the speculations fail as they most likely will, the State will find herself harrassed with multitudes of perplexing law suits, in most of which, she will be unsuccessful; and in the end the good debts will be sunk in fruitless efforts to collect those which are bad. As familiar examples I may cite the sinking fund, the seminary fund, and the Jackson town lot fund.

LEVEE ON MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

The projected levee on the east bank of the Mississippi river commencing at the Tennessee line and terminating at the mouth of the Yazoo, is a work to which I invite your attention. The question of its practicability is placed beyond question by the report of the Topographical Engineer, submitted to the Legislature in 1844. He estimated the cost at $88,883 47. This will be found, I apprehend, too small a sum; but if the cost should be twice or even thrice that amount, the sum would then, not be commensurate with the value and importance of the improvement.—When two or more parties are jointly interested in the completion of a work, it should be constructed by their joint efforts. The State of Mississippi has five hundred thousand acres of land, a small portion of which is now subject to overflow, and would be protected by the levee. She has a much larger quantity which would be appreciated in value by its construction, because it would render access to the Mississippi river easy, safe and expeditious.

The United States has about one million of acres in like condition, except that a much larger proportion is subject to inundation; much of it to a great depth, and always at that season of the year which to the planter, is indispensable. The lands are therefore, without value. It is scarcely to be doubted, if Congress was accurately informed as to the present condition of these lands, and what would be their worth, if rescued from overflow, a liberal and enlightened policy would be pursued. It is therefore advisable to lay the facts in an authentic form before Congress and ask her to relinquish for that special object alternate sections of all unsold lands on the east side of the Mississippi river, as far back as the hills, and between the Chickasaw line and the mouth of the Yazoo river. This may occasion some delay in commencing the work, but it is vastly more important that works like this should be properly done, and by the proper parties, than that they should be done expeditiously. The benefits which individuals owning lands on the margin of the river will derive from the completion of the work, will justify the State in calling on them to make contribution.

I do not feel impelled by any present pressing necessity, to urge you to commence this levee immediately, and especially if it is to be done at any great sacrifice; but it should be a leading and paramount object with the State, to have it completed at no distant day, and the legislation of the country in regard to its public lands should be shaped towards that end. Should the Legislature deem it advisable to commence this and other works of improvement within any short time, I advise the purchase of slaves for that purpose. I am satisfied if planters can cultivate their lands to greater profit with slave, than with free labor, the State can, with equal advantage prosecute her improvements with the same class of labor. She must, however, to do this, employ overseers who are accustomed to manage slaves, and introduce the same economy which prevails on well regulated plantations.

These suggestions may be considered as applying to the works to be done in grading and getting timber for the eastern rail road, and such other works as are commenced by the State. On this subject I have the honor to transmit a letter from the Hon. John P. King, President of the Georgia rail road, which will tend, I think, to sustain the view that I have taken.

Before any contracts are made, or the work commenced, either on the levee, the road or elsewhere, the State should acquire the right of way through the whole route; otherwise she will be imposed upon by the avaricious and selfish through whose possessions the works are to pass.

If these views meet the legislative sanction, I further recommend that proposals be issued to hire laborers who shall be paid wages to be specified by law, in lands at a fixed valuation. I have thought it reasonable to suppose, that planters and others owning lands on the margin or near the Mississippi river, seeing that the State had the means, and was prosecuting the work with a determined spirit, would gladly aid in its speedy completion, when thereby the lands which they now own, are made more valuable, and those which they take in payment for their work are increased in worth by the labor they expend in buying them.

EDUCATION.

The interesting subject of education has engrossed a large interest in the public mind for some years past. It must be gratifying to the patriot and philanthropist to witness the unanimity with which it has been espoused; and if the Legislature responds, as it doubtless will, to the prevailing public sentiment, the imperative command of the constitution, that "schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged in this State," will no longer go unheeded. "Knowledge," in the language of the constitution, "being necessary to good government, the preservation of liberty and the happiness of mankind," no arguments need be resorted to, to convince the representatives of a free people, that it is their duty to encourage its general diffusion.

Let it be borne in mind that the boys who are now growing up too many of them in ignorance and vice, must in a very few years take our places, and become controlers of our country's destiny; and let us not disguise from ourselves the stuborn fact that the ignorant and vicious of these under our forms of government, must be as potential at the ballot box, for good or for evil; as the most learned and virtuous; and I am fully persuaded, we will employ all the means in our power, to educate them—to direct them in the ways of "religion, morality and knowledge," and thus quicken their devotion to their country.

Benefits are not priceless. If we expect to enjoy the blessings of education, or to transmit its fruits to our posterity, we must expect to pay for them. To the great mass of the people, this declaration will neither be surprising or unacceptable. They do not expect knowledge and a familiarity with the intricacies of government to spring up spontaneously in the minds of their children—good fruit does not grow upon uncultivated grounds, but as thistles and other noxious weeds take possession of an unploughed field, so do vice and wickedness spring up in the mind which is not trained to God and the country. Government gives protection to our lives, our liberty, and our property, but who shall give protection to government if we neglect it? If it be true, that "the blessings of government, like the dews of Heaven, descend alike on the rich and the poor," it must be true, that the rich and poor are alike bound to contribute to its support.

We contribute annually to the support of all the various departments of government, to the legislative, the judiciary and the executive; we contribute to the erection of prison houses and temples of justice, we contribute to the sacred altar and its divine ministrations, but to that which lies at the bottom of them all, and without which, the whole must become "as a sounding brass and tinkling symbol," we contribute nothing.

Education has many votaries but few contributors. What should we think of a man who had built a ship and sent her upon a distant and perilous sea, laden with rich and costly goods without insurance? Yet, have we erected a government, ladened it with priceless jewels of liberty, and cast it upon the uncertain element of popular will, untempered, as yet, by the hallowing influence of education; and shall we still refuse to insure the safety of that government, by refusing to contribute to the only means that can give its safety—the education of its people? The rich may say, we have no interest in the education of the poor! There could be no greater or more fatal error. Pride, the love of our offspring, the ephemeral pleasure of witnessing the bud of youth nurtured by our care, as it expands, and grows, and ripens into manhood, these teach the rich to educate their own children, but the higher considerations of patriotism—the holier cause of religion and morality—the pure and unstained love of human happiness teach them to educate the poor.

Having had my attention drawn to this subject, I opened a correspondence with gentlemen in different parts of the country, with a view to elicit information. Their replies, together with such statistics and other documentary evidence as I have been enabled to collect, are at the service of the Legislature.

Difficulties beset us, I know, but they are difficulties which a prudent and discreet management of our affairs will overcome.—The sparceness of population in many places, has been interposed as a serious objection in the way of any general system of schools. Perhaps it is so. If we cannot, on this account, employ teachers for a year, we could perhaps employ them for a half or quarter of a year. If we cannot do every thing, surely it is not a valid reason why we should do nothing.

Among other matters connected with this subject, I invite the special attention of the Legislature to the reports of the Presidents of the boards of police in the several counties, on the subject of the school lands. These reports were elicited by a circular which I addressed them, and which is herewith transmitted. It will be seen that all have not responded, but enough has been collected to show the manner in which the school lands have been treated, and to make it apparent that a radical change is demanded.

After devoting as much time as I could spare to the subject of schools, consistent with other official duties, I feel prepared in a spirit of the utmost confidence as to its success, to make the following recommendation. The State ought to assume the $110,000 00 lost in the Planters bank and place it at once on the same footing with the $103,287 00 now in the Treasury. The fund would then amount in round numbers to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Two hundred thousand dollars of this should be retained as a permanent fund, and the residue appropriated to the erection of college buildings at Oxford, as heretofore suggested.

This permanent fund should be kept in the Treasury, and an annual interest of eight per cent. paid on it. This interest (16,000 dollars) should be set apart in the Treasury at the beginning of every year and kept sacred and inviolable for the purposes hereafter to be named; and here let me remark that the vexation and expense which has attended a first collection of this fund, and the heavy and ruinous losses which it has sustained in the hands from which it has been slowly wrung, should admonish the Legislature to take charge of it and keep it secure in future. Of the sixteen thousand dollars interest, I recommend that eight thousand dollars be appropriated to the annual purposes of the College. There should be then established ten academies or high schools at as many different points in the State, to be designated by the Legislature, having reference to geographical divisions. To each of these there should be an annual payment of eight hundred dollars out of the remaining eight thousand. Nothing is clearer to my mind than that the College will not succeed, without the aid of auxiliary schools. These schools need not, and indeed should not, be in the immediate vicinity of the College, but at such points as to give it the most efficient aid, and at the same time to diffuse the greatest amount of intelligence among the people. The language of the Act of Congress in making the grant of land from which we derive this fund is that "it shall be vested in the Legislature of the State in trust for the support of a Seminary of learning." This language, "a Seminary of learning," has been thought to limit the Legislature to the establishment of one school, and to negative the idea that that school could have auxiliary departments. It has seemed to me so palpable that the Trustees could so act as to carry out the great object of the trust which was the diffusion of knowledge, that I have not fallen into what is to my mind a constrained idea of the law of Congress. It does not necessarily follow, that because the Act of Congress said "a Seminary," that it meant there should be one school under one roof, or that the "Seminary" and all its auxiliary departments should be in the same enclosure, or even in the same city or town. The spirit of the Act of Congress is carried out by the establishment of one Seminary, University or College with such auxiliary departments as are necessary to its success. These should be UNDER THE SAME GENERAL SUPERVISION AND CONTROL and be located at such points as to be of the greatest advantage to the main College, and to the cause of education.

There must yet be another and a still more useful class of schools—I mean the common or free school. The 16th section of land in each township, set apart by a wise enactment of Congress for this purpose, have been most shamefully neglected. The inattention with which these lands have, in many instances been treated, makes it very apparent, to my mind, that whatever system of schools we adopt, must be taken under the supervisory control of officers who shall be responsible to the State. There must be some general head, and there must be an immediate responsibility of that head to the State laws. The people in mass will never require responsibility, and they will never act unitedly and constantly as one man for the common good; each one will content himself with acting for himself, and the general good will go unattended to. Of the ten or twelve hundred sections of school lands heretofore, and now under the control of the citizens of the township, I have not been enabled to ascertain that one hundred have been well managed. Some of them have been trespassed on and denuded of their valuable timber; in other instances they have been leased, and the money has not been collected: in many instances it has been collected and squandered: in the fewest number of cases has there been free schools kept by the proceeds.

I recommend the passage of a law for the election of School Commissioners in each county, one by the qualified electors of each police district, and that it be made the duty of this "board of school commissioners" to enquire into and ascertain the exact condition of each sixteenth section in their respective counties. I recommend the appointment of a general School Commissioner to reside at the seat of government, who shall receive his appointment from the Governor and Senate, whose duty it shall be to require of and receive from the School Commissioners in the several counties semi-annual reports of their proceedings in regard to the sixthenth sections and other matters entrusted to their charge.

It should be made the duty of the County Commissioners to hold meetings quarter yearly, at the county site, and whenever the interest arising from the proceeds of a school section is sufficient to pay a teacher, it should be their duty to employ a competent man and establish him in a school. Wherever there is a surplus, the consent of Congress should be obtained to its transfer and use in the next adjoining township in which there is a deficiency. They should, without delay, lease all the sixteenth sections, now undisposed of and report to the general commissioner the amount for which each one was leased.

I farther recommend that all the fines and forfeitures, billiard, retail, and other licences, and all other funds that now go into the Treasury other than the legitimate taxes on property be relinquished to a fund to be established and called the "school fund." That the literary fund be collected from the several counties, and placed in the "school fund;" and I further recommend that a tax of five per cent. on the amount of the State and county taxes be assessed and collected annually for the benefit of the school fund. I estimate that from these sources, (not including the literary fund now on hand) we will derive 75,000 dollars annually. This fund should be placed under the control of the general commissioner, to be used in aiding the establishment of free schools. The fund to be apportioned among the counties, each according to its white population, taking the census of 1845 as the present basis of apportionment. It should be the duty of the School Commissioners to establish schools. And whenever the funds of the township was insufficient to employ a teacher, a portion of his wages should be paid out of the general fund; and the whole should be so divided that there should be a free school in every inhabited township, at least a part of the year. If the fund would employ a teacher but for three months, let the school be taught for that length of time.

Such is the plan which I have devised. If it does not meet the legislative sanction, my hearty co-operation is tendered in any other scheme which gives reasonable promise of success. In the final arrangement of any plan much must be included by way of detail which it would be inconvenient to embrace in a general recommendation; and I hope it may not be considered as stepping beyond the limits of propriety to say it will give me pleasure to aid in the arrangement of these details, should the plan which I have recommended be sanctioned by the Legislature.

PLANTERS BANK BONDS.

The financial condition of the State is such that I entertain a lively hope, that the day is not distant when we shall pay an instalment on the bonds issued on account of the Planters Bank, and thereafter meet them regularly and promptly as they fall due. I will not deceive you or our common constituents with the delusive hope that any considerable amount will ever be realized from State stock in the Planters Bank and the Mississippi Rail Road Company. Something may be obtained, and most certainly every legal and proper means should be resorted to to secure as much as possible; and the Legislature ought especially to abstain from any act which could by the remotest possibility endanger the State's interest in either of these institutions. It is idle, however, to rely on the assets of these corporations to meet the bonds. It is unjust to require holders of these bonds to await the final settlement of the bank's affairs for their proper dues.

I have not permitted myself to doubt that the State would at the earliest period, consistent with her engagements to other creditors commence the payment of these bonds. They have been thrown upon us unexpectedly, and hence we have not been prepared to meet them. The large dividends declared by the Planter's Bank for many years and the supposed solvency of the Rail Road Company, during its brief but unfortunate career, lulled the public mind into security. The sudden explosion of both these institutions startled the people with the unlooked for intelligence, that a fund of two millions of dollars had, in a great measure, been lost, and that a heavy debt had, in consequence, been thrown on the Treasury for payment. They have not shrunk from their legitimate responsibility, and they never will. I speak confidently, because in 1843 I maintained the State's liability to pay this debt, and the people sustained me. In my inaugural speech, I reiterated my opinions, and they have ever since been undisguisedly proclaimed, and the people have again elected me by a greatly increased majority.

The first provision made by the Legislature for the issuance of these bonds was in 1830. By the 1st and 7th section of an Act chartering the Planters Bank, approved, February 10, 1830: and by the 4th and 5th sections of an Act, supplemental thereto, approved, December 16, 1830; the faith of the State was pledged, and provision made for issuing two millions of dollars in State bonds.

In pursuance of these sections the first 500,000 dollars of six per cent. bonds were issued and sold in 1831. (See Doc. herewith transmitted.) It has been intimated that these bonds were unconstitutional, and the reason assigned, is that the 16th section of the Act of 1818, which was supplemental to that of 1804, chartering the "Bank of Mississippi," pledged the faith of the State, that "no other bank" should be established in this State during the continuance of the aforesaid corporation, "and that in derogation of this pledge, the Planters Bank was established; and that by the 1st and 7th sections of the charter, and 4th and 5th sections of the supplement, these bonds were issued. I think it may be well questioned whether the Legislature of 1818 did not transcend its powers in undertaking to guarantee the exclusive right of banking in the State to a single corporation, for a series of years. There was nothing in the constitution of 1817 expressly giving this right, and the Legislature of 1818 was assuming too much perhaps, when it undertook to forestal the action of each subsequent Legislature to the year 1834, when the charter of the old bank was to expire.

On the mind of those who believe the Legislature has the power to repeal bank charters, the argument that the "Planters Bank" conflicted with the rights "of the Mississippi Bank" will fall "as seed sown on stony ground." And to those who believe with me, that the powers of one Legislature are commensurate with those of another, where no exclusive constitutional rights are given to one over another, it will seem almost conclusive that the Legislature of 1818 had no right to assume the exclusive and entire control over the subject of banking, as they did for a period of 16 years.

True, the opinions of gentlemen distinguished for their legal ability, have been invoked, and are said to sustain this position. These gentlemen may have been wrong. If they meant to say that the issuance of the bonds was unconstitutional, it is, to my mind, most palpable that they were so.

There was nothing in the constitution of 1817 which forbid the Legislature to pledge the public faith for a loan of money. They did pledge it, and on that faith they borrowed 500,000 dollars, which was invested in Planters Bank stock, on which the State, for many years, received the dividends; and would doubtless have continued to receive them if the bank had continued to declare them. I do not now undertake to controvert the unconstitutionality of the bank charter; that is not material to my purpose. The State received the money, and she had a constitutional right to receive it in the way she did; if she invested it in the stock of an unconstitutional bank, of her own creation, such investment does not, in my judgment, weaken the obligation which she is under to pay it back. But the argument of its unconstitutionality, if solid, only applies to the first 500,000 dollars. The people of the State assembled in convention in 1832 to revise and amend their constitution. By the 9th section of the 7th article of the constitution which they then made, they imposed limitations and restrictions on the power of the Legislature to pledge the public faith for loans of money. And now, as evidence that they were satisfied with the disposition which had been made of the 500,000 dollars, they expressly provided "that nothing in this (9th sec. 7th act,) shall be so construed as to prevent the Legislature from negotiating a further loan of one million and a half dollars and vesting the same in stock reserved to the State by the charter of the Planters Bank of the State of Mississippi."

It is now suggested that the convention did not mean to weaken or to give additional force to the pre-existing obligation incurred by the Act of 1830. That they did not intend to incur an obligation even to pay back the "one million five hundred thousand dollars" which they were thus particular in reserving to the Legislature the power to borrow. In short, that they meant to leave the whole matter where they found it. Such a suggestion does but little credit to the wisdom or integrity of the men who framed our constitution. They represented the sovereign power of the State. They stood above the law and above all contracts, and especially were they above laws and contracts which were unconstitutional. And if the Legislature of 1830, in its zeal to obtain money, had been hurried over the ramparts of the constitution, it was the duty of this convention, not to leave the matter where they found it; not to say go on and obtain more money by the same unconstitutional means; not to say you shall have power "to negotiate a further loan," but you shall have no power to pay back what you borrow —but it was the duty of the convention, by every sentiment of national faith, by the loftiest principles of honesty and fair dealing to have abrogated the law, and to have forbidden the issuance of any more bonds. Failing to do this, and absolutely authorising their issuance, the convention impliedly legalized all that had been done, and rendered the State firmly and fixedly liable for the one million five hundred thousand dollars, which it authorised to be issued. Let us deal honestly with ourselves, and we shall do no injury to others. Our unbiased judgments tell us that the framers of our constitution believed that the first 500,000 dollars had been well disposed of, and they intended to obtain and invest one million five hundred thousand dollars in the same way.

But it is asserted that one generation cannot bind another to pay a public debt. The argument, if plausible, is not applicable to our condition. We are not the posterity of the men who lived thirteen years ago, but if we were, I should maintain, that if we transmit to those who come after us, our lands and the fullness thereof, it will be no grievous hardship, if we transmit with them such debts as we cannot, without serious privation to ourselves and our families, pay off and discharge. The fairest way, however, to answer the argument that posterity is not bound to pay our debts, is to pay them ourselves, and that is just what I recommend.

The first series six per cent. bonds (500,000 dollars) were issued in 1831, payable in four instalments of 125,000 dollars each. The first was due July 1st., 1841; the second will be due the first of July of the present year; the third July 1st., 1851, and the fourth July 1st., 1856. The second series five per cent. bonds (1,5000,000 dollars) were issued in 1833, and are payable in three instalments of 500,000 dollars each, the first on the first day of March, 1861; the second March 1st., 1866, and the third March 1st., 1871. The interest on the first series was paid to July 1839, and on the second to March 1st., 1839, since which time nothing has been paid. It will be observed that an instalment of 125,000 dollars has been due since July 1st., 1841; and it will be found on calculation, that there is interest due on the six per cent. to the first day of the present month 195,000 dollars, and on the five's 512,500 dollars, which two items being added to the 125,000 dollars principal makes an aggregate of 832,500 dollars principal and interest, due on the first day of this month, (January, 1846.)

It will be seen that the bonds draw an aggregate interest of 105,000 dollars annually, which is payable semi-annually on the first series in July and January, and on the second in March and September, and that the principal falls due at periods of five years from one instalment to another. If the sum now due was paid, it would require only 130,000 dollars annually, up to July 1st., 1856; to meet both principal and interest as it falls due in future, and after that time, 175,000 dollars annually to March 1st., 1871.

It has already been seen that there has been paid into the Treasury in Auditor's warrants, on account of the sinking fund, 84,000 dollars: this sum, it is confidently expected, will be increased to 125,000 dollars by the first day of July, 1846.

The Legislature need not be reminded that this fund stands pledged for the payment of these bonds. Nor do I deem it necessary to admonish you that no further delay should occur in its payment to the bond-holders, than is absolutely required by the embarrassments of the Treasury. I hope indeed, it may be found expedient to make an appropriation at this session, payable in July next, of a sum sufficient to cover the amount of the sinking fund in the Treasury at that date. If this cannot be done, there certainly can be no reason why it should not be paid in July, 1847, as by that time the Treasury will have realized the revenues for the fiscal year 1846. The State has upwards of 22,000 acres of land belonging to the sinking fund: it would be well for the Legislature to make suitable arrangements for selling these lands; and I recommend that the State Commissioner be authorized to sell them for Planters Bank bonds and cupons that are now due or for Auditors' warrants. If properly managed they will go far towards liquidating so much of the debt as is now due and unpaid. If the Legislature would authorise the Commissioner to receive bonds and cupons due prior to January 1st., 1846, in payment of any debt due the sinking fund, I am persuaded it would facilitate collections and be of great advantage to the fund and to the State.

In view of the present condition of the State, I advise the policy of paying the principal and interest of her bonds as they fall due in future; and that she apply only the means which I have suggested and such surplus funds as she may have from time to time, to the payment of that portion of the debt which is now due and unpaid.

Being in arrears, it will require an effort superior to the means of the State, to bring up the entire account at once; but if she sets out with a fixed purpose of meeting the debt hereafter as it falls due, it can and will be done. It has been shown that the revenue for the present year, will approximate four hundred thousand dollars. The expenses of the State Government will not exceed 175 thousand dollars per annum in future, including the interest on the school fund, admitting that my suggestions on that subject are adopted. After paying for the erection of the college buildings at Oxford, say fifty thousand dollars, and taking up the outstanding Auditor's warrants, and meeting the economical expenses of the government, there will be a surplus this year; and next year, without an alteration in the laws, which shall produce a reduction in the revenue, there will be a surplus of at least one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars, and thereafter that amount annually, deducting fines, forfeitures, licences and, such other items as I have already recommended, should be given to the school fund.

It will be seen that with these means, we can pay the bonds as they fall due, and have something left to pay on the account now due. If, in the end, we receive any considerable amount from the banks, it will come in time to pay a portion of the bonds which fall due some years hence.

The reduction made in the expenditures of the State Government, by the act of the last Legislature regulating salaries, &c., will greatly assist us in our effort to meet the public debt. It was a wise law and admirably adapted to the embarrassed condition of our finances. The general anxiety among men of acknowledged talents, to accept office, is, perhaps, the best evidence that the salaries are high enough.

There may be a still farther reduction of our expenses by a proper regulation of the Circuit court practice in criminal business.—One of the heaviest charges on the Treasury, is the payment of costs where the State fails in the prosecution. If District Attorneys were required, under proper penalties, to be constant in their attendance on grand juries, and clerks and sheriffs appropriately punished for neglect of duty, in failing to issue or to serve process, it would go far to remedy the evil.

There should be a day set apart by law for taking up the criminal docket, and when taken up, it should be disposed of without intermission or delay. In this way, multitudes of witnesses now detained at court from day to day, and finally discharged at the costs of the State, might be let off in half the time, and the business of the State be better, because more promptly attended to.

The census taken in 1845, a return of which is herewith transmitted, exhibits the aggregate white population of the State at 241,688. In apportioning the representation among the several counties, I respectfully suggest that the public interest may be promoted by reducing the whole number of representatives considerably below what it now is. Such reduction will lessen the expenses of the legislative department, and expedite the transaction of business, whilst it will not, I am persuaded, detract from the wisdom of legislation, or impair, in the least degree, its adaptation to the wants of the people. The Senate, though a smaller body than the House of Representatives, has always originated one half, at least, of the important busines. Its deliberations have been marked with as much wisdom and courtesy as those of the House, and its business despatched in less time.

I estimate that the session may be shortened by the proposed reduction one fourth, which in a session of ordinary length, will be fifteen days. The Legislature, with its present number of members, sets at a cost of about six hundred dollars per day, or nine thousand dollars in fifteen days, excluding appropriations and printing. The pay of members alone, is five hundred and forty dollars a day. If the number of members were reduced one-forth, there would be a saving in this item alone, of one hundred and thirty dollars per day, which, in a session of forty-five days, approximates six thousand dollars. If the Legislature thinks with me, that reducing the number of representatives will not impair the wisdom or utility of legislation, I am sure they will take pleasure in adopting my suggestions as a measure of economy.

When the people are heavily taxed, they have a right to expect a proper and economical use of the money; you will always be ready, I am sure, to devise means of your own, or to carry out the suggestions of others in the fulfillment of these expectations.

Complaints have been made that the taxes are too high. Coming, as you do, directly from the people, you are presumed to know more of their opinions on this subject than I do. Their will must be obeyed. The people cannot be taxed against their consent.—I hope they will not lighten their burdens at the expense of the public credit. On this point I defer to their representatives, but I should ill discharge my duty to them, if I did not say that the public credit is not in a condition to be sustained under any sensible reduction in the aggregate amount of the revenue. If the taxes are equalized in a greater degree, so as to distribute more justly the burthens of taxation, and yet not reduce the gross receipts into the Treasury, I will be greatly pleased; but I should be sorry to witness any legislation calculated to relapse the credit of the State into that long and painful disorder from which it is but just now recovering.

QUO WARRANTO.

The "quo warranto" act of 1843, has been a fruitful theme of controversy for some time past. Whatever may be said of that act, and the objects which it was intended to effect, it is undeniably true, that the Legislature is under the strongest possible obligation to the banks and their debtors to pass such laws as will secure them "right and justice," without "denial or delay." If it is asserted that a banking corporation has forfeited its franchises, the question of forfeiture should be judiciously inquired into; and it is the duty of the Legislature so to legislate, that the enquiry may be had without delay, and without perplexities or expense to either party, other than such as may be necessary for the full and fair administration of justice. What is to be the effect of a forfeiture judicially ascertained, as to the property of the corporation, or as to debts due to or from it, is a question properly referable to the judiciary, and with which the Legislature and Executive have no concern.

BANKS.

Unfortunately for the stability of our institutions and the safety of society, political communities seldom profit by the experience of the past. The lessons which were taught us during the banking mania in this State—the deep and vital wounds which were inflicted on the morals and good order of society, will be entirely forgotten in the lapse of a few years. Whilst the recollection of these events are fresh in our minds it will be well if we make an enduring record of the hostility they have engendered to banks and banking; and to this end I advise an amendment of the constitution, forever prohibiting the establishment of banks in this State.

STATE ARMS—MILITIA.

A letter from the United States Ordnance department is herewith transmitted. It shows that from our territorial organization to 1843, there has been sent to Mississippi arms and accoutrements to the value of sixty-four thousand dollars. The report of the Quarter Master General will exhibit the present condition of these arms. The State is now in the annual receipt of four hundred and forty muskets, which, valued as they are by the United States, at thirteen dollars each, are worth five thousand seven hundred and twenty dollars. The number will increase with our increasing population. It will be seen that almost all the arms heretofore sent to the State have been wasted. The prime cause of this has been, that the State has never provided a place for their safe keeping.

I recommend the erection of a public armory in this city, in which all arms and accouterments, not in actual use, shall be kept. The greater portion of the work may be done by the penitentiary convicts, so that the actual outlay of money need not be great.—This being done, there should be appointed a quarter master and an assistant, to superintend the armory and take care of the public stores. All volunteer companies now having, or hereafter receiving arms from the State, ought to renew their bonds every year, and give such additional security as the Quarter-master may require.

I believe the public interest requires and the public voice demands a change in the militia system. The trainings under the present law are attended with a loss of time and annoyance to the people, greatly exceeding any real benefit which they derive. It is a very great mistake that militia musters prepare the people for actual service, or train them to a soldier-like use of arms. They go to muster for the most part, to amuse and be amused, regarding the whole affair as an expensive farce; they perform their parts for the fun, and not the profits of the play, and are always glad when it is over.

There are now in this State about forty-five thousand persons subject to militia duty. If they are required by law to drill only four days in each year, there would be lost in time 180,000 days. Time, to a man of enterprise, is money. Suppose each day to be worth fifty cents, and there is an aggregate loss of ninety thousand dollars. The law, such as it is, I have endeavored to see enforced; I regret to say with ill success. The people are opposed to it, and many of them can neither be persuaded or coerced into obedience to it. Some obey and some do not. This engenders a spirit of jealousy, as to the injustice and unequal operations of the law. The disobedience of some encourages disobedience in others, and a disregard of law in one respect begets a disregard of it in another. Under such circumstances it becomes a question for your serious deliberation, whether you will not abandon the present, and adopt some new system.

Looking to the possible disturbance of the country, by invasion or internal commotion, the present law ought not perhaps to be repealed. It might be suspended in its operations and put in force on any sudden emergency, by an executive proclamation. The active military force should consist of one volunteer company in each regiment, which contains five hundred or more efficient men. These companies should be required to train at least one day in every month; and for this service, the members should be exempted from road and jury duty.

The public arms should be distributed to them from the State Armory by the Quarter-master General, who should also be a competent drill master; and it should be made his duty, to visit each company once in every year, under the direction of the Governor, and drill two entire days. For this purpose, the Quarter-master should receive a competent salary; and his assistant, whose duty it should be to superintend the business of the Armory, in the necessary absence of the Quarter-master, should have a fair compensation also. It will be seen on examination, that the money drawn from the Treasury under this system, will be less, by some hundreds of dollars, than under the system which now exists.

The companies should contain sixty-four members each, eight to be taken from each Captain's beat in the regiment, and in case more than eight should offer, let it be determined by lot who should serve. Vacancies should be filled by election; and if at any time a company was found to have neglected its duties grossly, either in not drilling or not taking care of its arms, or in failing to enfore the discipline of the corps, such companies should on the certificate of the drill master to that effect be disbanded by the Governor.

PENITENTIARY.

The employment of the penitentiary convicts in the mechanic pursuits, continues to be a cause of complaint. These complaints are well founded in some respects, and demand, as they will doubtlets receive, your respectful consideration. I have collected sundry reports and other papers on this subject, which I have the honor herewith to transmit to the Legislature. I invite special attention to the letters from the Ohio and Louisiana Superintendents of State prisons. It seems evident in a country like ours, which consumes so large a quantity of woollen and coarse cotton goods, that they may be manufactured to advantage; and I do not therefore hesitate to advise the Legislature to embark a portion of the labor of the prison in the fabrication of these articles, with a view to its ultimate conversion into a manufacturing establishment, should the experiment succeed. If the State purchases slaves to carry on her public improvements, provision should be made by law for having them clothed from the penitentiary.

The report of the Inspectors and officers of the Penitentiary, for the year 1844, exhibits the net profits of the institution at $1337, and the report for 1845, shows the net profits for that year, to have been $5110 02. Both reports are herewith sent to the Legislature.

LUNATIC ASYLUM.

We have never provided an assylum for lunatics, nor a refuge for the insane, in this State. The best feelings of humanity require that this omission should be supplied. I recommend that suitable buildings be erected, and such other means adopted as are best suited to the condition of this unfortunate class. The buildings need not be costly, nor the arrangements for the maintainance of the lunatics very extensive for some years to come; both, however, should be equal to the present wants of the country.

AMENDMENT CONSTITUTION AND MISCELLANEOUS.

The Legislature at its last session, proposed two amendments to the constitution: the first was in regard to slaves, and the second was a proposition in substance, to divide our judicial from our political elections. The required notice was given through the public gazettes in both cases, by the Secretary of State. The first of these amendments in regard to the slaves, has received the required number of the popular votes, and needs only to be inserted, by order of the Legislature, to become a part of the constitution.—The second proposed amendment, did not, I regret to say, receive a constitutional number of votes, and is therefore lost for the time being. I regard this as the most important of the two proposed amendments, and the returns show that it is favorably regarded by the people; a large majority of those voting on the question, voted for it, but they have fallen short of a majority of the whole vote cast for members of the Legislature. I recommend that the question be re-submitted in 1847. The main object of its friends will be attained if it passes then, as with a single exception, the judges now in office, retain their places till 1849.

Most of the States of the Union have proposed an interchange of laws, reports and legislative documents. In the absence of any legislation on the subject, I instructed the Secretary of State to send ours in exchange for such as were sent to us. This course, I hope, will meet the sanction of the Legislature, and that authority will be given to pursue it in future, otherwise it will be abandoned.

Complaints are frequently made that difficulties are encountered in procuring the proper acknowledgments of deeds, and other instruments of writing in the different States, to be used in this State. The evil has been remedied in other States, and may be in this, by the appointment of a commissioner to take these acknowledgments, who shall depend for his compensation entirely on the perquisites of office, and who shall reside at the principal commercial point in the State for which he is commissioned.

The report of the State commissioner herewith transmitted, will bring you acquainted with the progress made in the business entrusted to his charge. The present condition of the several funds under his management, seems to render it necessary that power should be given to effect compromises. I invite your attention to his suggestions on this point. It appears to me, that the interest of the State will be secure, if the commissioner is allowed to make compromises under the legal advise of the Attorney General, subject to the approval of the Governor.

I herewith transmit the report of the commissioner of the seminary fund, and a communication from the Attorney General.—From these you will learn the condition of the several matters entrusted to their official charge. Communications from the Adjutant General and the Quarter-master General, are herewith enclosed. These reports and communications make it manifest that greater security should be required of those having the custody of the public money and property. I recommend that hereafter all bonds taken for the safe-keeping of the public money and property, shall operate as a judgment lien on the property of the obligors.

The accompanying correspondence with the stockholders and assignees of the Mississippi Union Bank, will acquaint you with the fact, that five millions of dollars in State bonds, issued on account of that institution, were delivered to me on the 14th April, 1844. The bonds were deposited in the State Treasury, and were cancelled by my direction.

On the 21st February, 1845, I received the resignation of the Hon. R. J. Walker, United States Senator from this State, and immediately thereafter tendered the appointment to the Hon. Jacob Thompson, who declined it. On the 3d day of November last, I appointed Joseph W. Chalmers, Esq., of Marshall, to fill the vacancy, and that gentleman is now in the discharge of his duties at Washington, where he will remain until a successor elected by the Legislature, is sent on.

GENERAL JACKSON.

I have the honor to transmit resolutions of the Texian Congress, passed June 21st., 1845, tendering to General Andrew Jackson the tribute of a nation's gratitude. It was not given to the venerable patriot to receive this tribute. He died at the Hermitage 8th June, 1845, full of years and full of honors. The resolutions are not more honorable to Texas than they would have been gratifying to the eminent man for whom they were intended, had it pleased Heaven to lengthen out his days until he had received them.

The perusal of these resolutions awaken in our minds the liveliest recollections of a man who has left the impress of his mighty intellect on all the interests and institutions of his country. He was ever the fast and unchanging friend of Mississippi. Firm and inflexible in his purpose, wise in council and terrible in war; he possessed a mind to comprehend and will to serve our wants—his was a heart without guile, and in his bosom the fires of patriotism never went out. Whether in the field, at the red man's council fire, in the Senate or chair of State, or in later years, when stricken by time, we see him bowing before the altar of the great I AM, his cares, his toils, his affections and his energies were given—always given to his country. He has descended to the tomb, but it is left with us to manifest our respect and veneration for his name. In token of the deep sense of gratitude which we feel for the past political and military services of this great man, I respectfully suggest that one of the niches in the rotunda of the capitol be filled, by order of the Legislature, with his statue in marble. And as he was in life purely an American; in mind, body and soul, wholly and entirely an American citizen, this tribute will only be complete when the work is done by an American artist in American marble.

Resolutions from the different States have been forwarded to me from time to time, with requests that I should submit them to the Legislature. They relate to a great variety of subjects, some of which, may require your attention. They are submitted to your consideration.

Of the contingent fund of the Executive Department, I have paid out on account of 1842–3, - - - - - $421 00
" " " 1844, - - - - - $3629 39
" " " 1845, - - - - - $2905 85
for which I shall be pleased to exhibit vouchers to a legislative committee.

A book of great value in the administration of our probate laws has been compiled and published, by Ralph North, Esq., of the city of Natchez. I recommend that a sufficient number of volumes be purchased by the State, te supply the several probate courts and the State library.

I have thus, gentlemen, at the hazzard of being tedious, given you my views on such subjects as in my judgment, merit your attention. The absence of the Legislature for two years has permitted a great number and variety of subjects to accumulate, the presentation of which, to your consideration, has required unusual space. Apologising for any unnecessary prolixity in this communication, I conclude with an earnest invocation to the Divine Power so to direct your councils that all your acts may redound to the happiness of the people and the glory of our common country.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

DOCUMENTS ACCOMPANYING THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

LETTERS RELATING TO THE SCHOOL LANDS.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
City of Jackson, Miss., 23d September, 1845.

DEAR SIR: Intending to bring the subject of Schools to the attention of the Legislature at its next session, I have to request you to furnish me with information on the following points:

1st. How many 16th sections have been sold in your county?—At what price were they sold, and what disposition has been made of the money?

2d. How many 16th sections remain unsold, and what is the probable value? State it in dollars and cents!

3d. What number of schools in your county are now supported in whole or in part by the proceeds of the 16th sections? When the school has been supported in part only? What proportion does that part bear to the whole amount paid?

4th. What number of children are schooled in your county by the proceeds of the 16th sections?

5th. Have the unsold 16th sections been trespassed on, and if so, to what extent have they been damaged?

May I urge you to make your reply to these interrogatories, at as early a day as may be consistent with your engagements, and not delay it longer than the first December next.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

ALBERT G. BROWN.

The foregoing communication has been addressed to the several judges of probate and presidents of the boards of county police in this State.

His Excellency A. G. Brown:

You will perceive that this information extends only to that portion of Monroe county lying east of the river: the west side of the river being in the Chickasaw cession.

I am, sir, very respectfully yours,

(Signed,) MATTEE GIBBS.

MISSISSIPPI CITY, Harrison county, Miss., October 13th, 1845.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 23d ultimo, has fallen into my hands, asking information relative to the 16th sections in this county.

There has not been a single 16th section sold in this county, which constitutes an answer to almost all the questions propounded.

There are 24 16th sections unsold in this county, worth at present an average of about $300 a section. One of them is mostly in the Bay of Biloxi, and partly covered by an old Spanish grant. The Secretary of the United States Treasury has been requested to locate another section in lieu of this.

There are five fractional townships on the coast in this county, that have no 16th sections or other lands reserved for schools, on account of the size of the fraction in some cases, and others, the 16th section has been taken by Spanish and other grants. A similar request has been made of th Secretary of the U. S. Treasury to locate lands for some of them.

We have in this county but four common schools, at which about 75 children are instructed on, an average, while there are about 300 others that ought to be at school in the county.

Our population is at present much scattered, and is one of the great difficulties to be overcome in this, as in all new settled counties, by individuals in getting means of instruction for the children.

I sincerely hope your Excellency's efforts to get a good system of education established throughout the State, will be crowned with triumphant success the ensuing winter.

I shall probably have it in my power to further, in some small degree, your laudable efforts to effect so desirable an object, as I am before the people for a seat in the Legislature, and my friends say I will be elected. A month more, however, will give us more certain information.

Very respectfully, your friend and servant,

(Signed,) JNO. J. McCAUGHAN.

JONES COUNTY, October 23d, 1845.

To your Excellency A. G. Brown:

SIR: Your interrogatories in relation to the 16th sections, is now before me, and I take great pleasure in giving you all the information on the subject I can.

1st. There never has been any 16th sold in our county.

2d. We have only 16 sixteenths in our county.

3d. Three of them have been trespassed on, but nothing damaged; on the contrary, their value enhanced.

There is but four 16ths that is worth anything, that I can speak positively about, and I should state their value thus:

Four sixteenths, a 50-100 per acre,	$1280
Four sixteenths, a 640 each,	2560

The balance of the sixteenths I consider valueless, they being poor piney woods.

By reference to a correct map of the State, this county is imposed upon in this particular. You will there perceive that township 10 is a fractional one, and in running out the Choctaw nation, that township was made complete and all the 16th falls to another county, Jasper. Again, you will perceive that the western boundary of our county extends to the centre of range 14 west, but does not include any of the 16th within range 14. Jones county then loses as much as two 16ths on the west, and two in the north; and those on the north are, as far as my knowledge extends, valuable. Your Excellency will therefore do well to drop a hint in your message to the next Legislature, (when speaking of schools,) to have this matter equalized among the counties, or school districts.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,) JAMES M. EVANS,

Judge of Probate.

ISSAQUENA COUNTY, Oct 25, 1845.

His Excellency A. G. Brown:

SIR: In answer to the questions contained in your printed circular, I regret to say that I have so little information to give you.—This county is a new one, and all the records are in the county of Washington: the officers of that county have refused us copies of all the papers—those, indeed, which relate to our school lands.—The school lands on the front have all been sold, and are valuable. I do not know the number of sections unsold. There is not a school in this county, supported in whole or in part, by the school fund. I understand that a large amount of timber has been taken from some of the school sections, and I have requested the members of the board of police residing there to put a stop to the evil.

With the highest respect;

Your obedient servant,

GEORGE G. SKIPWITH,

President Board Police Issaquena county.

YALLOBUSHA COUNTY, October, 29th, 1845.

DEAR SIR: Your circular of the 23d ultimo, addressed to the board of police of this county, making enquiries in relation to the school lands, &c., &c., in this county, I received some weeks ago.

I regret it is not in my power to give satisfactory answers to any of the five questions you have submitted. The school commissioners are not required to return to the police court an account of their proceedings, so as to furnish any data upon which to give you information. I do not believe the 16th sections have generally been managed so as to be of much benefit to the school fund. I know of but two, where the proceeds have yet been of any benefit. I believe the 16th sections have generally been sold where the lands were worth anything. This is a populous county—many children in it. As far as my observation extends, a very great disposition prevails in parents to educate them; but I can give you no information "what number are supported," in whole or in part, by the proceeds of the 16th sections; but few, tho', I think; nor do I believe, under the present system, there ever will be many.

I am glad you propose bringing the important subject of schools before the Legislature: hope you will devise and suggest some better plan than is now in operation. The responsibility of those who have to attend to the school fund, is so divided, it rests on so many, that it is attended to by nobody. Let there be as few agents as possible, and make their responsibility direct, positive and certain. No system, no matter what it is, will ever succeed where there are many agents and a divided responsibility. The truth is, we have so many elections by the people, such frequent changes for cause and without cause, that by the time a person in office becomes acquainted with his duties, his term expires, he retires, or is thrust out by some one else, who knows nothing (probably) of his duties; and if disposed to learn, like his predecessor has to share the same fate. We all know and feel the truth of these things every day in nearly every officer under the government, and yet we look on, suffer, submit, and attempt no change.

Very respectfully, yours

J. H. LEIGH.

NATCHEZ, November 4, 1845.

Governor Brown:

DEAR SIR: Since I had the honor to suggest to you a short plan for public schools, I have seen many others in the newspapers, all of which, I think, objectionable, on account of the distinction they make between rich and poor, their complication and their expensiveness. It is necessary to the success of the scheme, that such errors should be avoided; and particularly, that no distinction be made between rich and poor, which cannot be certainly prevented without a fundamental rule, that no tuition fees are to be charged, under any circumstances. I doubt the propriety, also, of making the system obligatory, at first, further than to require one school to be established in each county, as suggested in my former letter, and all the expense, independent of what is borne by school lands. State funds should come from the county treasury, without any special school tax. This feature was thought an independent one in the early laws of Massachusetts.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. P. MERRILL.

JACKSON COUNTY, 6th November, 1845.

ALBERT G. BROWN,

Governor of the State of Mississippi:

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 23d day of September last, was duly received, and in reply to the several interrogatories, I have to state, to the first,—"How many sections have been sold in your county? At what price were they sold, and what disposition has been made of the money?" Answer—none has been sold.

To the second—What is their probable value? Answer—very little value.

3d. What number of schools in your county are now supported in whole or in part by the proceeds of the 16th sections? Answer—none.

4th. What number of children are schooled in your county by the proceeds of the 16th sections? Answer—none.

5th. Have the unsold 16th sections been trespassed on, and if so, to what extent have they been damaged? Answer—none has been trespassed on to my knowledge.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

JOHN FAIRLEY.

RALEIGH, Smith County, Mississippi,
November 7, 1845.

DEAR SIR: In compliance with your request I beg leave to communicate to you the following information respecting the 16th sections in my county, viz:

1st. There has been but one sixteenth section sold legally; which brought one hundred and twenty-five dollars only; the money has been collected and loaned out at interest.

2d. There are twenty sections remaining unsold: the 16th sections in this county are generally of an inferior quality of lands; and are not probably worth more than six thousand dollars.

3d. There are no schools supported, either in whole or in part, by the proceeds of the 16th sections.

4th. There are no children schooled by the proceeds of the 16th sections in my county.

5th. The unsold 16th sections have been trespassed on to some extent, but whether any of them have been damaged thereby or not, I am not prepared to say, but am of opinion that the improvements made on them, in a majority of cases, will enhance their value, provided they are sold or leased soon.

The information above given is the best I have or could obtain; not having an opportunity to examine all of them myself, I obtained the best information I could from others.

Very respectfully, yours &c.,

W. F. BOWLING,

President B. P., I C.

NOVEMBER 7, 1845.

Governor A. G. BROWN:

DEAR SIR: I proceed to answer your request concerning the 16th sections in Jones county, State of Mississippi.

1st. How many 16th sections have been sold? Answer—none. The second is: How many 16th sections remain unsold? Answer—all. I shall now give you what is their supposed value, as follows:

16th Sections.	Township.	Range.	Dollars.	Cents.
1	6	10	00	00
2	6	11	00	00
3	6	12	00	00
4	6	13	20	00
5	7	10	00	00
6	7	11	00	00
7	7	12	5	50
8	7	13	200	00	trespassed on.
9	8	10	00	00
10	8	11	10	00	do do
11	8	12	10	00
12	8	13	150	00	do do
13	9	10	200	00	do do
14	9	11	10	00
15	9	12	00	00
16	9	13	10	00
			$615	50

5th. Have the unsold 16th sections been trespassed on; and to what extent have they been settled? On which, from all information I can get, makes them more valuable, which the list will show them that have been trespassed on.

I am, your ob't serv't,

DAVID N. CARLILE, P. B.

Wayne County, Nov. 32, 1845.

SIR: In compliance with your request, I return such answers to your interrogatories as I have been able to collect. Your letter did not reach me until a few days ago, and not having been long a resident of this county, I have to depend on such information as I could hastily collect.

1st. Two 16th sections have been sold; four hundred acres of one section was sold for one cent per acre: the remaining two hundred and sixty acres has never been sold. The other section was sold—the whole of it—the amount it sold for, I do not know; and if any more was received, I do not know what disposition was made of it; nor do I believe that any titles have been made to any land sold of the 16th sections. It is also believed, that the lands above mentioned were illegally sold.

2d. From the best information I can get there is but three 16th sections in this county that is worth any thing; two of them are those that have been sold; the other has never been offered for sale: the three sections, if sold at a fair sale, would probably command two thousand dollars.

3d. There is not now, nor has there ever been, a school in this county supported, in part or in whole, by the money realized from the sale of the 16th sections.

4th. There is not one child in this county schooled by the proceeds of the sales of the 16th sections.

5th. There are now trespassers on the best 16th sections—there are three trespassers on the best 16th section, that never was offered for sale. I suppose the damage the 16th sections have sustained by trespassers has not been very great; but should they continue to live upon them, and to clear lands, as they have done, they would be very much damaged in the course of a few years.

The most of the 16th sections, one not worth any thing; and there is but three in this county that is considered worth selling. There is not a county in this State where education is more neglected than this. There is now in the hands of the county treasurer about two hundred dollars of the literary fund, the greater part of which, I am informed, was collected from fines.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

T. J. CHAMBERS,

P. B. C., P. W. C.

To His Excellency, A. G. Brown,

Governor of the State of Mississippi:

Sir; In a communication from you, dated 23rd September, 1845, propounding several interrogatories, I now hasten to answer as near as I can.

One 16th section has been sold only in my county, which sold for $335. Three hundred and thirty-five dollars, which amount of money is at interest.

And there is yet 15 16th sections unsold in my county, worth probably, fifteen hundred dollars.

There is no school in my county supported by such a fund. I do not consider that the 16ths in my county have been damaged any as yet.

I hope the above will meet your wish.

Yours, Respectfully,

J. A. WILCOX, President of the Board of Police.

NATCHEZ, November 26, 1845.

To his Excellency, A. G. BROWN:

DEAR SIR: In accordance with the request contained in your circular of Sept. 23rd, addressed to the president of the board of police of Adams county, in relation to school lands, I am at length enabled, after a good deal of research, to give you the following information, viz: To your first enquiry I reply, that there is fourteen sections and fractional sections, containing in the aggregate 6095 30-100 acres—to the second query I reply, that from all the information I can gather, there has none been sold, except a fractional section, containing about two hundred acres: the proceeds of this sale supports the education of about fifteen scholars; this is the only case where children are educated by the proceeds of school lands. The unsold lands have been trespassed upon to a considerable extent; I would say, probably, to one 16th of their estimated value. The probable value of the lands might be estimated at five dollars per acre—the fractional section named, on the other side, was sold for forty dollars per acre—but this sale can afford no criterion for the actual value of other sections, as it was sold under peculiar circumstances. I have been somewhat tardy in giving you this information, but I could not do it sooner, as I was obliged to employ a competent person to visit the different sections in the county before making my reply.

I have the honor to be

Your Excellency's most ob't serv't,

B. WADE, President Board Police Adams county

CHARLESTON, November, 27, 1845.

Honorable A. G. BROWN:

I attempt to answer your enquiries in reference to the 16th sections in this county, set apart for schools. I owe an apology for so long delay. I have not been enabled to get the information desired until this late day, and the elections occupied so much attention that the officers of the different departments have not been enabled to assist me in making examination, &c.

The history and condition of our 16th sections are truly wretched; nothing perhaps has been managed more recklessly than the 16th sections of this county, without the days of the Union bank should be brought to memory. I will give you, however, as correct a statement as I can possibly arrive at, which is all required by you.

The 16th section in township 26, range three east has been sold and forfeited: I do not consider it worth exceeding $160; it is almost valueless. The number of children in said township is about 100.

The number of sections sold is three, amounting to about the sum of $5,647 71, and the money in two of them has been loaned out under the old law; and there is three schools supported in part from the money, say about 60 children in the three schools that are about half supported from the proceeds arising from the sale of the lands. The 16th section sold under the law enacted by the Legislature of 1842, is a part of the amount of the three sections sold as herein stated. The amount sale of these three sections is considered to be well secured: the number of children in these townships are supposed to be about 250.

The 16th section in township 25, range 36 east, is unsold, but rents for about $85 per year: what is done with the proceeds I know not; it is worth about $1,280. The 16th section in township 24, range 2 east, is worth about $1,000.

Those remaining unsold are in number 22, and their probable value, except the second above named, I know not, neither can I ascertain, without giving myself much trouble, as they are in that portion of the county that is unsettled, and will therefore require some days to examine the lands and make that report that is desired by you without some compensation is made me: number of children about 300. I know but one 16th section of my own knowledge that is trespassed upon, and that lies upon the Talla-hatchie river, and if I mistake not, now cultivated in part by James Shriley; it is very valuable and has been once sold to James R. Marsh, now dec'd, and the notes given for the payment of the purchase money lost. I shall ever deem it my duty to give you any information that you may desire, and your request in that respect shall be complied with.

Most Respectfully, your ob't serv't.

JAMES STEELE,
President B. P., T. C.

SHIELDSBOROUGH, November 24, 1845.

Gov. A. G. BROWN:

DEAR SIR: In answer to your request of the 23rd September, I must say to you, that being absent from the State of Mississippi, I did not receive your letter till a few days ago.

1st. There has been two 16th sections sold in Hancock county since I have been in office, and they are all that have been sold; one was sold the first Monday in March last; it sold for seventy dollars, and of course the first note is not due yet: the second was sold on the first Monday in July last; it sold for one hundred and seventy-five dollars. All the notes are in my hands.

2d. There are twenty-five and a fraction of 16th sections that remain unsold; they are mostly all in the piney woods, and what the value is I am unable to say.

3d. There are no schools supported out of the proceeds.

4th. There are no children schooled in Hancock county out of the proceeds of the 16th sections.

5th. There has been one unsold 16th section trespassed on, and as well as I can ascertain, to the amount of ten per cent. on the value. It is said that it is the most valuable one in the county. It was trespassed on about three years ago, and at that time it would have sold for four or five hundred dollars. I entered suit in the Circuit Court, but failed in the prosecution. You will excuse me for not answering you, on account of my absence.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

A. G. BROWN.

STEPHEN MEAD,
Judge of P., H. C.

CLINTON, November 27, 1845.

Honorable A. G. BROWN:

DEAR SIR: Your communication of 23d September last, addressed to Henry G. Johnson, on the subject of 16th sections, has been placed in my hands. I can only give information as to the 16th section, township 6, range 1 west.

Sales of section,	$5,231 12
Funds belonging to section independent of the sale,	1,131 21
	$6,362 33

There are two schools on the section employed by the trustees.

Number of students at this time free of charge, with a prospect of an increase—34.

Under the late law only 8 per cent. interest has been collected, but I am under the impression that law has been repealed, so far as the 16th section funds are concerned, and 10 per cent. will be immediately collected.

Very respectfully, your ob't servt,

E. M. LAWRENCE, Sec'y & Treas'r,
16 Sec. T. 6, R. 1 W.

To His Excellency, A. G. BROWN:

SIR: In answer to your interrogatories, I state as follows, viz:

First, two sixteenth sections have been sold for	$2,390 00.
Amount paid over to the trustees, and loaned out at interest at this date,	358 40
Sales thought to be illegal, and now in law.
Second, fourteen sixteenth sections remain unsold, valued at	$8012 00

Third, no schools supported by the proceeds of the sixteenth sections.

Fourth, no children schooled by the proceeds of the sixteenth sections.

Fifth, the unsold sixteenth sections have been trespassed on, but not damaged.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ASA CHAMBERS, President,
Board Police Scott county.

Hillsboro Miss., Nov. 28, 1845.

BENTON, NOV. 30. 1845.

DEAR SIR: I have taken some pains to inform myself in regard to the interrogatories propounded in your circular letter of the 23d September, on the subject of sixteenth sections, but I regret to say, with little success. I will, however, proceed to answer as far as the limited information obtained will authorize:

1st. There are twenty-two sixteenth sections in Yazoo county, (including fractional sections,) and about thirteen of the number have been leased for ninety-nine years, at what price, I cannot say. Four or five of these sections were sold in Brandon times, and the proceeds "gone glimmering through the dream of things that were." The remaining eight or nine are appropriating their money, or the interest thereon, to the support of schools. Forty or eighty acres were generally retained by the trustees, on which school houses have been built, and schools taught.

2d. About nine sections remain unsold. A few, perhaps five of these, will sell for five dollars an acre: The remainder of little value.

3d: There are about twelve schools supported on the sixteenth sections, and controled by trustees thereof, and receiving probably one-half their support from funds arising from said school lands.

4th. There are probably two hundred children schooled in this county, by the proceeds of said sections. The trustees, in most instance, where the school fund is insufficient to sustain the school entirely, appropriate it to the indigent, leaving the wealthy to pay their tuition fees.

5th. The unsold sixteenth sections have been trespassed on to some extent, but not great, as timber is abundant in all portions of our county, and consequently, the destruction of it, amounts to little damage.

I am highly gratified at your desire to bring the important subject of education before the legislature, and regret my inability to be more explicit in regard to the situation of our county in the premises.

With high segard, your ob't serv't,

J. J. MICHIE, President,
Board Police, Yazoo county.

NEAR BRANDON, Rankin county, Dec. 10, 1845.

To His Excellency, the GOVERNOR:

DEAR SIR: It gives me much satisfaction to be apprised of your intentions relative to schools, and it would give me real pleasure to answer your interrogatories fully, but from the way the sixteenth sections have been managed in this county, I dispare of any thing like success, if I were to attempt it.

The sixteenth section in township five range three, a part of Brandon, by a previous act of the legislature, vested in the trustees of Brandon academy; sales were made of lots on it, nominally large amounts promised therefor, whether paid or not, I cannot tell. If paid I do not know to what use applied. Both academies, male and female, are conveyed in trust to persons for the pretended or real loans of money for their erection. I have been sending to school in Brandon, since 1837, and have paid from two to three and a half dollars per month all the time, and know of none who have fared better. That many persons claiming lots, and enjoying all the benefit thereof, which were never paid for, I do not doubt. The part of the sixteenth section which has not been sold, is free to all that will, to pilage for fire-wood, and any other timber they want. The law spoken of having taken all authority from the board of police, and the resident heads of families, and trustees of the academies, some dead, some moved off, and the balance taking no action in relation to it. Sixteenth section township five, range two, part has been sold, and there are deposited in the police court bonds, &c., for money of which, some of the parties have gone the way of all flesh, and others to Texas, and some insolvent, and a few probably good for the amount, if any action were taken, but as the principal heads of families will not act, and the Judge of Probate has not acted, it has never been any benefit to schools in the townships. The unsold part is in like situation with Brandon. A. W. Wilson is living on it free of all charge. Sixteenth section of township four, range two, was sold, and large improvements made, but nothing paid. Heads of families, much to their credit, have taken it back; and for the last two years have rented it annually, and it is a considerable help towards schooling the children of the township; and renting at fair prices and still improving, it will in a short time, nearly school the children of the township; and in my opinion, this should have been done in every instance from the beginning. It is probeble there are, and I think there are a few other sixteenth sections the trustees of which, are trying to do right; but the balance are managed most wretchedly, and not worth one cent towards schooling the children.

Very few of the trustees ever gave bond or took the oath of office; and instead of managing for the benefit of the rising or coming generation, are managing for self, son-in-law, John, Dick, cousin Tom, Dick or Harry, &c., &c. Some have never underwent the ruinous care of any superintendents, and except being pilaged for timber, which some of them on Pearl river are best off. Would it not be well to make it penal and inflict a severe punishment on such trespassers. Many of the sixteenth sections, and parts of them have been sold, and not one cent paid for them; the purchasers selling to third persons, and receiving pay, and in some instances large prices and running off, and the townships never received one cent. I will endeavor to procure more particular information on this interesting subject, and lay before your Excellency, as soon as possible.

In the meantime, I remain your most obedient serv't,

WM. M. WILLIAMS, President,
Board Police, Rankin county.

LEXINGTON, Holmes county, Nov. 25, 1845.

DEAR SIR: In answer to your request of September 23d, relative to school lands, I have endeavored to get what information I could, which is as follows, viz:

I think there is nineteen school sections in this county. eighth section has been sold. Eight hundred and eighty acres have been cancelled. Section sixteen, township sixteen, range three east, has been sold, and payment secured, : : $54 00
Eighty acres in section three, township sixteen, range two east, : : : : : 400 00
Township fifteen, range two east, sold and payment probably secured, : : : : : 1700 00
Township fifteen, range three east, sold and payment secured, : : : : : 601 00
Township fourteen, range four east, : : : 2200 00
Township fourteen, range three east, sold and payment secured, : : : : 1900 00

$6855 00

Amount brought over,	$6855 00
Township thirteen, range two east half section sold, payment secured,	600 00
Township thirteen, range three east sold, payment secured,	6800 00
And pays fifty per cent. of the tuition in said township.
	$14,255 00

The balance is unsold, and a portion of it entirely worthless. I suppose it to be worth some $8000 00.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

AUGUSTUS PITCHFORD, President,

Board Police, Holmes county.

RODNEY, Dec. 7, 1845.

To His Excellency, A. G. BROWN:

DEAR SIR: I regret that the circular addressed by you, to the president of the board of police in the several counties, relative to the number, probable value, disposition, &c., of the sixteenth sections of school lands, did not reach this county until after the time at which you desired the information to be at Jackson, otherwise it should have met my prompt attention. Believing that my compliance would not benefit your Excellency,

I remain your humble servant,

ROBERT COX, President,

Board Police, Jefferson county.

MILLDALE, Warren county, Miss., Dec. 3, 1845.

To the Governor of the State of Mississippi.

To Your Excellency:

SIR: We, the subscribers, citizens of township eighteen north, of range five east, wish to lay before you the situation of our township. It contains a valuable sixteenth section, that is worth in our opinion, eight or ten thousand dollars, and it is yet unappropriated as to the use of a school, which school we very much need. We have from eighteen to twenty poor children in our township, and we have no school to school them. Your address to the Sun-flower board of police is flattering to our necessities, and shows to us your patriotism for free schools. You will please let us direct your attention to the statute of this State, (page 131, section 30,) where it provides that in the event that there shall be one or more townships, which does not contain population sufficient to elect trustees as is provided for by law, that the board of county police of the county in which the same is situated, shall lease the said section according to the provisions of this act, and in all other respects, perform the duties required of said trustees. Sir, we have urged the board of police of this county upon this subject, and they will not act for us. Sir, we have population sufficient to form a board of trustees, but those of this population who would act as trustees, are poor, and cannot give a sufficient bond for their performance as the law requires trustees should give. We are as bad off as though we had not a sufficient population to form a board of trustees; and those of this population who could give a sufficient bond have already been trustees, or purchasers of this sixteenth section. We learned from W. B. Fears, who was one of the trustees of this sixteenth section, that in the month of July, 1836, that himself, N. L. Matthews, L. A. Ward, John Rogers and S. G. Parkes, was appointed by the board of police of this county as trustees, and they got an order from the board of police to have it sold, and that it was sold for twenty-six thousand and twenty-five dollars. It was bought by W. Adams and John Purvis, who were able to make the payment when the money became due, but did not make them, so the trustees sued them upon their notes, and got a judgment for the money; and after judgment was obtained, it appears that the purchasers, Adams and Purvis, came to a compromise with the said trustees, and that the said Purvis and adams did pay to N. L. Matthews, one of the said notes, (five thousand dollars,) for that compromise. This we have from Mr. John Adams, who states to us that he himself did pay to N. L. Matthews, the money for the compromise, and if so, Matthews must have kept it, for he has never employed a school teacher, nor has there ever been a township school in the township. Also the former purchasers, Adams and Purvis, have been, and are still using the best timber for rails and boards, off of the sixteenth section. Also Adams has in cultivation some fifty or sixty acres of it, and has had ever since he purchased it.

You will favor us with your attention, and we will ever in duty pray, &c.

CORRESPONDENCE ON THE SUBJECT OF SCHOOLS.

Copy of letters from Lyman Cobb, of New-York, in relation to the Common School Laws of that state.

NEW-YORK, April 16th, 1845.

DEAR SIR: On my return from a visit to the city of Philadelphia and Baltimore, I obtained your favor of the 18th ultimo. Since that time I have been engaged in collecting such reports, documents and other materials as I deem of importance to you, which I hope to transmit to you as early as the 10th or 15th of next month, perhaps sooner. But as I wish to give you explanatory notes in relation to many of the Common School Laws of this state, the causes which led to the adoption of some when the country was less intelligent and wealthy, as well as less experienced in all that pertains to Public Instruction, as well as the rejection of them at a later period, I think it not probable that I shall be able to send them before the 15th. At all events, no time shall be lost on my part in rendering you my feeble aid in your laudable and praisworthy efforts to establish Common Schools in your state.

My kind regards to my friend Dr. Rush.

With much respect, yours,

LYMAN COBB.

NEW-YORK, June 30th, 1845.

DEAR SIR: Since my letter to you, I have been engaged in collecting documents on the subject of Education, mostly in relation to the subject of Common School Education; and I trust, that a perusal of them will aid you somewhat in your determined purpose to bring the matter before the legislature of your state.

It is, I believe, a generally admitted fact among all philanthropists, patriots, and statesmen, that to perpetuate our Institutions, the great body of the people must be educated.

The question which presents itself is, of course, how shall this be done? Many good men and true, seem to think that the people should be compelled, as in Prussia, by law, to educate their children, or to place them where they can be educated. Others, equally philanthropic and patriotic seem to think, that the state should make ample provisions for all to be educated, free of charge, and that they should be at liberty to send their children or not.

In the state of New-York, we have decided and acted upon that decision for the last thirty years, that, to help the people to help themselves, is the true policy in matters of education as in every thing else.

Accordingly, no town can receive any money from the Common School Fund of the state, unless that town shall raise by tax, an equal amount to its portion of that fund. Thus a constant interest is kept up and felt among the people.

The Common School Fund of this state, as you will perceive by documents sent you, is composed of Lands appropriated to that purpose, and the salt and auction duties. In one city, and in some others, and perhaps in all the other cities of this state, laws somewhat different from those applicable to the state at large exist.

It matters very little, however, what amount of funds be raised and appropriated, unless the supervision be good. In this state we formerly had three Commissioners and three Inspectors of Common Schools, whose duty it was to district the towns, inspect the teachers, &c.

That responsibility was too much divided. We now have a town superintendent instead of these six officers, who has supervision of all the schools in his town; and a county superintendent who has supervision of all the schools in his county, to whom the people o any town may appeal—An appeal may also be made from the decision of the county superintendent to the state superintendent whose decision is final.

One great error, in my opinion, exists in the distribution of the state fund in this state—It is apportioned among the different counties of the state according to the number of children in the county between 5 and 16, whereas, in my judgment it should be apportioned among the counties in proportion to the attendance. For instance, suppose in the year 1845, there are in the county of Tompkins and in Cayuga each 15,000 children; in the county of Tompkins 14,500 attend school, during the year, yet, in the county of Cayuga but 8,400 attend—still Cayuga receives just as much money as Tompkins. This is obviously wrong. It takes away the great stimulus which would otherwise act with great influence on the people of said county. Many other matters, in relation to the establishment, supervision, and support of Common Schools, might be treated of. If, on the receipt of this letter, and the documents named below, shipped on board the packet Arkansas, for New-Orleans, to sail on Monday next, consigned to Aaron Coben, agent at New-Orleans, you shall be inclined to correspond further with me on this subject, please to inform me by mail. I will endeavor to answer promptly. I have delayed writing and sending you these documents in expectation of receiving two other very valuable ones, viz: Hon. Henry Barrow's reports, and the New School bill recently passed by the Rhode Island Legislature. I hope, however, to be able to send them in a few days by mail.

I have taken the liberty to send you two sets of my new series of Schol Books, as far as published, which please to accept and dispose of as you may think proper.

My kind regards to my friend Dr. Rush. I shall be pleased to receive a letter from him.

With sentiments of very great respect,

Yours very truly,

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
Boston, 13th March 1845.

SIR: Your favor of the 19th February, making enquiries in relation to our Common School System, was received on the 7th instant. I referred your letter to the Hon. Horrace Mann, the Secretary of our Board of Education, whose whole time is devoted to the subject of popular education, with the request that he would reply to it. I herewith send his answer to you. Our system is substantially the same that has existed in Massachusetts for two hundred years, with such improvements from time to time in the details as experience has suggested. The experiment of Normal Schools for the instruction and preparation of Teachers promises to add much efficiency to our School System.

I send you with this the extracts of our School returns for two years, and the report of the Secretary of the Board for the last year. It would give me great pleasure at any time to furnish you any information or documents in my power in relation to this deeply interesting subject, that could be of service to you in laying the subject before your legislature. I wish you much success in your movement in the great cause of Popular Education. It is worthy the attention of your rising state.

This opportunity of renewing the short acquaintance begun when we were members of the House of Representatives of the United States, gives me great pleasure.

With great respect, I am yours,

GEO. W. BRIGGS.

His Excellency, A. G. BROWN, Gov. of Missp.

BOSTON, March 10th, 1845.

To His Excellency, Gov. Briggs:

DEAR SIR—I did not receive your note till Saturday evening, and am obliged to leave town this morning, for two or three days. Having many things to do preparatory to my departure, I have time for only a very brief answer to your enquiries.

As you well know, our whole territory is divided into townships, and the great majority of the towns into school districts. Some towns maintain their schools in their corporate capacity. Every town is obliged to raise money for the support of schools; every district is obliged to provide a suitable house in which the school may be kept; each town chooses a committee, who are to approve teachers, and each district a committee, who is to keep the school house in repair, provide furniture, fuel, &c. Every district, however small, must employ a teacher, competent to instruct in orthography, reading, writing, English grammar, geography, arithmetic, and good behavior. The State contained a population, at the last census, of 737,700, and the towns raised last year, by voluntary assessment, for the three items of teachers' wages, and board and uel for the schools, the sum of $548,470 06. The towns and districts taxed themselves for school houses, raised by voluntary contribution to prolong the schools, about $150,000 more.

At the commencement of the school year, blank forms of registers are sent to each school district in the State. These the teachers are required to fill up from day to day, with the number of scholars in attendance, their studies, &c. At the &c. close of the year, another blank form is sent to each school committee in the State, proposing all requisite inquiries respecting the schools; the school committee collect the registers from the teachers, (now filled up,) and from these and other data, they digest, collect and enter, the whole statistics of the schools, upon the blank last mentioned. This blank, so filled, is returned to the Secretary of State. In addition to filling the blank just mentioned, each school committee is required to make an annual report of the condition of the schools, respectively, in the towns. This report must either be read in open town meeting, or printed, and distributed among the inhabitants. The original is lodged in the archives of the town, a copy is sent to the seat of government. From these statistics and reports, made by the committees of the respective towns, the Board of Education cause a volume to be prepared, entitled, "Abstract of the Massachusetts School Returns." This abstract presents a complete view of the statistics of the schools, and also a compilation consisting of the most valuable portions of the committees reports—such portions as may prove of general interest. The whole has, ordinarily, made a volume of 300 pages, or more, closely printed. A copy of this is given to each member of the Legislature, and two or three, or more copies, are sent to each school committee. Thus, all the statistics of the schools, and the most valuable part of the committees reports, are sent back to every town: and each town has not only a permanent record of the state and condition of its own schools, but all the suggestions for improvements, and the results of the experience of three hundred other towns. It is light brought to a focus, and thrown upon a glass that multiplies three hundred times.

In addition to the above, the board, from its general knowledge and supervision of the school, becomes master of a great number of facts; it keeps an open eye in regard to all improvements, whether at home or in other states or counties, and makes an annual report respecting whatever may conduce to the welfare of the schools, to the legislature; provision is permanently made for printing 5,000 copies of these reports, one of which is given to every member of the executive and legislative branches, and a copy sent to every school committee and to every school district.

We have three Normal schools for the qualification of teachers, one of which, has been in operation more than five years. No person who has witnessed the effect of these schools, can, for a moment, doubt their expediency, and even necessity, as a part of our school system. Were the Normal schools to be abolished, the momentum of improvement with which our system is now advancing, would be lost, and in many towns, the schools would retrograde. The Normal schools have had two classes of opponents—those who judge the expense, and the old stand-still teachers, who feel themselves to be like an old water-logged ship, by which a trim new vessel is sailing. But the clamor of opposition is fast losing itself in the general voice of commendation.

In all our large towns, high schools are kept at the public expense, in which, any boy, however poor, may qualify himself for some department of educated labor, or may fit himself for College.

I am aware, dear sir, that this is a very meagre and imperfect account of our school system. To understand it, and especially to understand what has been doing, and is now doing for it, one should read our laws and the reports of the Board of Education. I am sorry I cannot furnish you with these. The laws are scattered up and down over the general body of the statutes, and many of the reports are out of print. All, however, may be had, as published in the Commonwealth School Journal, which is a depository of our principal documents and statistics on the subject.

I send you herewith, two volumes of abstracts, and a copy of an excellent work, entitled, "The School and the Schoolmaster."

I remain, with great regard,

Very truly yours, &c.

HORACE MANN.

TOPOGRAPHICAL ENGINEER'S REPORT.

Copy of a letter from J. H. Tracy, Topographical Engineer, together with a report accompanying said letter.

JACKSON, MI., April 17th, 1844.

His Excellency, ALBERT G. BROWN,

Governor of Mississippi.

SIR—I have the honor herewith to transmit to your Excellency, for communication to the honorable Legislature at their next session, my report of a survey of the left bank of the Mississippi river, in the county of Adams, from Ellis' Cliffs to the mouth of Buffalo bayou, made in obedience to the 9th section of an act, approved February 26th, 1842, entitled an act accepting certain provisions of an act of Congress, entitled an act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights, approved September 4, 1841.

With great respect, I have the honor to be,

Your Excellency's most ob't servant,

J. H. TRACY,

Topographical Enginneer.

To the Honorable,

The Legislature of the State of Mississippi:

The undersigned, Topographical Engineer, begs leave to report to your honorable body, that since the date of his last report, rendered 1st January, 1844, he has completed the then remaining portion of the survey which the law required him to make, to-wit; that portion of the left bank of the Mississippi river, lying between Ellis' Cliffs and the mouth of Buffalo bayou. He has also made the necessary calculations to determine the solid extent of a levee to elevate said bank above high water mark, and an estimate of the cost of the same.

The distance from Ellis' Cliffs to the mouth of the Homochitto, is found to be 25.03 miles, from the mouth of Homochitto to the mouth of Buffalo bayou 6.93 miles. Total distance from the mouth of Ellis' Cliffs to the mouth of Buffalo, 31.96 miles. Of this distance, 9.09 miles is already leveed. The difference, 22.87 miles, is the length of the required levee.

The fall of the surface of the river, from the upper to the lower extremity of the required levee, is 3.32 feet. Fall from the mouth of the Homochitto to the mouth of the Buffalo, 1.01 feet, showing a fall, nearly uniform, of 1¾ inches per mile.

These results demonstrate that all lands overflowed not exceeding one foot, by the united high waters of the Homochitto and Mississippi, may be reclaimed immediately, by a continuation of the levee from Ellis' Cliffs along the bank of the Mississippi across the present mouth of the Homochitto to the mouth of Buffalo, and diverting the Homochitto into the Buffalo by cutting a canal, uniting these two streams near the debouche of the Homochitto into "Old River," where they approach each other within a few hundred yards.

The deposite from the water of the Mississippi, at every high flood, from across the mouth of the Homochitto, forms a bar, which is swept away when the high waters of the former stream subside, so as to produce a current down the channel of the latter. This bar would remain permanent, were the water of the Homochitto conducted into the Mississippi through the channel of Buffalo.

The following estimate is made for a levee two feet higher than the flood of 1843, and 47-100 of a foot higher than that of 1828 The base is calculated three times the altitude, the sides forming at the top a solid angle of 96° 22'.

Estimate of the cost of erecting a levee on the left bank of the Mississippi river, from a point on said bank, 9,09 miles below the foot of Ellis' Cliffs, to the mouth of Buffalo bayou, a distance of 22.87 miles:

32,446 17 cubic yards of embankment, at 6 cents per cubid yard,	$1,946 77
Clearing and grubbing, average $30 00 per mile,	686 10
Culverts,	300 00
Superintendence,	500 00
Contingencies,	167 13
Total,	$3,600 00

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. H. TRACY,
Topographical Engineer.

CORRESPONDENCE ON THE SUBJECT OF INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, City of Jackson, 29th September, 1845.

His Excellency, GEO. CRAWFORD,
Milledgeville, Georgia:

DEAR SIR,—The subject of internal improvement will be presented to the consideration of the Legislature of Mississippi at its next session, with a view to a proper understanding then of the subject.

I respectfully request answers to the following questions:

Did the State of Georgia ever undertake to carry on her works of internal improvement with negro laborers, purchased for that purpose?

If so, was it found on trial to be a better plan than to hire the labor, or to let the work to contractors?

If the plan failed, please state to me the prominent reasons why it failed.

You will oblige me by furnishing me with all the information in your possession on the subject, derived from the past experience of your State.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

A. G. BROWN.

Copy of a letter from George W. Crawford, Governor of the State of Georgia, in relation to the rail roads in said State, &c.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Milledgeville, Oct. 16th, 1845.

SIR—In answer to the enquiries of yours of the 29th ult., I have to state, that Georgia never employed slave labor on the State road, as the plan she adopted was to divide the site of her road into sections, and let them to the lowest bidders. From information and a limited observation, I am of opinion that the work was performed mainly by free labor.

As desired, I beg leave to refer you to the President of the Central Rail Road, R. R. Cuyler, Esq., of Savannah, and the President of the Georgia Rail Road, John P. King, Esq., of Augusta as persons capable, and doubtless willing, to communicate all information on the subject of your enquiries. I am under the impression that the Georgia Rail Road Company have invested about forty thousand dollars in slaves, who are employed in their service, but with what profit, I am unable to speak.

In the commencement and progress of a rail way, I may say that the experience of this State, proves that a selection of a civil engineer should be made in reference to his practical as well as theoretical skill—the former being indispensably necessary. The location should be finally made after a free examination of the impediments that might be interposed as to the right of way, and only cash contracts be entered into, and they made in reference to the disposable labor of the country, and its means of convenient support. Too much haste, so peculiar to the southern climate, will eventually prove baneful to all parties concerned. I have, as requested, ventured these observations with that diffidence which usually accompanies limited information upon the subject discussed. Your Excellency will therefore accept them with this limitation. You will permit me to add, that with the improved knowledge on the subject of rail roads at this day, this species of internal improvement may be constructed at an expense one fourth less than it would have cost five years ago; and it should not be overlooked, that whilst the outlay has been decreased, thereby inviting new schemes, the first, and expensive works, have risen in public confidence by an increase of profits, and consequently an enhancement of their stocks. The improved modes of applying steam, which has been progressive, has, in some degree, wrought this safety to the old works of internal improvement.

I shall be happy to learn that Mississippi has commenced the work by which her citizens will find access easy to an Atlantic port, whilst the intermediate States will feel it to be a duty to give them safe passport and ample protection.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

GEO. W. CRAWFORD.

His Excellency, A. G. Brown, Jackson, Mi.

CENTRAL RAIL ROAD CO.,
Savannah, Nov. 11, 1845.

SIR—Your letter of the 27th ult., came to my hands to-day, on my return from the seat of government, after a weeks absence.

The operations of this company, except so far as they relate to repairs of roads, have been, from the beginning, carried on by white labor. We do not own any slaves, and hire only a few, not exceeding ten, stationed at our main depots. The repairs of road are conducted by contract. The road (190 miles in length) is divided into four sections. Each section is placed under a contractor, who binds himself to give his personal services constantly on his section, and to place on it as many gangs of laborers as the chief engineer shall indicate. By the contract, a gang consists of four able-bodied negro men, a white overseer, and a negro woman cook; and so much money is paid, monthly, to each contractor, per gang; the hire, food, clothing, &c., furnished by the contractor. If any time of any hand is lost, the contractor is bound to pay back in equal labor for such lost time. We find this plan to work well in practice, after three years experience.

In the beginning of our road construction, the company, under the advice of its engineer, undertook to hire laborers, and to work them under overseers; in other words, to build on company's account, and not by contract. We commenced with about one thousand Irish laborers, and in the course of two or three months, it was manifest that the plan adopted would soon bring the company to ruin. The waste of fuel, the turbulence and general confusion were fearful. The company promp[illegible] broke up the system, discharged the engineer, and put the co[illegible]struction of its road out upon contract awarded upon competition. I would never undertake to build a road on any other than the contract plan. This is the conviction of every person connected with this company. In the first plan, we saw nothing but ruin; in the second, we found complete success. Our contractors were good men, were sustained by liberal aid of the company in all times of need—carefully nursed, and not held by too tight a rein, and [illegible]r gave no trouble. But one failed to do his work, and in his case, the usually retained per centage of 20 per cent, saved us from loss. Many of the contractors worked negroes alone. Others worked Irish laborers. A few large contractors owned their laborers—these were generally successful. Whilst, in my opinion, a company should not purchase negroes to build its road, I think a contractor, experienced in road construction, and also experienced in the management of negroes, would make more in the southern country by doing his work with negroes, owned or hired, than with whites. A company can never save, or make, what a good contractor can.

By the contract plan, with a good engineer, the cost of constructing a road is reduced to a certainty; by any other plan, it is impossible to say what will be the expenditure.

I beg to send you the two last reports of this company, mailed at the same time with this, and to say that it will give me pleasure at any time to afford such information as may be in my power.

I have the honor to be, your ob't serv't,

R. R. CUYLER.

His Excellency, A. G. Brown, Gov., &c.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
City of Jackson, Ms., 24th Oct., 1845.

Hon. JOHN P. KING,

President Georgia Rail Road, Augusta, Ga.:

SIR—Having been referred to you as a person who could probably give me the desired information, you will pardon me, I trust, for so far trespassing on your attention, as to request answers to the following interrogatories:

1st. Has the company, of which you are president, ever undertaken to prosecute its work by negro laborers, purchased by the company for that purpose? If so, has it proven a less expensive mode of conducting such works, than to hire labor, either white or black?

2d. What has been the result of your experience as to the practicability of grading railways entirely, or almost entirely, by negro labor?

Would you advise it as a better plan, all things considered, than to let the work to contractors?

Any information which you may be able to give on this, or any other points calculated to facilitate the great work of making a railroad from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic, (for it is in reference to this work that these enquiries are made,) will be gratefully acknowledged by your obedient servant,

A. G. BROWN.

One bearing same date and purport, was sent to R. R. Cuyler, Esq., Savannah, Ga.

His Excellency, A. G. Brown.

Sir—It is with much pleasure I acknowledge the receipt of your of the 27th ult., and will answer the enquiries contained in it.

1st. The company over which I [illegible] part of its work with its own hands. [illegible] hands for shop work and repairs, [illegible] greater expertness and efficiency, from long experience, and from the ability at all times to control such hands.

2d. Many of the largest contractors in the country, [illegible] purchased hands, (instead of hiring them) for the execution of their contracts, and uniformly profited by doing so. They could, with certainty, calculate on their services, and were the better able to execute their contracts with punctuality, and they were enabled, when done, to sell at cost, or a profit. It will be observed, however, that there is a risk of loss while there is a chance of gain, by depreciation or advance in price; and the economy of purchasing hands for grading, instead of letting to contractors, will depend on many circumstances connected with the work to be done. If the road be located through a populous and wealthy country, where the planters are anxious to lease a portion of their labor, and consume their own surplus provisions—they can afford, and often by a spirited will, do work lower, than it could be done in any other way. And if means be plenty, and despatch be desirable, a letting to contractors, with full notice and fair competion, may generally be safely recommended.

On the other hand, if the means be limited, there is no other mode in which so much work could be done for a given amount of money, as by the purchase of hands and the employment of competent and experienced persons, which may be easily procured. Black labor is fully competent, under white superintendence, to finish the road bed complete, and negroes are fully competent to the heavy labor of the superstructure.

Should negroes be purchased to grade and build a road, a competent number of them might be retained to advantage, and repair the road after completion. They become accustomed to road labor, and are more efficient than hands usually collected on hire for a short period. I know not that these suggestions will serve for any valuable purposes, but such as they are, they are with much pleasure, at your service.

[illegible] G. P. KING,

[illegible] SSIONER.

[illegible] with a view [illegible] report of the [illegible] of 1844, [illegible] other pur-

[illegible] of the act to [illegible] approved [illegible] demands de-[illegible] the property of [illegible] the same bonds ex-[illegible] for by her, [illegible] the Auditor [illegible] the Planters' [illegible] the Sinking

[illegible] to appoint [illegible] management [illegible] Commissioners of the [illegible] under the charge of a single agent of the State, styled a "State Commissioner," which said agent was invested with the management and collection of said fund, authorising, empowering and requiring him to call upon all and every agent or agents, commissioner or commissioners, attorney or attornies, or other person or persons now or heretofore having had the management or control of said fund, (as also with the other funds placed under his charge,) for a settlement, and the proceeds and vouchers of said funds in their hands.

That, invested with the authority created, and the duties imposed upon him, by the act above cited, the State Commissioner, very shortly after his appointment to office, proceeded to Natchez and demanded of the late Commissioners there, the delivery of the fund as contemplated by the above act, which they—viz: John P. Walworth President, and Henry D. Mandeville Cashier, of the Planters' Bank—they being a majority—refused to delive up—(the Auditor of Public Accounts being at all times ready and anxious to deliver up the same)—they assigning as their reason for the refusal, that they had no authority of law as Commissioners to surrender the fund and assets, and therefore declined making the surrender demanded. The only alternative left was then adopted, viz: that of compelling them by course of law to deliver up the fund.

This refusal of the late Commissioners to deliver up the fund, of course left me only the power to do all that I could towards its collection, by the arrest and demand of the assets of the fund wheresoever I could find them, and to adopt such other measures towards the protection and collection of the same, as I could, impeded and obstructed as I was at every step, by their refusal to deliver up the same.

It was not (owing to the slow and tedious process of a chancery suit,) until July last, (1845,) that a decree was obtained, and the fund delivered up to me.

I have in my possession a descriptive list of the promissory notes unpaid, belonging to the fund, prepared by a commissioner in chancery, (who took an account between the parties,) from the exhibit to the answer of the late Commissioners, and from the books of the Planters' Bank, and filed in the papers and made a part of the record in the suit above mentioned, instituted by me as State Commissioner against the late Commissioners.

The books of the State Commissioner will exhibit such amounts as have been received by me on these claims, and from whom received.

Judgments have been rendered on all these notes, with the exception of the few delivered to me by the late Commissioners, and a few on which suit is now pending.

Death, removals from the State, and the revolution in the pecuniary affairs of many, together with conveyances under many of the judgments, are weak, if they are not desperate.

I would very respectfully suggest to the Legislature for its consideration, the propriety of giving to the State Commissioner the power by and with the advice and concurrence—say of the Governor and Attorney General—of making compromises in cases where he and they should deem it the interest and policy of the state so to do. Unless some such policy be adopted, I hardly think the state will realize anything from many of these judgments.

The high rate of interest (10 per cent.) which the notes bear, together with the great length of time which has elapsed since they were executed, causes a debt which was at first comparatively small, to assume now a fearful magnitude; and the debtor, who would probably willingly liquidate the original loan, will resist and avoid in every way, the payment of a debt which has probably doubled itself.

Were this power coupled with an amendment to the provision of the act appointing a State Commissioner, authorizing him to employ counsel, giving him greater latitude, I think that by one or the other of these means, many a debt might be saved, or partially saved, which would otherwise be lost.

In suggesting the above, I of course, in the case of compromises, speak of such cases only where nothing could be made by law, yet the parties be willing to pay a portion of the debt, to be released from the judgment; and in the case of amendment to the provision authorising the employment of counsel, to give adequate compensation, so that conveyances might be set aside; and also, claims prosecuted against parties who may have left the state, and a portion of the debt realized, where else all would be lost.

Had the state priority over all other creditors, then probably her debts might be secured without recourse to either of the expedients above suggested, but as she stands on an equality with other creditors, I should deem it bad policy not to adopt measures which are adopted by others, and where she cannot get the whole, obtain at least a part. Of course, the above powers would be exercised only in cases where absolutely necessary.

I would remark in conclusion on this head, that with regard to the power of making compromises, were I to consult my own feelings, I should prefer that no such power should be vested in the State Commissioner; but I think that it would be for the interest of the state, that some such policy should be adopted.

The total amount paid into the treasury on account of the sinking fund, is eighty-four thousand four hundred and ninety-three dollars and fifty-four and one-third cents,—made up as follows, viz:

Paid in, in the year 1841, as exhibited by the books of the Auditor,	$2,385 24
Paid in, in the year 1842, as exhibited by the books of the Auditor,	750 00
Paid in, by James R. Young, State Commissioner,	$81,358 30⅓
Total amount paid in,	$84,493 54⅓

Of the above amounts of $81,358 30⅓ paid by me into the treasury, $45,323 22⅓ was on account of the amounts received by me from the late Commissioners. I say on account, as the total amount received by me from them was $45,523 22⅓, being two hundred dollars more than the amount paid into the treasury. This deficiency arises from the fact of a warrant for that amount ($200) having been refused to be received from me by the Treasurer;—a warrant similar to it in all respects, having been previously paid in. The Auditor endorsed, and still pronounces the rejected warrant the genuine one, and the one paid in the fraud. This warrant now remains in my hands, subject to the action of the legislature.

The amount paid into the treasury on account of this fund, up to this date, I confidently anticipated would have amounted to ninety odd thousand dollars; and it would have done so, had not process issued to the late fall term of the courts been bonded; but the money will, I am confident, be made, and the only difference will be the delay.

Besides the amount above stated, paid into the treasury on account of the sinking fund, there is also belonging to the fund about twenty-two thousand acres of land purchased in, in behalf of the fund, where nothing else could be obtained. About twenty-five hundred acres of this amount was purchased in by the late Commissioners, and the residue by myself. These lands are, some of them, very valuable.

I would state in conclusion, that Robert Hughes, Esq., in whose hands the late Commissioners placed several of the notes due the fund, for collection, acknowledges to have received the money on one of them, but refuses to pay over the same until fees due him, as he states, by the Planters' Bank, are first paid.

There is also in the hands of H. D. Mandeville, jr., the attorney employed by the late Commissioners, several thousand dollars. I was unable to see Mr. Mandeville when in Natchez, he being absent from that city. I then addressed a communication to him in writing. I have received a letter from him within the last few days, in which he states that I shall hear from him shortly.

TOWN LOT FUND—SALES OF 1833 AND 1834.

This fund I found in a state of almost irretrievable confusion. The auditor's books scarcely throw any light upon the subject. The auditors, Mallory and Saunders, would receive money from attorneys, in whose hands the notes taken at the above sales had been placed by the former for collection, and others, and without, in the vast majority of cases, indicating on account of what notes it was paid or even from whom received, and frequently after receiving it from different sources would pay it into the treasury wording the receipt warrant simply Jno. H. Mallory, or A. B. Saunders, (as the case might be) on account of town lots, and leaving it a perfect mystery, not only on account of what notes or from the money was paid, but even from whom received.

The only alternative then left was to examine the records and call upon the various attorneys to whom the notes had been given for collection for their vouchers for payments, &c. With these preliminary remarks, I will proceed to state—

The total amount of sales of lots in the city of Natchez for the years 1833 and 1834, as shown by the records of sales, amounted to the sum of $93,531 50 [illegible] notes were executed.

Judge Hughes states that these [illegible]

ten—that Hughes died soon thereafter, and at the request of his brother, Felix Hughes, he attended to the suits—and the money collected in whole or in part, and by him sent to Huston and Ross, who were then the attorneys. The amount received by Judge Hughes, on account of the above notes, after deducting commissions, is nine hundred dollars. I felt compelled to institute proceedings against Judge Hughes at the last term of the Hinds Circuit Court, and which are yet undetermined.

Of the notes received by Dunlap and Hughes, the amounts as exhibited by the dockets as received by them, minus commissions, has been paid. There are several suits instituted on these notes discontinued or dismissed as exhibited by the records of the court. Judge Hughes in his report to me stated some of these cases as dismissed or discontinued, because the parties could not be found, and others as dismissed by order of the auditor of public accounts. There is one note for $100 for which they are responsible, it having been withdrawn by Judge Hughes in 1848 as per his endorsement on the declaration after the suit had been dismissed in 1835, because process could not be executed.

Of the notes recorded by Patton and Collins, and Thos. F. Collins, there is amount received, as exhibited by the dockets, and not accounted for over seven hundred dollars; also between five and six hundred dollars not paid over by the sheriff.

The clerk's docket of the Circuit Court of Hinds county, also, in addition to the above, shows a judgement for $346 62 rendered on two of the notes received by Mr. Collins as above, as "satisfied." The papers in the case and docket show execution on bond in the case stayed by Mr. Collins and no further proceedings taken. Mr. Collins says that the money was not received by him.

It will be perceived by the subjoined letter from Mr. Collins, that he has paid to me the amount of the above mentioned deficiency ($739 23) with the request that I will not pay it into the treasury until the adjournment of the present legislature, in the hope that some action may be taken by it on the subject. The following is his letter:

JACKSON, January 3, 1846.

J. R. Young, Esq., State Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: By your contemplated report to the legislature on the subject of the town lot notes, there appears a balance of $730 23 against me on account of the notes placed in my hands for collection by auditor Mallory, and also those given by him to myself and Patton. I therefore deposite in your hands the sum of $730 23 which I wish you to hold subject to the action of the approaching legislature thereon.

I feel confident that I paid over to the proper authorities every dollar of money that was collected on account of said notes as the same was collected, but from the deranged state of my papers, receipts, &c. occasioned by my late removals, and the great lapse of time since the transactions commenced, I am unable to find all the evidences of payment on that subject which I confidently believe I once had.

With regard to the judgment of $346 62 which is marked "satisfied" on the docket, there certainly must be a mistake. I paid to the sheriff $34 81 cost in that case, as appears by a receipt which I gave to you. The entry of satisfaction on the docket is certainly error—it should have been marked satisfied for cost only. I am certain the money was never paid to me.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

THO. F. COLLINS.

Of the notes received by Jno. N. Drake, the money collected on them was received by Jno. H. Mallory, auditor, with the exception of over one thousand dollars, which was not paid over by the sheriff, and near six hundred dollars received by V. E. Howard, Esq. Mr. Howard appears to have prosecuted these suits for or in conjunction with Mr. Drake. On my application to him he stated that he had retained this money for professional services rendered the state, and requested that I should await the meeting of the legislature for him to submit his claim for their action.

On account of the notes placed in the hands of Thos. J. Coffee, there was paid to auditor Mallory, as exhibited by the books of the auditor, $2,929 50. Judge Nicholson, who brought these suits in conjunction with Mr. Coffee, stated to me previous to his death, that all monies collected on these notes had been paid over to auditor Mallory—that a statement which he had prepared, exhibiting an abstract of each case, showing the parties, amount of judgment and interest, and then a receipt appended to the aggregate from auditor Mallory had been destroyed by fire when his dwelling house was burned in 1839. This receipt was, I presume, for the above amount exhibited as paid. Two of the notes I can discover no evidence of having been sued on, and the money made on one other of them does not appear, by the sheriff's docket, to have been paid over.

On the receipt of Mr. Coffee for these notes is the following endorsement by Jno. H. Mallory: "The money on the within has been paid." The above reasons justify me, I think, in regarding all monies collected on these notes as having been received by Mallory.

The note for two hundred dollars, receipted for by Gov. Runnels, appears to have been paid in payment for lumber in building the state house. And on the receipt for the note received by D. Greenleaf, is the the certificate of Jno. H. Mallory, auditor, that the money had been paid thereon.

Of the notes to the amount of $5,873 84⅓, for which I can find no receipts, I can trace but two of them, viz: one sued upon by Dunlap and Hughes, and suit dismissed, as reported to me by Judge Hughes, by order of the auditor of public accounts; (Mallory); and one sued upon by Nicholson and Coffee, and plaintiffs money (over $300) received by Nicholson.

The first case speaks for itself—the other case not having been discovered by me until subsequent to the decease of Judge Nicholson, I could obtain no information from him on the subject. The judgment was satisfied previous to the payment, as above stated, on account of the notes received by Thos. J. Coffee, and may have been included in that amount. From the statement of Judge Nicholson to me, above referred to, that "every cent that was collected was paid over," I have no doubt of its having been paid. I regard the total ($5873 84⅓;) as having been received by Mallory.

For the notes returned "nulla bona" and others, there will be realized to the State, I think, about ten thousand dollars. I made out statements of the cases, and handed them to the Attorney General in October 1844, to file bills in Chancery for the sale of the lots.

TOWN LOT FUND—SALES OF 1838.

The sales of lots in the city of Jackson for the year 1838, as exhibited by the book of sales, amount to the sum of $178,801 00, and for which notes were executed.

Of this amount, there was placed in the Mississippi Union bank for discount, by A. G. McNutt, Governor, in pursuance of law, $25,106 52.

There were of notes not given out by the Auditor, $1636 66⅔, and the residue of the notes, amounting to the sum of $152,057 81⅓, were placed by A. B. Saunders, Auditor, in the hands of George Work, for collection.

There has been paid on account of this fund as follows:

By A. G. McNutt, Governor, on account of the notes received by him as above, and discounted in the Union bank, the sum of : : :	$23,473 18
On account of the notes not given out by the Auditor, there has been paid : : :	1702 92
On account of the notes received by George Work, there has been received, as exhibited by the books of the Auditor, and State Commissioner,	35,721 29
Also settled through the Auditor's office by claims against the State, as exhibited by the Auditor's books, : : : : :	2429 61

George Work, Esq., acknowledges to hold in his hands over six thousand dollars, and a few of the notes received by him as above, and which money, or rather the amount thereof which I claim as the property of the State, and notes he refuses to deliver up until, as he says, his just claims are paid. I could effect no settlement with Major Work, and was compelled to institute proceedings against him at the last term of the Hinds Circuit court, and which are yet undetermined.

When the State shall have obtained the amount claimed as due her, now in the hands of Major Work, and which can be realized for the notes, when obtained, now in his hands, several only of which I regard as good, and for the few cases yet pending in the Chancery court, which will be small, she will have realized all she ever will for the above notes.

The contracts for some of the above notes were rescinded by the Auditor of Public Accounts, as authorized by the act of 1841; and in the majority of the others, the lots were sold under decrees from the Superior Court of Chancery, and at greatly reduced prics.

In conclusion, I would state, that I received from the Agricultural bank at Natchez, on account of final dividend on the stock of the State, in the "bank of the State of Mississippi," three hundred dollars. Also for the same on account of final dividend on stock, "baak of the State of Mississippi;" use of the literary fund, two hundred and ninety-one dollars.

I have also received on account of the literary fund fifty-five dollars.

I shall be glad to exhibit to your Excellency, or to a committee of the Legislature, appointed for the purpose of inspecting them, all the books, notes, accounts, vouchers and other papers in my office, and to give such further information as may be in my power, touching the condition of any part or all the business in my hands. I have not undertaken to give the present situation of each note or claim belonging to either of the above funds, for the reason that such a statement would extend this report to an unreasonable length.

All of which is respectfully submitted by your

Very obedient servant,

JAMES R. N. YOUNG,

State Commissioner.

January 1, 1846.

There is now, as I have lately understood, about $4000 00 in the hands of the Sheriffs, collected on account of the sinking fund.

This money when paid into the treasury, which will be shortly, (as soon as it can be collected by me,) will swell the amount on account of this fund, to near $90,000 00.

JACKSON, Dec. 19, 1845.

J. R. N. Young, Esq :

DEAR SIR: Below I hand you statements of the accounts between myself and the State of Mississippi. The first, A shows the cash balances between the State and myself, showing that I have collected in the name of the State more than I have paid into the treasury, $3876 00.

This statement is made from vouchers now in my possession.

The second, B, is the amount for which the State is my debtor, for personal services rendered in and about these collections. The money was collected for the State under its statutes, in paper worth but little, and which I was not willing to receive in payment of my fees. The balance, 3876 00, I still have on hand in the depreciated paper. I have always been ready and willing to pay it over on payment by the State, of the fees due me. I claim a lien on it until those fees are paid me.

Respectfully,

D. SHELTON.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S REPORT.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, 1st December, 1854.

Hon. John D. Freeman, Attorney General:

SIR: You will oblige me by informing me, on the 1st of January, 1846—

1st. What is the condition of the Judgment on the late Treasurer's (Graves) bond, and what is the probable chance of collecting the money on it?

2d. What is the condition of the quo warranto proceeding against the Planter's Bank, and the suit against the Mississippi Railroad Company?

3d. The reasons why it was deemed better to proceed against the Planters' Bank by quo warranto, than by Bill in Chancery under the Act of 1844?

4th. What is the condition of the case of the State vs. Horace Pagaud?

The information will be used in my Message to the Legislature. You will oblige me by being prompt and accurate.

Very respectfully your obedient serv't,

A. G. BROWN.

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
Jackson, Dec. 29, 1845.

SIR: Your communication of December 1st, was received. You request me to give you information on the 1st day of January, 1846, with regard to the following matters:

1st. "What is the condition of the Judgment on the late Treasurer's (Graves) Bond, and what is the probable chance of collecting the money on it."

Suit was brought by me, in the Carroll Circuit Court, against the securities of R. S. Graves on his Treasurer's Bond, being ten in number. I was compelled to send to Washington City for the deposition of several of the officers of the United States, which delayed the progress of the State, until October, A. D. 1845, when final judgment was obtained against eight of the sureties for the sum of $51,865 47, being the amount of the Treasurer's defalcation with interest thereon, up to the date of the judgment. Pending the suit, two of the sureties, Thos. Hogg and William Peery, died; and the suit was therefore abated as to them, and the District Attorney directed to bring suit against their administrators as soon as the law would permit.

By reference to the certificates of James Bond, Thomas Heslip, Franklin E. Plummer and Edward Johnson, then sheriff of Choctaw county, where all the sureties but one resided, it will be seen that the sureties were then out of debt, and their property estimated as follows:

E. Graves,	$30,000
James Bond,	20,000
John Middleton,	15,000
Valentine Harman,	10,000
Edward Williams,	20,000
Thomas Hogg,	20,000
William Peery,	15,000
H. P. Barnes,	8,000
R. W. Graves,	40,000
Maban Barefield not estimated.
Total	$178,000

The certificates were relied on by Gov. McNutt when he approved the bond. Since the judgment has been obtained, I have heard it said by persons residing in the neighborhood of the sureties, that the money could not be made out of them. What progress the Sheriff has made with the execution, I am not at present advised, as I relied on the District Attorney to have the same issued and levied forthwith. I am informed that R. W. Graves has sold his plantation in Yazoo county, and moved with his slaves to Louisiana. I would therefore recommend that a special attorney be employed to prosecute him in that State.

2nd and 3d. "What is the condition of the quo warranto proceeding against the Planter's Bank and the Mississippi Railroad Company, and the reasons why it was deemed better to proceed against those banks by quo warranto, than by Bill in Chancery, under the Act of 1844."

The quo warranto statute was passed by the Legislature of 1843, and an information in the nature of quo warranto was pending in the Circuit Court of Adams county, against the Planters' Bank at the time the Statute of 1844, relative to that Bank was passed. The Legislature were aware of this fact, as will be seen by reference to section 19 of the Act of 1844, page 145, where they propose to release the banks from the operation of the quo warranto statute of 1843, upon the condition that they voluntarily surrender their corporate franchises to the State, on the conditions set forth in the second section of said Act. The Planters' Bank refused to surrender, but contended that the law of 1844 repealed the law of 1843 as to that bank, and moved the Circuit Court to dismiss the information on that ground. The Court decided that the law of 1844 did not repeal the law of 1843, and that the information must proceed, as that Court had first taken jurisdiction of the law. This decision of the Circuit Court put it out of my power to file a bill in Chancery against the bank, under the Act of 1844. Upon the familiar principle of law, that where two courts have concurrent jurisdiction of the same matter, the court which first takes jurisdiction, retains it. The power of the Circuit Court to wind up the affairs of the bank were as plenary as those of the Chancery Court, and had the two proceedings been carried on, it would have presented the singular aspect of a Court of Law and a Court of Chancery, both contending for the possession of the assets of the Bank.

On the trial of the information against the Planters' Bank, I assisted the District Attorney in behalf of the State. We obtained a judgment of forfeiture against the Bank, from which an appeal was taken, and the case is now before the High Court of Errors and Appeals for adjudication.

With regard to the Mississippi Railroad Company, I filed a bill in Chancery under the law of 1844, and all the property of the company, save the slaves and town lots, is now in the hands of receivers appointed by the Chancellor, to take charge of the same. The slaves are in the hands of a trustee appointed by the bank, to hold them for the benefit of certain creditors of the bank. Whether the Chancellor will take possession of them also, regardless of the deed of trust made by the company, remains to be determined.

4th. "What is the condition of the case of the State vs. Horace Pagaud."

At your request I appeared in the prosecution of Pagaud in the Circuit Court of Warren county, and succeeded in convicting him on three indictments of the crime of forging warrants of the Auditor on the State Treasurer. He was sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the Penitenitentiary in each case, that being the least punishment that could be inflicted for this crime. His counsel obtained writs of error to the late December term of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, where all the cases were recently argued, and the Court granted him new trials in each case, on the ground that the Circuit Court excluded circumstantial evidence, to which the prisoner was legally entitled. The evidence excluded might have gone to the jury without changing the result. I entertain no doubt of his ultimate conviction.

Hoping that the foregoing information will prove satisfactory to your Excellency, I am, with great respect,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN D. FREEMAN.

To His Excellency, A. G. Brown, Governor, &c.

CORRESPONDENCE ON THE SUBJECT OF THE PENITENTIARY.

Executive Chamber,
City of Jackson, Mi., July 31, 1845.

Dear Sir: I respectfully request answers to the following questions:—

1st. How is the convict labor in your Penitentiary employed? Does it engage in manufacturing cotton or woolen goods, or is it employed in the ordinary mechanic arts?

2nd. If the convicts have been employed in manufacturing, please state what articles have been manufactured, and how does such a system of labor compare with the ordinary mechanic labor as to profits. Will a given number of hands realize a greater amount of profit from their labor in the manufacturing business, or in the mechanic pursuits?

3d. Do you rent or lease your Penitentiary?

If yes, please send me a copy of the law under which it is rented or leased, and state to me what is your opinion of this plan, compared with the other systems of working the convicts, under officers employed by the state.

An early answer is respectfully requested.

Yours, &c., &c.,

A. G. BROWN.

One copy of the above letter has been sent to the Governors of the different states named below, to-wit: Louisiana, Alabama, Kentucky, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia, and Tennessee.

Copy of letters from James C. Jones, Governor of Tennessee, and others, in relation to the Penitentiary system, &c.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Nashville, August 12, 1845.

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 31st ultimo, in which you ask for certain information touching our Penitentiary system.

The convicts in our State Prison are employed chiefly in the mechanic arts, such as shoe-making, hatting, coopering, tailoring, blacksmithing, wagon-making, cabinet-making, and indeed almost all the branches of the mechanic arts, usual in this state. The only species of manufacturing engaged in by the convicts, is in the carding and preparation of wool for the making of hats and other purposes. The most important department of labor in the prison, is the stone-cutting; a much larger proportion of hands are employed in this branch of labor than any other. There has been much clamor in this state by the mechanics against the system of labor pursued in the prison, alledging (not without cause) that it was an unequal and unfair competition produced between them and convict labor. So manifest was this injustice, that I called the attention of the Legislature to it, and suggested that a different direction should be given to their labor. The Legislature concurred with me in opinion, and directed the superintendents of the prison to divest as much of the labor as they could from their former pursuits, to the erection of a State House; only taking care to keep so many employed in the mechanic arts as would support the institution. When the state house shall become completed, I do not doubt that the Legislature will direct, that the convicts shall be employed in manufacturing. I do not doubt that this will be found quite as profitable as the present system.

The prison is under the exclusive control of the state, and is managed alone by its agents. We have never made any experiment of renting or leasing, and whilst it might be as profitable, yet I do not think the state should regard her citizens as slaves (though they be culprits) and expose them to cruelty and oppression, as would most likely be the case if they were under individual control.

Should you desire other information on this, or any other subject, I shall take great pleasure in affording it.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

JAMES C. JONES.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Milledgeville, August 15, 1845.

DEAR SIR: During the temporary absence of Governor Crawford, I take the liberty, in compliance with your request, to give you an early answer to your inquiries respecting our Penitentiary system, &c.

I requested Mr. A. W. Redding, principal keeper of the Georgia Penitentiary, to furnish me with some items of information on the subject. He has been kind enough to reply to your interrogatories somewhat at length, but no one is better qualified to give better opinions on this head than he. With this recommendation of his ideas, permit me to endorse them to you.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

S. J. ANDERSON, S. E. D.

His Excellency, A. G. BROWN, Jackson, Miss.

To the question. 1st. "How is the convict labor in your Penitentiary employed? Does it engage in manufacturing cotton or woollen goods, or is it employed in the ordinary mechanic arts?"

The convicts in the Georgia prison, are not engaged in the manufacture of any cotton or woollen goods; they are employed in the manufactory of leather, and that leather into shoes, harness, bridles, and leather to finish carriages, embracing all of the coarser and heavier leather, and a portion of the finer. The manufacture of waggons of every grade, buggies, barouches, coaches, every grade of vehicles, house hold furniture, &c.

The greater portion of the convicts may be said to be employed in the mechanic pursuits.

2nd. "If the the convicts have been employed in manufacturing, please state what articles have been manufactured, and how does such a system of labor compare as to profits? Will a given number of hands realize a greater amount of profits from their labor in the maaufacturing business, or in the mechanic pursuits?

It has been found to be most profitable to follow the "mechanic pursuits," because perhaps solely on account of job work coming exclusively under this division; a trial of four years has been given to this prison in the manufacturing business exclusively, and the result was, that a large quantity of manufactured articles had accumulated, and on hand, without any natural or artificial mode of cheap conveyance for transportating these articles to where they were wanted. And they not being of that kind of manufactures that would bear waggoning, they were sold at great losses.

For the last two years, a different system has been pursued, and a very different result has ensued.

That a regular manufacturing business with a given number of hands will result in the greatest profits, I do not doubt, if we are to be governed by what the manufactures are worth, at fair prices; but if we are to be governed by what is realized in cash for the labor of a given number for any series of years, then I apprehend that the business of manufacturing should be pursued no further than can be sold, and such branches selected as will combine the greatest amount of labor to be bestowed on it, and meet the largest wants of the people in reach of it; hence our selection of the manufacture of leather, and that leather into such shape as will sell it. It is the design to carry this branch exclusively into operation.

We have now seventy-two vats for tanning, which are capable of tanning six thousand hides or pieces per annum. The profits of this establishment you can easily and correctly estimate, by the prices the articles bear in your state. Eight hands and one superintendent is sufficient for a yard of this extent, and twenty-four hands of all descriptions, will work up the leather it will make.

About ten thousand pairs of negro shoes will come from a yard of this size, besides the harness, bridles, kip, and other skins that will pass through the yard per annum. As I apprehend the location of your prison is perhaps as unfortunately situated as ours—without a river or railroad, to make cheap and easy transportation, it is of vital importance that such pursuits be engaged in, as will combine the largest amount of labor in their construction, with the least cost of foreign material; taking care to let them be of that kind that shall be of first necessity; and that must be used by the people, whether produce be high or low priced, whether large crops, or no crops be made. Of this kind is iron, leather, salt, &c.; and of any one of these, or all of these, you cannot manufacture too much. The balance of the labor of the convicts may be profitably employed in job or repairing work, making coarse vehicles and coarse furniture. We regard the leather business the best that we can do.

To your third interrogatory, "Do you rent or lease your Penitentiary? If yes, please send a copy, &c., and state to me what is your opinion of this plan, compared with the other system of working the convicts, under officers employed by the state?"

The system of farming out the Penitentiary, has been proposed to the legislature of this state, but this proposition has not received any serious consideration by that body, and in my opinion, should not.

It would seem to be difficult to make such an exact division of prerogative between the state, who undertakes to punish offenders, and the lessor who undertakes to make money for himself, that I can but apprehend most serious detriment to the attainment of the object of the one, and the obligation of the other. The great object to be attained in this mode of punishing offenders, is to make bad men better men, and not bad men worse men; and to arrive at this desirable object is the great desideratum. One of the first things to be accomplished, is to remove all impediments and hindrances out of the way, on obtaining the man best qualified to accomplish this object; for it may be remembered that bad men must be brought to see and feel by reflection, example, admonition, kindness disinterested, the heighth from which they are fallen; the depth to which crime has sent them. You cannot make men by brute force, better men; you can only expect, or hope to do so, when that latent spark of all that is manly, can be roused by exhibitions and sentiments of the kindlier feelings of the human heart. These kindlier feelings and sentiments, you may expect your officer, your principal keeper to have and to exhibit to your convicts, if you have from a wide field selected him; but can you expect it of him who has hired your Penitentiary convicts, as a plantation and negroes. It may not be denied that these human beings have so far forfeited their rights—grant it—but have you, has the state accomplished her ostensible object? She has not. She can not.

Many, very many objections might be urged against the system of leasing or renting out the Penitentiary; but it is deemed to be sufficient to put the whole matter at rest, to state it thus: Is it practicable to expect that men who are vicious, corrupt and overwhelmed with crime, can by this mode of punishment be restored? And if it is, let us ascertain the precise manner they must be managed to accomplish this object. And if in ascertaining the manner they must be treated and managed, we shall find that a man under pay of the state, with enobled, enlarged feelings for his species, will be more likely to devote his energies to accomplish so noble an object as the restoration of his species from low infamy, and raise him up to his proper standard; let us employ by the state, the proper officers to manage the inmates.

Let the convict be treated as near as may be, upon purely parental principles, and he must, he will come out of prison, a better man.

SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE,
Columbus, Oct. 1, 1845.

SIR: Your communication to the Governor of Ohio, dated July 3d, and relating to the management of the Ohio Penitentiary, has been this day handed to me by him, with the request that I answer it. With this request I will great pleasure in complying. Your first query is:

As a general thing, neither. The directors and warden make an effort to employ the convicts in such manner as not to compete with manufacturers or mechanics in our own state, at the same time taking into consideration the interest of the treasury by occupying them profitably. The variety of articles manufactured in the Ohio Penitentiary, is almost endless. Carpets, coach-lace, saddle-trees, barrels, buckets, stirrups, scythes and clothing, are among the heaviest items.

2nd. "If the convicts have been employed in manufacturing, please state what articles have been manufactured, and how does such a system of labor compare with the ordinary mechanic labor as to profits. Will a given number of hands realize a greater amount of profit from their labor in the manufacturing business, or in mechanical pursuits?"

These questions have in part been answered above, so far as answer to them can be made. To the contractors the profits certainly are greater than if they employed free labor. As for instance, forty tailors are hired out at forty cents per day. Suppose mechanical pursuits will, upon the whole, prove most profitable, although much depends upon circumstances. It is impossible to answer this last question with exactness.

3d. "Do you rent or lease your Penitentiary?"

No. The prison buildings are of the best and most durable material, containing within itself all the elements of a village, and enclosing within its walls an area of several acres. As you ask no questions on that point, I will not detail to you its structure, or the arrangements with regard to time and labor. It is sufficient to say, that although the work of the prisoners is done for contractors, to whom they are hired, it is all done under the charge of the warden and directors, and under the immediate superintendence of "guards" or overseers, paid by the state. The only control exercised by a contractor, is to instruct or procure the instruction of the convicts, in the practical branch of labor at which they are employed. Order, and the strictest punctuality and cleanliness mark every thing. The discipline is necessarily, extremely strict.

The only fault found with the system of labor, in the Ohio Penitentiary, is that it occasionally interferes, or is supposed to interfere, with the profitable occupation of some branches of mechanical pursuits. For that reason, as soon as the present tailoring contract expires, it will not be re-let. With this single exception, the system seems to work with extreme harmony, and with profit as well to the contractor as to the state.

The earnings of the institution for 1844, were,	$41,139 58
The aggregate expenditures, - - - -	22,796 83¾
The net earnings then for 1844, are,	$18,342 74¼

The number of the convicts at the time of the last report, was four hundred and sixty-four.

I have thus given you all the information which I consider as bearing upon your inquiries. Any further information which may be called for, will be cheerfully given.

Yours, very respectfully,

D. W. HALSEY.

Chief Clerk, Sec'y of State's Office, Ohio.

LOUISIANA PENITENTIARY,
Baton Rouge, 22d Oct. 1845.

To his Excellency, A. Mouton, Governor:

SIR: In compliance with the request contained in the letter of His Excellency, the Governor of Mississippi, dated 2d October, transmitted to me, in yours of the 8th inst., I beg leave to submit the following answers to the questions contained in said communication.

1st. The Penitentiary has been leased by the Executive of this state, to the present lessees, Messrs. McHatton, Pratt & Co., on the 1st October, 1844, for five years. Sufficient time has not yet elapsed to determine whether the present mode of conducting the institution will be for the interest of the state, and reformation of the convicts.

2nd. The business of manufacturing by machinery, has been partially introduced, and is now being extended by the lessees.

There are at present 1020 spindles, of which there are 720 in operation for spinning cotton, and 240 employed for spinning wool.

Eight thousand yards of coarse cotton goods, and fifteen hundred yards of coarse woolens are manufactured weekly.

The engine, machinery, and factory, employ seventy-five convicts. There are in the Penitentiary, at this present time, 212 convicts. The present machinery cost $16,000, but could now be purchased for much less, say about $14,000, including engine. The profits for the year which expired on the 1st inst., amount to $18,022 96. Deducting the expense of the seventy-five convicts, for maintainance, clothing, guards, &c., amounting to $8,212 50, leaves a net profit for the manufacturing department of $9,810 46. The profits arising from the manufacture far exceeds that of any other branch of industry in the institution.

By extending the machinery, in order to give employment to the whole of the convicts, the profits would be increased, as the expenses would be reduced.

By introducing manufactures in this Penitentiary, it has done away with a great cause of complaint on the part of the mechanics of this town and neighborhood; as they do not enter into competition with their industry.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

SAM. L. ISETT, Clerk.

A judgment has also been obtained in the Carroll circuit court against A. W. McCarroll, adm'r. of Barfield, and land sold under the same, which was purchased by me for the state, at the sum of $200 00. The balance of the judgment is unavailable. Also a

Also a judgment against Robinson, adm'r of the estate of Isaac Caldwell, for $7,196 60⅔; which is now levied on land, and will be sold on the third Monday of January, if no legal delay is interposed.

Also a judgment against H. K. Moss security for Samuel Smith, for $1,814 10, which is now levied on land, and will be sold on the third Monday of January. The land will only bring a small portion of the debt, the residue will be unavailing.

Suits are pending in the Hinds circuit court against Ja's Smith's executors for $1,576 41, the amount contested. If judgment should be obtained, a small part of the debt only can be secured. A suit is also pending against J. B. Fox, for $200 00, who is said to be insolvent; land liable therefor, said to be worth the debt. A suit is also pending against R. J. Hodge, security for J. T. Sims, for $623 15, which is said to be good. Suit is also pending in Warren county against C. D. Tucker, on a note for $2,616 70, of which the collection is doubtful. There is also a note on John Tullis, for $2,784 93, which will probably be paid this spring.

There will be due by Gerard Stites, on judgment for the purchase of land, on the 12th day of August, 1846, the sum of $4,988 80, which will be collected soon after it is due, if no legal delays are interposed. Also a judgment against A. J. Montgomery for $270 00, which will be collected shortly after it falls due. There is $7,640 00 due by Richard M. Johnson, Jr., and B. F. Johnson, one-third of which was due last August, and would have been collected had no legal delays been interposed. But the chancery court set the sale aside by which the debt was created, believing the same to have been made upon exparte testimony. I have instructed the Attorney General to ask for a re-hearing in the case, which application is still pending. If the decision is not reversed one-third of the purchase money of the land having been paid into the treasury, the land for which the debt was created will be re-sold and will bring the other two payments. McDaniel and sureties owe $5,720 00, and his debt is in a similar situation; and in both cases, if the land should be re-sold, I am of opinion the fund will lose nothing, provided the legislature retains the first payments. Application in both cases, I am informed, will be made to the legislature for a re-payment of the first instalments. I would respectfully suggest to the legislature, that in the Johnson case the purchase was bona fide made for the benefit of B. F. Johnson, and he should be held to his contract; and also McDaniel has no cause to complain, except as to a quarter section which was sold at $2 62½ per acre, and he is entitled to a credit on his bond for the amount, as the land seems to have been improperly sold by the commissioner in chancery, Wm. Herrald. There is due by Isaac Bass one note of $706 33, which is part due, and will probably be paid in a few days. The other $706 33, will be due in June next, and will be paid without suit. There is also due by Richard M. Johnson, Jr., for rent of section 32, about $200 00.

Summary showing at one single view the value of said fund:

Now in the treasury,	$103,068 40
Amount secure and certain of collection,	38,287 93
Section 32 valued at ten dollars per acre,	6,400 00
304 acres of land valued at five dollars per acre,	1,520 00
320 " " " $1 25 per acre,	400 00
160 " " " " "	200 00
Due for rent of seminary land,	200 00
Total,	$150,076 33

This amount of $ is the available portion of the fund.

The unavailable portion consists of the following items, viz:

Due on judgments, decrees and notes in suit, and from the Planters bank, (aggregate,)	$117,172 29
849 shares of Planters bank stock,	84,900 00
Total,	$202,072 29

All of which is respectfully submitted,

MORGAN McAFEE.

REPORT OF THE QUARTER-MASTER-GENERAL.

QUARTER-MASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Jackson, Jan. 1, 1846.

To His Excellency, A. G. Brown, Governor of Mississippi:

SIR: I have now the honor, in compliance with your official requisition communicated to me under date of the 25th November, 1845, to report to your Excellency as follows:

1st. The number and condition of muskets and accoutrements belonging to the State, and what disposition has been made of them.

2d. The number and condition of rifles, &c., and their disposition.

3d. The number of pistols, holsters, &c., and their disposition.

4th. The number of cannon, their size, and where located.

It is a matter of regret that I am compelled to communicate to your Excellency the fact, that the arms, accoutrements, &c., belonging to the State, are far from being in the good condition they ought to be. This arises principally from the fact of there being no suitable place in which to deposite them, and the frequent necessity of removing them from place to place, and the consequent exposure to the damp atmosphere.

The room in the capitol, at this time occupied as a depository of the arms, &c., of the State, is by no means suitable for such a purpose; nor is it a suitable or convenient position for them. Two of the cannon, now under the immediate charge of this department, are from necessity, deposited under sheds in this city. This is not only an unsafe place for them, but they are liable to great damage, and it should not be permitted if it could be obviated, but which cannot be done unless the legislature will authorize the erection of a suitable building.

It is scracely necessary to allude to the many inconveniences which have attended the safe and proper keeping of the State arms and munitions of war, during the past two years—the detriment which the State has suffered in consequence thereof, as they are well known to your Excellency. Yet I would be permitted, respectfully, to suggest to your Excellency the propriety of recommending to the legislature, the expediency of having an armory and magazine erected with as little delay as may be practicable, wherein the arms, &c., belonging to the State could be deposited and safely secured from loss, injury or improper interruption. Independent of these pecuniary considerations, it seems to me that a building of the kind is imperiously demanded upon the score of prudential considerations and requires no argument to make a direct appeal to the sound discretion of any good citizen who will give the subject a moments reflection.

I am informed by Col. A. M. Winn, of Warren county, that the "Southrons" of Vicksburg have in their possession some small pieces of cannon. He desires to know of me what disposition shall be made of them as to their more equitable distribution, and as to the obtaining bond for the same. I have not given him any directions upon the subject, and shall await your Excellency's instruction in the matter.

Before concluding the report, it is but proper I should communicate to your Excellency, that there is a manifest indisposition on the part of those who have been placed in offices coming under the head of my department, to render that cheerful and prompt attention in the discharge of their duties, which is so necessary to the efficient organization of the militia system of this state. It arises in most cases, I am persuaded, from the limited salaries allowed by law to the persons selected to fill these offices. The salary of one hundred dollars is totally inadequate to the trouble and responsibilities incident to the office. Such persons, only, should be selected for these stations, who would agree to faithfully perform the duties thereof; and in order to secure such, fair and equitable compensation must be allowed, and then a rigid compliance enjoined upon them for the prompt and efficient fulfilment of the duties of their respective offices. But I deem it unnecessary to make any other suggestions to your Excellency, as you are well aware of what is required for the correction of the present defects of our present inefficient militia system. For a more complete statement, I beg to refer you to the accompanying paper, marked A.

Very respectfully,

W. M. SMYTH.

Quarter-Master-General, Miss. Militia.

ORDNANCE OFFICE,
Washington, Feb. 25, 1845.

His Excellency, A. G. Brown,
Governor of Mississippi, City of Jackson:

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., enclosing a certified statement from the office of the adjutant-general, of the strength of the Mississippi militia, and designating the kind of arms required for the present year. In answer I have to state, that previous to the receipt of your letter, the apportionment of arms for distribution to the several states and territories, predicated, as usual, upon the returns transmitted under the law of congress of March 2d, 1803, had been prepared in this office. But as the apportionment is still considered open for correction, the return received will be the basis for determining the quota of Mississippi, and will accordingly amount, the present year, to about 440 muskets.

The stores specified in your letter, viz:

2 six pounder brass guns with carriages and harness complete,
125 pair pistols, with holsters, &c.,
63 cavalry sabres and belts, are equal in value to about 340 muskets, leaving a balance in favor of the state of 100 maskets, which can be furnished either in two additional six pounder brass guns, with carriages complete, or in muskets, or other small arms, as you may desire.

There are no nine pounder guns on hand, or provided for the use of the army; that calibre having been discarded from the service.

For your information I enclose herewith a copy of a recent decision of the secretary of war, governing in the issue of arms, under the law of 1808.

Be pleased to state at what place, and to whom the stores shall be delivered. The existing regulations require that the place designated shall be situated on naturally navigable water, within the state.

I am, sir, respectfully, your ob't serv't,
G. TALCOTT,
Lieut. Col. Ordnances.

REPORT MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY.

CLERK'S OFFICE,
Jackson, Dec. 13, 1844.

To His Excellency A. G. Brown, Governor of the State of Mississippi:

SIR: By direction of the Board of Inspectors, of this Institution, I have the honor to lay before you their annual report for the financial year ending on the 30th ultimo, together with the Reports of the Superintendent and Physician, and Exhibit marked C, from the clerk's books, showing the operations of the prison in detail.

In compliance with the statute, I have deposited in the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, a statement of the current receipts, and expenditures, and also a general inventory of stock and cash on hand at the close of the fiscal year 1844.

I am with high regard, your ob't serv't,

DAVID N. BARROWS, Cl'k.

INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,
Jackson, Dec. 12th, 1844.

To His Excellency A. G. Brown, Governor of the State of Mississippi:

In compliance with the 8th section of the Penitentiary Code, approved 24th Feb., 1844, the Inspectors beg leave to make their Report.

First. On condition of the Prison.

The lower tier (50 cells in number) is all complete and in good order. In the second tier their are 36 cells completed, and 14 others which can be ready for use at very small expense. The workshops are in good condition and suited for the various branches of business carried on therein. There are also sheds, &c., for the sheltering of the articles manufactured, such as wagons, ploughs, &c. The buildings and yard about the Penitentiary, have been kept neat and clean during the present year.

Agreeably to resolutions passed at the last session of the legislature, the Superintendent purchased a carding machine, which has been in operation for several months; it is propelled by horse power. Also, constructed an iron door across the main passage to the prison edifice, which has proved to be a great convenience, and, in our humble opinion, much more safe than the old plan to prevent the escape of prisoners.

The legislature also passed a resolution, requiring a roof to be erected over the walls of the prison, (provided it was deemed expedient, by the Inspectors) in order to save the expense of the guard on the walls. The inspectors have from time to time had the same under consideration and deemed it inexpedient to carry the same into effect: for, although the roof might be built, yet, the guard would still be needed on the walls; the roof would therefore be an unnecessary expense.

The Inspectors do not deem it necessary to recommend any change about the premises, except, to erect a suitable building for a hospital, which we think very necessary during the winter. It can be dispensed with in summer, as the large passage between the cells, is then a cool and pleasant place for the sick.

Secondly. As regards the convicts.

By reference to the superintendent's report you will perceive the number of prisoners received the last year, and the number remaining in the prison at the close of the year; showing also, the manner in which they have been employed, and also a statement of the number who have died, been pardoned, and discharged. Said last statement is marked A.

As regards the health of the prison, we refer you to the Physician's port, (Exhibit B.)

Upon the subject of the moral and religious improvement in the prisoners, we have good reason to believe that preaching has had a very salutary effect; much credit is due to the ministers of this city and vicinity for their gratuitous services.

The prisoners seem generally disposed to obey the officers and guards, and attend well to their respective duties; the number of offences is small, and the present mode of punishment seems to have a good effect, and appears sufficient to restrain them. Their clothing and bedding amply suffice to make them comfortable; their food has been of a strong and wholesome kind, the cost of which averages 4⅞ cents per day for each convict; we flatter ourselves, they will compare in appearance with any prisoners confined in a similar institution in the union.

Thirdly. Concerning the [illegible]onies received and expended.

Exhibit C, hereunto annexed, is the superintendent's account current, which shows the cash receipts to be (from the 28th Nov., 1843, to November 30th, 1844) $16,798 46 and additional earnings for which cash was not received, amounting to $5,591 61. Amount of salaries due last year and paid this year, $432 12. Profit and loss account, for loss on manufactured articles made by Superintendent Hart, sold for less than invoice price, $385 90. Superintendent's drafts on the Auditor of Public Accounts, and cancelled from the receipts of the institution by order of the board of inspectors, $3,284 66. Stock on hand as per inventory taken Nov. 30th, 1844, $13,172 74. Cash on hand at same date, $1,561 74, making $41, 227 23. The disbursements during the same period amount to $22,598 42. Stock on hand as per inventory taken Nov. 28th, 1843, $15,021 93. Cash on hand at same date, $2,269 88-100, leaving the nett profits for the fiscal year, ending Nov. 30th, 1844, at $1.337 00.

In the exhibit will also be found, under distinct heads, the manner in which the monies were received and disbursed. We are not able to give the distinct profits of each shop, but shall be able to do so in future.

The legislature passed a resolution requiring a new mode of book-keeping, (which did not go into effect until the commencement of the present fiscal year) by which we shall be able to give the profits or losses of each department of business separately.

The Superintendent reports, that to the best of his knowledge and belief, the institution does not owe one dollar up to the close of the last fiscal year, Nov. 30, 1844. We have a hope that the cash receipts during the present year, from the labor of the convicts, will be sufficient to defray all the expenses of the institution without calling on the state for aid.

The inspectors have been much gratified at the harmonious manner in which the present officers have transacted business together, and their readiness to carry into effect any order which was passed by the board.

The superintendent has shown every disposition to discharge his duty, as a faithful officer to the state.

The assistant keeper is industrious, attentive, and seems to have a peculiar talent for the station which he occupies. His strict attention to the sick convicts, has been highly praisworthy.

The clerk's books are neat, and kept in a plain and correct business like manner; he has discharged his duty both as clerk of the prison, and secretary of the board, to the full satisfaction of the inspectors.

The present guard is composed of men of good and industrious habits, polite and respectful towards their superiors and persons visiting the prison.

In cosclusion, it may be proper to state, that we have not strictly complied with the law. Section 8th of the Penitentiary Code, requires the Inspectors to report to the Governor on the second Monday of December: the 40th section requires the Superintendent to make his report on or before the second Monday in December, which is the same day that the Inspectors are required to report to the Governor; hence it will be seen, that the law requires us to do an impossibility; we have, however, made out our report as early as practicable.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

RICH. P. WINSLOW,
LEWIS L. TAYLOR,
J. C. FOREST.
} Inspectors.

To R. P. Winslow, L. L. Taylor and J. C. Forest, Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary:

GENTLEMEN:—As the law directs, I herewith present to you a comprehensive view of the transactions of this Prison for the last fiscal year, which closed on the 30th day of November, 1844. See document A.

In document marked B, you will find an account of all the manufactured articles on hand; and all the stock and property belonging to this prison.

The number of convicts in this Penitentiary on the 28th day of November, 1843, was 66; received since that time, 33; making in all 99, out of which, 8 have been discharged by expiration of sentence; 3 have been pardoned by the Governor; 2 died, and 2 were sent back by a writ of error from Judge Sharkey, leaving now in confinement 84, which are employed generally as follows, to-wit:

In wheelwright and carpenters shop, including harness makers,	16
In blacksmith shop,	12
In shoemakers shop,	4
Spinning, weaving, warping, &c.,	6
Carding and cleaning wool,	3
Painting and carriage trimming,	5
Cutting wood and getting timber,	4
In brick yard,	13
Driving horses to machine,	1
In grinding corn,	2
In gardening,	1
In cooking,	4
In washing,	2
Sweeping and cleaning prison,	2
Average in solitary confinement,	2
Old and infirm,	2
Average confined by sickness,	5
Whole number confined in prison, Nov., 1844,	84

I respectfully refer you to the clerk's books and all other papers and vouchers in his office, to sustain documents A, and B. You will find them plain and intelligible as well as all other matters connected with office.

The business of this prison has progressed steadily and harmoniously, during the past fiscal year; all the officers have applied themselves diligently and faithfully to the discharge of their respective duties, and so have the guards, to the best of their capacities.

This prison labors under serious disadvantages not known to any other prison in the Union, on account of the heavy expense incurred in guarding the walls, for which there seems to be no remedy, except, tearing down and building up new walls. The expense of guarding the walls the past year, including board of guard, &c., amounts to the sum of $1,299.

I have felt myself compelled to keep one convict in solitary confinement during the whole of the past year. I exhausted all my management on him before I adopted this very harsh course. Others also were placed in solitary confinement at different times, making an avarage of two thus punished, during the whole of the past year. As regards the first named, I am satisfied that nothing but the want of the lash has produced the necessity of his ever going into solitary confinement. I wish to call your attention particularly to his case, and ask you to have some remedy provided against a too frequent recurrence to the necessity of solitary confinement, which I believe, can only be done by the use of the lash, properly guarded.

It is proper for me to remark here, that a large number of the convicts received this year, and particularly this fall, are old, infirm and of broken down constitutions, without trades, and bid fair to become a heavy tax upon this institution. No. 51, who is represented to be 106 years old, is very troublesome to the whole institution, and would be more properly at home in a lunatic asylum. Three others, received this fall, have been confined to the hospital since their reception.

I have now the gratification to inform you, that all the outstanding claims against the institution during my administration, have been paid, and not one dollar on any account remains unpaid to the best of my knowledge; and that there is still in the treasury of the institution, money sufficient to purchase all the needful supplies, so as to enable the institution to continue its operations without again being a charge to the state.

Punishments have been very seldom inflicted during the year; the convicts have behaved well with a few exceptions, are industrious and seem much disposed to read and receive moral instruction.

Much praise is due to the clergy of this city and its vicinity, who have kindly volunteered their services to preach to the convicts, since the office of chaplain was abolished.

You will perceive that the whole expense of the penitentiary for provisions during the last year, was $2361 13 entitled to a credit of $101, for provision sold, and $486.10 amount of provisions on hand, leaving for amount consumed $1773 03. There are 84 convicts, 10 guards and an average of six negroes left in prison for safe keeping, making in all 100 persons supported from the above amount of $1773 03, which you will find amounts to 4⅞ cents per head for each day.

I cannot, in justice to my feelings, close this communication without an expression of the lasting obligations I feel to the board of inspectors, for their ready co-operation with me in all measures that seemed for the interest of the institution, and their great anxiety to advance its future prosperity; and it will give me pleasure at all times to meet your views and suggestions; and I rely, with a pleasing hope, on your continued advice and aid in the discharge of my arduous duties.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

BENJ. G. WEIR,

Superintendent Mississippi Penitentiary.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
December 6, 1844.

[EXHIBIT B.]

MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY,
Jackson, Dec. 10, 1844.

To the Inspectors of the Mississippi State Penitentiary:

GENTLEMEN—In my last annual report, I called the attention of the board to the improved condition of the health of the prisoners growing out of the suggestions which had been made the year before, and carried out the succeeding year.

I feel gratified in stating that the result of the present year renews my confidence in the sanatory measures which were then adopted, and confirms the opinion heretofore expressed of the healthfulness of the location of the prison. The past summer and fall presents a striking example. It is a well known fact that fever has prevailed to an unprecedented extent over a large portion of the upland country of the state, and that to one or two locations a fearful fatality has attended it, yet there has not occurred in this institution a solitary case of fever that did not yield in the treatment in three or four days, so mild has been its character.

The portion of acute forms of disease, independent of fever, has not been as great as last year; in their character they were, with few exceptions, mild and of short duration.

The journal of the medical department exhibits, however, an increase of chronic cases over the last year. This increase, I may observe, has not originated in the penitentiary. More than a third of those admitted in the last year, have brought with them various chronic diseases, the result of vicious habits, privations and exposure. Indeed, it would appear that the demand for the services of the physician comes in a majority of cases from that class of unfortunates who, having exhausted their means and their constitutions in the indulgence of every species of vice and dissipation, find their way to the penitentiary, regarding it as an asylum where their wants and sufferings may be ministered to, rather than a place of probationary punishment provided by government for the expiation of crimes committed.

There have occurred but two deaths in the prison since the close of the last fiscal year, both, singularly enough, having taken place on the same night, one dying of chronic diarrhœa, the other of apoplexy. The history of the first one may be told in a few words—he came into the prison with a constitution broken down by a complication of diseases of long standing, which, after much suffering and confinement, terminated his existence. Of the other individual, little was known; he had but recently entered the prison and presented the appearance of robust health. He was a man of full habits, sanguine temperament, short neck and large head; had been slightly indisposed the day before his decease, but was able to answer to his number a few hours before his death.

There are at this time in the hospital but two cases of disease, one a case of chronic rheumatism, the other, chronic diarrhœa.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

W. S. LANGLEY.

MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY.

CLERK'S OFFICE,
Mississippi Penitentiary, Dec. 8, 1845.

To his Excellency, A. G. BROWN,
Governor of the State of Mississippi.

SIR: I herewith transmit, as directed by the Board of Inspectors, their annual report, together with reports of Superintendent and Physician, and accompanying documents showing in full detail, the operations and condition of this institution, for the fiscal year which closed on the last day of November 1845.

The general account current, and inventory of stock, required by law, have this day been deposited in the Auditor's office.

I am, with respect, your ob't serv't,
D. N. BARROWS, Clerk.

MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY,
Inspectors Office, Dec. 8, 1845.

To his Excellency, A. G. BROWN,
Governor of the State of Mississippi.

Since our appointment as Inspectors of this institution, we have endeavored earnestly to guard the interests of the State; and in obedience to the requisitions of law, we beg leave to make the following report in relation to the present condition of the Mississippi Penitentiary:

The cells are cleanly, and in excellent order, and the workshops well adapted to the carrying on of the various branches of business pursued in the prison; the buildings have been kept in good repair and the yard clean.

The report of the Superintendent exhibits the number of convicts received during the past year and now remaining in the prison, as well as the crimes for which they were sentenced, and every thing of interest relating thereto.

The prisoners are generally obedient; but few offences occur; and the mode of punishment seems to have the desired effect. The prisoners are well clad in the manufactures of the prison, and fed with strong and substantial food.

In relation to the health of the prison, it is only necessary to refer to the report of the Physician; it is appended, and marked B.

The Ministers of the Gospel of various denominations, have been frequent in their attendance at divine worship on the Sabbath, without the expectation of reward; and to their teachings, may be partly attributed the general orderly and submissive disposition of the prisoners to the discipline of the Superintendent and bye-laws of the prison.

The account current herewith annexed and marked "C," makes a full exhibition of the financial condition of the prison; the amount received and expended; the gain and loss of each department of business, and the net gain to the institution, over and above all expenditures.

Owing to the complicated system of book-keeping heretofore practiced, it has been impossible to show the profit and loss of each branch of business pursued in the prison; this system was wisely changed by the last legislature, and a plain and simple one adopted, which exhibits at a glance, the loss and gain of each department.

The prison is entirely free from debt, with a balance in its favor of $5,110 02, and its prospects justify the conclusion, that for the future, instead of being a tax upon the treasury, it will yield a handsome revenue to the State.

We take occasion to express our decided approbation of the very efficient manner in which the present Superintendent has managed the affairs and conducted the operations of the institution.

The assistant keeper has faithfully and promptly discherged his duty, and his conduct meets the approval of the board.

The Clerk is in every way competent to the discharge of his duties, which have received his constant attention; his books have been kept correctly, and in a busines manner; and as Secretary of the Board of Inspectors, has given full satisfaction.

The subordinate officers of the prison are men of good habits, are obedient to their superiors and attentive to their duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Signed. RICHARD P. WINSLOW, J. C. FOREST, GEORGE R. FALL, } Inspectors.

MISSISSIPPI PENITENTIARY,
Superintendents Office, Dec. 5, 1845.

To R. P. WINSLOW, J. C. FOREST and G. R. FALL, Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary.

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to submit to you my annual report, ending the 30th day of November. It will be seen by document marked A, that the gain to the institution amounts to $5,110 2-100.

You will find an account of all the manufactured articles, and all the stock and property belonging to the prison, in document marked B.

The whole number of convicts in the prison at the expiration of the fiscal year in 1844, were 84; received since that time, 23, making 107, out of which, 15 have been discharged by expiration of sentence, 2 by writ of error, 5 by executive pardon and 1 by death, leaving now in confinement 84. I consider it proper to remark here, that two of the pardons referred to above, were granted by his Excellency, the Governor, the day before the expiration of sentence, on account of their good behavior during their confinement in prison.

The convicts during the past year have been employed generally as follows:

In blacksmith shop,	12	Driving horses to machine,	1
Wheelwright and harness making,	16	Grinding corn,	3
Shoe shop,	4	Gardening,	1
Spinning, weaving, warping, &c.,	6	Cooking,	3
Carding and cleaning wool,	3	Washing,	2
Painting and carriage trimming,	5	Sweeping and cleaning prison,	2
Brick yard and building cisterns,	19	Old and infirm,	2
		Average sick,	5
	65		19

In document marked C, you will see a statement of the whole number of convicts received in this prison since its commencement, as well as much other information relating thereto, that you may consider useful to the public.

I refer you to the Clerk's books and vouchers in his office to sustain documents A, B, and C. You will find them all plain, comprehensive, neatly kept and correctly balanced.

All the officers under my charge have conducted themselves with fidelity to the trust committed to them, and humanity to the convicts; whilst the latter, with few exceptions, have evinced a quiet, orderly deportment, and have been as cheerful and contented as could be expected under the privation of liberty.

You will perceive by the punishment book, that only 26 punishments have been inflicted during the year, and for the last four months only one; all of which have been of a very mild character.

This prison continues to be afflicted with a number of old and infirm convicts, the most of which were broken down by disease or intemperance, before their reception; one of which, when received, was reported to be 106 years old, is very infirm, and was mentioned in my last annual report as a proper subject for a lunatic assylum, while three others would be more at home in a hospital.

The Rev. Clergy of this city and its vicinity have continued their religious exercises, as usual, in the prison, and I am happy to state, that the attention of the convicts to the word preached is good, and their anxieties for religious exercises, are calculated to inspire me with a hope that the word spoken, has not been "as seed sown by the way side or amongst thorns," but on good ground, and therefore, produced good fruit. Of one thing I am certain, that the religious exercises here, have a tendency to make the observance of discipline on the part of the convicts, comparatively easy, and the necessity of punishment very rare.

I feel, gentlemen, under continued obligations to you, for your instructions and advice during the year, and for your willingness to assist me in all that seemed best for the interest as well as the good of the institution.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

Signed, BENJ. G. WEIR, Superintendent.

[EXHIBIT B.]

JACKSON, MISS. Dec. 2, 1845.

To the Board of Inspectors of the Mississippi Penitentiary:

GENTLEMEN: At no time since the establishment of this institution, has the health of the prisoners been better than during the past fall.

In the months of March, April and May, diarrhea and dissentary prevailed to a greater extent than usual, but on comparing the aggregate amount of cases of every description, which have received medical aid, throughout the present with the past year, the result in point of health, is decidedly in favor of this year.

A case of chronic diarrhea terminated fatally a short time after having entered the prison. This is the only death that has occurred in the Penitentiary since my last annual report.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

Signed, WM. S. LANGLEY, Physician and Surgeon to the Penitentiary.

The Committee to whom has been referred that portion of the Governor's Message which presents to the Legislature the Resolution of the Congress of the Republic of Texas of June 21, 1845, tendering to Andrew Jackson the tribute of a Nation's gratitude; and which, on the subject of that Resolution, suggests that Mississippi will be pleased and proud, in a suitable manner, to manifest her love and veneration for her departed but illustrious friend—have considered the matter, and now, on this the anniversary of the victory of Chalmette, do Report,

That altho' the expression of the gratitude of our heroic and affectionate brethren of Texas, from the interposed dispensation of the Most High, was not received, yet it is inscribed on the records of our latest adopted State, and will brighten the eye of the true-hearted reader until the globe, which turns Texas to the sun, shall change its orbit or cease.

That before Texas, with all her eventful and glorious history, was in contemplation, Mississippi owed and owned a debt of gratitude to the man whose career has just closed—whose departure is yet wept by twenty millions of freemen—and whose sunset casts a radiance over the waters and around the globe, which will cheer the patriot and the christian, until the days of the nations shall be numbered.

That the citizens of Mississippi, desirous to appropriate to themselves their just share of the memory of their beloved Friend, and to do what may be proper to transmit that venerated memory, ought through their Legislature to pass an act requiring that there be procured out of the public treasure, a Statue of General Jackson, from the hands of the most eminent American artist, to be fashioned out of American marble, and placed in a niche of the rotunda of the Capitol; and charging the Governor with the speedy execution thereof:

Provided that the same shall not cost more than $5,000.

Resolved, That the Ministers of the Gospel, residing in the city of Jackson, be requested to attend the meeting of this House each morning during the session, as often as may suit their convenience, and open its deliberations with prayer.

A partial return from Carroll of	636

The returns from Lafayette, shows that the whole vote cast was 1,245, but that 76 were not given for members of the Legislature.

The returns from Marshall, certify the whole vote at 2,159, but that the number given for members of the Legislature, are 2,080.

The returns from Washington exhibit the total vote given in the county, at 224, but no definite number for members of the Legislature, except the votes reported to have been received by each candidate.

The returns from Winston, report the whole vote polled in the county, to be 787, but that 26 were not cast for members of the Legislature. Most of the other counties specified the number of votes given for each candidate.

In further obedience to a resolution of the same Legislature, the resolution, as required, was published, proposing an alteration of the constitution concerning the mode of electing certain officers therein specified; and by the returns on file in this office, it appears that 18,140 votes, were given in favor of the change contemplated, and that 8,148, were given against it.

Respectfully submitted by, sir, your ob't serv't,

Fellow Citizens:

Honored by you with a re-election to the office of Governor, I appear before you a second time, to renew my obligations to support your constitution and faithfully to discharge my duties. In doing so, allow me to enter into covenants, again to requite your generous confidence, by a continued watchfulness over all your varied interests.

Two years have now passed away since I entered, with trembling anxiety, on the high duties to which your partiality had called me.

You have passed your verdict of approval on my conduct, and I thank you—from a heart full and overflowing with gratitude I thank you. I enter on a second term with increased anxiety—and with a determination, quickened by your approval of the past, still to merit your confidence and to retire from your service without having forfeited your good opinion. To be chosen from fifty thousand voters to administer the affairs of a sovereign state, is a distinction of which any man may boast, but which no one has a right to claim. I have it by your sufferance; it shall be my constant effort to wear it without reproach; and to surrender it without dishonor.

Indulge me, Fellow Citizens, in a remark or two touching the present attitude of our state, her future prospects, and the means to be employed in advancing her to greatness and glory. Proud as I am of Mississippi, the home of my childhood, and of my maturer years, I am prouder still of her atitude before the world; of the noble bearing which she exhibits amid the reproaches and contumely cast upon her. Is she accused by Bankers and Bonders of pestilential and seditious conduct, and of being "a ringleader of the sect" called repudiators? She answers as did Paul before Festus. "I stand at Cæsar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews, have I done no wrong, as thou very well knowest. For if I be an offender or have committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die; but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me unto them. I appeal unto Cæsar." Mississippi is to be judged by her own written constitution; if against that she has offended, she expects to be reproached, but if she has not, no man may deliver her into the hands of Jewish or other bond holders. She appeals to the Constitution.

This day fifty thousand hearts scattered over the broad surface of Mississippi, swell with emotion as fifty thousand freemen turn their eyes towards this city to behold the actions of their Representatives assembled here. The state has been maligned and her fair fame traduced by those who are ignorant of her cause, or knowing her to be right, refuse to do her justice. She has taken her position, and from it she will not depart. The shafts leveled at her honor fall harmless at her feet, because they come not from the hand of justice. Let those who are the guardians of her unsullied fame, preserve it free from taint or blemish. You stood by her in her noble attitude of vindicating her constitution, in refusing to pay demands contracted in its violation; stand by her with equal firmness in her no less lofty attitude of vindicating that constitution still further by paying debts contracted by its approval and sanctioned by its language. If Mississippi was called upon by her constitution to reject the Union Bank Bonds, that same constitution bids her pay those of the Planters Bank "to the last mill." I will not ask you if it shall be done, because I will not ask you if Mississippi shall be dishonored.

What are the future prospects of our state, and how shall we advance her in the highway to glory and renown? are questions to be determined by your action. With a fertility of soil equal to any in the world; with the mighty river of her own name, so aptly termed "an inland sea," washing her western border for more than four hundred miles, and bearing upon its bosom the richest product that ever rewarded the toils of man; with navigable rivers like arteries running from her heart to all her extremities; with salubrity of climate equal to Italy, and a population the bravest and best on Gods earth, there is not a land of fairer promise, nor one which may aspire to a higher or a more glorious destiny. How shall we assist her? Let a portion of our energies be directed to internal improvements. The day will come when Mississippi should be spanned from east to west by a great central Railroad; when the waters of the Mississippi should be fenced in, and the fertile lands on its borders be made to throw their rich treasures into the pockets of our people. It was improvements like these that added millions to the wealth of New-York, and gave immortality to the name of Clinton. These improvements cannot be made the next year, or completed perhaps by this generation; but the natal energy and indomitable perseverance of our people will sooner or later carry them out. It is our duty to commence them.

There is a feature in the character of this state which the historian cannot pass by in silence. It is the independence which marks her conduct. Determining for herself what is right, she fearlessly pursues the conviction of her own judgement, regardless of the opinions and conduct of others. She was first to elect judges by the people; she first established a purely metalic currency, and amidst the taunts and jeers of friends and foes, she first stood up in the face of the civilized world and refused to pay an unconstitutional debt contracted in her name. A state which thus pursues its own inclinations, and which has already invested its people with more power than any other in the union, or perhaps in christendom, should be the foremost in giving universal instruction to its people.

An ignorant multitude excited by some fancied wrong and led by some daring and popular demagogue, may, in a single hour, commit breaches in the fabric of our government which the wisdom and ingenuity of ages may not be able to repair. The educated masses are never phrenzied thus; appreciating the blessings of liberty, they will never commit excesses in its name. Then by every consideration of patriotism; by your love of liberty; by the devotion which you bear to your offspring; by the safety of your fire-sides; and the accumulated wealth of years of toil; by the holy religion of your fathers; by all that you hold dear in this world, or sacred in the world to come, I exhort you to spread the blessings of Education among the PEOPLE!

The legislation of this country is wisely divided into state and national. As a member of the great family of states, we are the victims or beneficiaries of national legislation as chance may direct, our voice being as one to fifty in her councils.

Whilst we direct our domestic legislation so as to develope the resources of our state, and secure to ourselves and our properity the blessings of liberty in a free government, may we not in earnest and respectful terms, address our petitions and our remonstrances to the federal legislature, so to govern its councils, as not to retard us in our onward march to prosperity and happiness. Nay! whilst others are the recipients of governmental favor, may we not ask for justice If the tariff oppresses us, may we not ask that it be relaxed? If protection retards us, may we not ask that it be removed? Our cotton whitens every sea, and enlivens every port. It is the axis on which the commercial word revolves. Shall congress restrict us to a home market, and call this protection? verily, "it is such protection as vultures give to lamds." No, let congress protect us in foreign lands; let congress protect us as we float on every sea, and barter in every port, and we will protect ourselves and our government at home.

Millions on millions of the nation's money is yearly lavished in developing the resources and advancing the prosperity of other states, under the specious pretext of "providing for the common defence and the general welfare." Mississippi has remonstrated and her remonstrance has not been heard; she must stand firm on the broad platform of the constitution, and as she grows older and stronger she will increase in the compass and strength of her appeals for justice. She asks for nothing from the nation's coffers to her local works, but she asks for "defences" commensurate with her commercial importance, and such as are demanded by her position in the union, and her contributions to the national wealth. Our southern coast for three hundred miles is undefended; scarcely a light-house to direct the storm-beaten mariner has been erected. Not an arsenal nor a fort is built on our shores. The nation liberal to others, but parsimonious to us, has not even surveyed our coast. A harbor equal to almost any on the Atlantic, was better known to British seamen in 1812–15 than to American statesmen in 1846. Are we members of the same family, or are we strangers to the sisterhood of states, that our interests are thus neglected and our safety set at nought?

If it were competent for congress to aid in the construction of the Wabash canal, with a grant from the public domain, why may not the rivers that spann our state in all directions and bear upon their bosoms the rich products of our soil demand like contributions from the nation's bounty. The Pearl, Yazoo, Black, Tallahatchie and other rivers are as important to us in their navigation as the Wabash canal can be to any portion of the western people.

For years and years, Mississippi has appealed, but she has appealed in vain, for a graduation in the price of the public lands.—The older states have clung to these lands with a miser's iron grasp. Gloating over the prospect of gain, they have regarded each dollar wrung from the reluctant grasp of the hardy settler, as so much added to their coffers. In a lucky hour the principle of graduation was ingrafted into the treaty with the Chickasaw Indians. Witness its fruits. In ten years, the lands ceded by the Chickasaw tribe, have made more advances in population and in agriculture than those in the Choctaw cession have in twice that number of years. We have seen the less productive lands in the Choctaw cession go uncultivated for almost a quarter of century, and a thrifty population, such as would do credit to any state, driven west, where the more liberal government of Texas gave them lands on better terms. Our appeals must be renewed. The policy of the United States will ultimately induce her to listen to our petitions.

The feeling is now for war—war with England; a war in which we are to be the greatest sufferers. This war will give impetus to New England manufactures, and open new and profitable markets for western produce: to us it will bring blight and desolation. Our hearths, now happy and cheerful, will become lonely and desolate—our fields, no longer covered with a snowy white staple and enlivened by the negroe's happy song, will grow up in thorns and thick weeds, and become the resting place of reptiles and ill-omened birds. Yet are we ready for the crisis. Let no one doubt our fealty to the general good—let no one say that Mississippi will be unfaithful to the nation's honor—let her but know that her cause is just, and she will march to victory or death. Let the nation be faithful to herself and us—let her stand by her President who "has asked for nothing but what is right," and who has already sworn upon the altar of his country's glory, that "he will submit to nothing which is wrong;" and if for this, England wages war upon us, why, let it come—in God's name let it come. In such a cause, there is not a tongue that would not cry for war; and tho' houses were burned and cities sacked, and tho' biting hunger should e'en claim us for his victims, still our voice would be for war:—and our mothers, the matrons of the land, would cheer us in this goodly work. Like the mother of the Spartan heroes, they would bid us return from such a conflict "with our shields, or upon them." With England must ever rest the question of peace or war. We crave an honorable peace, and if this be denied us, we ask for war. I pray that justice may hold the scales in the hands of England, and that the genius of peace may preside over her deliberations.

With no disposition to trespass further on your indulgence, I conclude with an earnest wish that you the people may be united in all your efforts to promote the public good; and that the counsels of your representatives, under the supervision of Divine Providence, may be directed to the union of the States, the happiness of the people, and the perpetuity of liberty, and universal peace among men. ALBERT G. BROWN.

The following message was received from his excellency the governor, by Mr. Nicholson, his private secretary:

To the House of Representatives:

At the solicitation of a large number of the citizens of Jackson I transmit the enclosed memorial. It is numerously signed by gentlemen of all classes and pursuits, and has the approval of the corporate authorities of this city. All that the memorialists say on the subject of education meets my hearty approbation; and I commend it to the favorable notice of the legislature.

The lots designated in the survey of the city of Jackson, as college square and college green, are at present useless, and must long remain so, unless some means are provided for erecting houses upon them. A portion of these grounds may be sold and the money applied to the purpose of building, without injury to the balance. In the plan of this city, as originally surveyed, certain squares south of capitol square were reserved as a court green. Two lots in one of these squares were sold many years since, and have been patented to the assignee of the purchaser, thus destroying the value of the square as a public promenade. The city will doubtless relinquish its interest in the square for the benefit of the school, and I recommend that the state should do the same. The state has an equitable interest in a few lots of no very great value, which were sold in 1838, the purchasers of which are now either dead or insolvent. This interest, if relinquished to the trustees of the school, might be of service, and it will probably never be of any great benefit to the state. I am satisfied that on a proper investigation of the subject, it will be found entirely practicable for the state to relinquish certain interests which she has in this city, and thereby greatly aid the cause of education, without doing herself any material injury. I recommend the appointment of a committee to investigate the subject.

By reference to the acts of 1837, page 57, it will be seen that provision was made by the legislature for paying volunteers called into the service of the United States, by Major General Gaines. The Auditor was required to audit the Governor's accounts for that purpose. In pursuance of this legislation, Governor Lynch drew the above mentioned sum on the 13th day of February, 1837, (see Auditor's journal, page 189.) The Secretary of War sent an officer of the army, to this State, to pay off the volunteers, but for some cause, not known to me, the above sum was omitted. No part of it, so far as I am informed, has ever been paid by the United States.

To the House of Representatives:

A resolution from your body has been submitted to me, making inquiry as to "what action has been taken under, and in pursuance of an act passed on the 16th February, 1838, in referrence to the Newton and Lauderdale railroad and turnpike company." It is not in my power to inform the house of representatives what has been done in pursuance of the act referred to. The company which it incorporated, was not required to report its proceedings to the executive department, and I have no data upon which to base a statement as to its action. By the third section of an act, approved February 15, 1839, supplemental to the said act of incorporation, provision was made for loaning $30,000 of the "surplus revenue of the state of Mississippi," to the company, for the return of which money, the company was required to execute three bonds for the sum of ten thousand dollars each, payable in ten, fifteen, and twenty years. The thirty thousand dollars was to be expended in improving the navigation of the Chickasawha river. For more specific information, I refer to the act itself (page 365 of laws of 1839.) The bonds were executed and the auditor drew three warrants on the treasury on the 12th day of June, 1839, for ten thousand dollars each, payable out of the "surplus revenue."

By an act, approved July 26, 1843, the governor was required to cause suit to be brought on these bonds. The law had not been enforced when I came into office, and for the reason, as I was informed, that the district attorney in the judicial district where the company is located, was one of the obligors to the bonds, and no power had been specially given to employ other council. In 1844, farther powers were conferred in relation to the employment of attorneys, and very soon after the adjournment of the legislature in that year, I made application for the bonds at the office of the auditor of public accounts, with a view to the enforcement of the law, and was answered that they had been entrusted to a legislative committee having the subject in charge in July, 1843, and that they had not been returned. I made diligent search for them in all the departments, in the offices of the clerks and secretary of the two houses, and wherever else I thought they might possibly be found. I corresponded with every one whom I thought likely to know any thing about them, but up to this time they have not been found.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

During the last summer, it was believed that a portion of the labor in the penitentiary could be more profitably employed in building a wall around the capitol than any thing else. With the concurrence of the inspectors and superintendent of the prison, the work was, by my direction, commenced, and considerable progress made, when it was arrested by the inclemency of the weather.

If the legislature concurs with me in the opinion that the building should be protected by a substantial fence, it will be found necessary to make an appropriation to purchase a portion of the materials. The whole of the brick work may be done without a dollar's outlay. The stone and iron will have to be paid for, if the work is carried on. Mr. John Robb, an experienced stone cutter, in this vicinity, has quarried a quantity of stone suitable for the purpose, which he proposes to sell to the state on as good terms as it can be purchased elsewhere. The state architect, Wm. Nichols, Esq., corresponded, by my direction, with iron founders in Louisville, Cincinnati and Pittsburg, with a view of ascertaining the price at which the iron could be delivered at Vicksburg, and he is prepared to submit an exact estimate of the whole cost of the work. The capitol, in its present condition, is continually trespassed upon. This, of itself, is a good reason why the fence should be made, to say nothing of its present neglected and unseemly appearance. No contracts have been made with any person for the stone or iron, for the reason that no one had authority to make them; the whole matter is submitted to the legislature.

A portion of the roof on the north-west corner of the capitol was blown off in a violent storm, last summer. For want of a better material at hand it was replaced with shingles. The safety of the building requires that something less combustible should be substituted in place of the shingles.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE.

HON. JAMES WHITFIELD,

The assessments on real and personal estate for the year 1843, were		$328,456,69½
Of this assessment there have been collected and paid into the treasury	$237,616,38½
And in the year 1845,	2,224,38
There were, also, allowed tax collectors for claims against the state	83,631,39½	—323,472,16
Balance of the taxes of 1843 not yet collected,		4,984,53½
The assessments on real and personal estate for 1844 were		421,610,37½

and there have been allowed tax collectors for claims against the state,	71,698,17½	—413,042,03
Balance not yet settled with the Treasury,		8,568,34½

I will, however, remark, that I am advised that a portion of the above balances has been collected, but it is still in the hands of the District Attorney who collected it.

The receipts into the Treasury from all sources, during the year 1844, exclusive of five millions of bonds executed to the Mississippi Union Bank, were $347,906 62½

This amount was received from the following sources viz:

From state tax 1843,	$237,610,38½
" " " 1842,	9,568 09

The amount of allowances made to tax collectors in settlement, in 1844, and which are equivalent to receipts, because they discharge the liabilities of the state, the same as though their amount were paid at the Treasury, was, as before stated, $83,631,39¼ and were on the following accounts, viz:

The amount received into the Treasury from all sources in 1844, as before stated, amounted to the sum of $347,906,62½

The expenditures by warrant during the same period, were 267,636,10¾

Excess of receipts over expenditures, $80,270,51¾

If from the above excess, we take the amount received on account of the Seminary and Sinking Funds ($46,704,22) which constitute a debt against the state, the excess of receipts, over the expenditures will be found to be only - - $43,566,28¾.

The expenditures by warrant during 1844, were on the following accounts, viz:

The receipts into the Treasury from all sources during 1845, as before stated, amounts to the sum of . . . $426,035 80⅝
The expenditures by warrant during the same period were 168,882 60½

Excess of receipts over expenditures during 1845, 257,153 50
But if from this we take the sum of the Seminary and Sinking funds, viz: . . . (62,359 60½)

Collected in 1845, the excess of receipts will be only 194,793 90½

The expenditures by warrant during 1845 were on the following accounts, viz:

The total amount received into the Treasury during the two years ending 31st of December 1845, was	$773,942 [illegible]
The total amount expended by warrant during the same period, was	436,518 40½
Excess of receipts over expenditures for said two years	337,424 03

The amount of outstanding Auditor's warrants, including funded and unfunded, on the first day of January 1844, as shown by my report to the last Legislature, was - - $614,743 83½

If, from said amount, we subtract the above excess of receipts over the expenditures for the last two years,	$337,424 03 together with amount of warrants redeemed by gold received from Mrs. Graves, wife of the late Treasurer,	2,747 68 and amount redeemed with Mississippi Union Bank paper,	1,771 76
and amount redeemed by Treasurer's draft on the two per cent fund,	1,050 65	—$342,994 12
We have the amount of outstanding Auditor's warrants at 1st of January 1846,		$271,749 71

This estimate is founded on the assumption that all the warrants received into the Treasury, were genuine, but $7000 of these are known to be forgeries, consequently, the amount of warrants really outstanding, is about $278,749 11.

It is made my duty to present the Legislature with an estimate of the probable expenses of the state government, and also of the receipts into the Treasury until the next regular session of the Legislature, Such estimates, being to a considerable extent conjectural, may vary considerably from the truth, as contingencies which it is impossible to anticipate, may increase or decrease, both receipts and expenditures, so as to make them disagree with the estimates.

Judging from the past ordinary expenses of the state, I present the following estimate, 1st, for 1846, viz:

Expenses on account of the Legislature,	$42,000 00
" " Judiciary Departm't,	60,000 00
" " Commissions for assessing, about	20,000 00
" " Executive Departm't,	8,500 00

Expense on acc't Appropriations, (uncertain)	30,000 00
" of the Penitentiary, about	5,500 00
" State Library and Keeper of Capitol,	1,200 00
" Militia, (uncertain)	1,500 00
" Revolutionary Soldiers, (uncertain)	3,500 00
" Public Printing, (uncertain)	10,000 00
" Seminary Lands, (salary of Commissioner of,)	1,500 00
" Auditor's contingent fund,	1,500 00
" Executive contingent fund,	4,000 00
" Interest on funded Warrants, (uncertain)	2,000 00
" Distribution of Laws and Journals, (uncertain)	500 00
" Miscellaneous and contingent, (uncertain)	2,000 00	$193,700 00
The assessments for 1845, are about	$415,000 00
From which we may deduct for insolvencies, commissions for collecting and defalcations,	50,000 00
Amount estimated to be received for taxes of 1845,	$365,000 00
To which we may add, receipts from retailing pedlars, billiard and broker's licenses,	10,000 00	$375,000 00
Supposed estimate of receipts over expenditures for 1846,	$182,300 00

Should there be no called or adjourned session of the Legislature in 1847, I estimate the expenditures for said year as follows, to-wit:

On account of the Judiciary departmt,	$60,000 00
" Executive department,	8,300 00
" Commissions for assessing, about	20,000 00
" Expenses of Penitentiary,	5,500 00
" State Library and Keeper of Capitol,	1,200 00
" Militia,	1,500 00
" Revolutionary Soldiers	3,500 00
" Public Printing,	2,500 00
" Salary of Commissioner of seminary fund, or lands,	1,500 00

" Auditor's contingent fund,	[illegible]
" Executive contingent fund,	4,000 00
" Interest on funded debt, & warrants,	15,000 00
" Miscellaneous & contingent,	2,000 00
Supposed expenditures for the year 1847,	$112,500 00
On the supposition that there should be no reduction of the present rate of taxation, we may estimate the receipts from taxes and licenses for 1847, at about	$380,000 00
Supposed excess of receipts over expenditures for 1847, $267,500 00

It is presumed, however, that an appropriation will be made by the present Legislature, for the purpose of erecting the University buildings: should this be done, the expenditures will be increased, over the above estimates, to the amount of such appropriation.

I most respectfully suggest to the Legislature, the propriety of changing the time at which the tax collectors may commence collecting the taxes, from the first day of September, to the 8th or 15th day of November, in each year. Under the present system, the collectors in office are authorized to collect from and after the first of September. At each general election, their term of office expires, and frequently new collectors are elected. In the meantime, the old or former collectors proceed to collect up to the date of the election, and disputes arise between them and the new collectors as to the amount collected by them, and the Auditor not only has to settle with two collectors in each of such cases, but is often at a loss to know the amount with which to charge each. Defalcations are frequently the result, and the Auditor knows not which collector to hold responsible. If he sue one, he may prove that he has not collected the amount with which he stands charged, and throw the State in the costs. In the meantime, while the suit is pending, the other collector and his sureties may die, remove, or become insolvent, and the amount due may be lost.

Should it be thought that the time from November to March, is too short to collect the taxes, the end of the fiscal year could be changed from the first of March to the first of June. Such a change would not only give the same time for collections now given, but would be much more [illegible] to the people of the Northern counties, who do not [illegible] as citizens who live [illegible] part of the State.

Since the repeal of the law authorising the purchase of lands by the State for taxes, a large portion of the revenue arising from lands, is lost to the State, as the collectors have been unable to obtain bidders for the land. A large portion of the insolvent list of the two past years, was on account of lands which could not be sold, for the want of bidders. I think it worthy of the serious consideration of the Legislature, whether it would not be proper to revive the law authorising the collectors to bid in and deed such lands to the State, avoiding the very objectionable features of the old law, and which, doubtless, led to its repeal.

I beg leave, also, to suggest to the Legislature the propriety of reviving the redemption law, for lands purchased by the State for taxes, as I am advised that many persons whose lands were sold, were unapprised of the facts, until after the time for redemption had expired. About two-thirds of the lands heretofore bid in for the State, remain unredeemed, and in many cases the lands belonged to widows and orphans.

In many instances, the probate clerks fail to report, and the county treasurers to pay over the monies received for licenses. To remedy this evil, I respectfully suggest the passage of a law inflicting suitable penalties for such neglect, and giving the Auditor power to collect such defalcations, as promptly as he can from defaulting tax collectors.

I have the honor to be most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES E. MATTHEWS,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

On motion of Mr. Wade,

The treasurer's report was taken up.

On motion of Mr. Smiley,

The reading was dispensed with, and two hundred copies ordered to be printed, and is as follows:

[illegible]

[illegible]

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi:

GENTLEMEN:

As Treasurer of the State, I ask leave to present herewith a report of the fiscal operations of this department, from the first of January, 1844, to the thirty-first day of December, 1845, (both days included) as required of me by law.

Accompanying this report, are three documents, marked A, B, and C. The first, marked A, exhibits the receipts and disbursements of this department, from the thirty-first day of March, 1843, the day on which I entered upon the discharge of the duties of Treasurer, to the twenty-ninth day of February, 1844, (both days inclusive) the close of that fiscal year. The second, marked B, presents the receipts and disbursements at this office, from the first of March, 1844, to the twenty-eighth of February, 1845, (both days inclusive) the termination of that fiscal year.

These documents show the sources from which revenue was derived, and the departments, on account of which disbursements have been made.

The third document, marked C, presents the monthly receipts and disbursements from the first of January, 1844, to the thirty-first of December, 1845, (both days inclusive.) The legislature, at its January session in 1844, by their committee, examined my books and vouchers to the thirty-first of December, 1843, and made a report upon them. The exhibit marked C, therefore, commences where the committee ended, and terminates the thirty-first day of December last.

I have excluded from this account, every thing not embraced in the current transactions of the Treasury.

The Governor obtained from the Auditor a receipt warrant, and paid into this office, five millions of bonds, executed by an individual member of this State, to the Mississippi Union Bank, [illegible] the State credit for the receipts warrant, and charged the State with the amount of the bonds cancelled, in the presence of the Governor. They are now in the office, and subject to your examination.

It will be perceived that I have charged myself for about the gold and silver which have been received from Mr. Graves, my late predecessor, which have, under an act of the Legislature, been applied to the payment of warrants drawn in favor of the Topographical Engineer, which passed to my credit.

His Excellency A. G. Brown, presented me with an Auditor's warrant for seventeen hundred and seventy-one dollars and seventy-six cents, to be paid in the notes of the Mississippi Union Bank. I paid the warrant out of that description of money found in the Treasury, and reported to the Legislature January, 1844. I have charged the State with the warrant paid, and given it credit for the notes thus used.

The Governor required me to make two drafts upon the two per cent fund, in the Treasury of the United States, for the purpose of paying the ballance due upon warrants drawn in favor of the Topographical Engineer. I drew for $110 65, for which sum I gave the State credit, and charged it with the warrants paid.

The gold and silver here alluded to, and the Union money, are all that I have used, of the different sums reported to be on hand the 1st January, 1844. The balance of the bills receivable, still remain in the Treasury, hopelessly unavailable, either at present or in future. The United States Treasury notes are of course excepted.

The United States Treasury notes, amounting to ninety-two thousand six hundred dollars, heretofore reported to the Legislature, as being received from Mrs. Graves, the wife of the late Treasurer, is now in the safe, and subject to the count and disposition of the Legislature.

The appropriations made by the last Legislature, for the repairs of the State Capitol, Executive mansion, and lightning rods, have been applied as contemplated, and the vouchers are on file in this office.

The receipts and expenditures on account of the repairing funds, are also on file.

I take much pleasure in announcing to you, that I am cashing all warrants presented at this office, and it is believed that there will remain in the Treasury by the first day of March, between one and two hundred thousand dollars in specie, if the sheriffs should meet my expections; I therefore, ask the Legislature to provide for me, at an early period, a fire-proof vault for its safe keeping.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your ob't. serv't.,

W. CLARK, State Treasurer.

An act for the benefit and protection of Adelia V. Elkin, administratrix of the estate of Thomas W. Elkin, deceased, of Monroe county;

Which was read the first time.

On motion of Mr. Moore,

The rule was suspended, the bill read the second and third time, and passed with its title as stated.

Mr. Greaves, from the select committee, to whom was referred that portion of the governor's message which relates to the quo warranto act of 1843, and the banks, have instructed me to make the following report:

Report of the Select Committee of the House of Representatives on the Quo Warranto Act of 1843, and the Banks.

Mr. Speaker:—The Select Committee, to whom was referred, that portion of the Governor's Message, which relates to the Quo Warranto act of 1843, and the Banks, have instructed me to make the following Report:

The Committee, have had the subjects assigned them under serious consideration, and recommend "an amendment of the constitution, forever prohibiting the establishment of banks in this State," and the repeal of the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh sections, of the Quo Warranto and Injunction act of 1843. The Committee feel that it is due to this House, the country and themselves, that they should declare the reasons which have impelled them to this conclusion. The original bill, as it was introduced into this House, by its distinguished author, embraced only the seven first sections. In that form it passed, and was sent to the Senate, where, upon motion of a distinguished Senator, it was amended by adding the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh sections. The bill as amended was sent back to the House and concurred in; and, thus, it became the law of the land. The Committee deem it wholy unnecessary to discuss the constitutionality of the act as it was introduced into this House; for the Supreme Court of the State, the highest tribunal known to the constitution, have preceded them in that task. The seven first sections of the act, celebrated as the original Briscoe Bill, stand the adjudicated law of the land. For the truth of this assertion the Committee refer this House to the decisions of Judges Thacher, Clayton and Sharkey, delivered in the important cases of "The Commercial Bank of Rodney, vs. the State of Mississippi; the Commercial Bank of Manchester, vs. the State of Mississippi; the State of Mississippi, vs. the Bank of Port Gibson; and the State of Mississippi, vs. the Grand Gulf Bank, as reported in the 4th volume of Smedes & Marshall's Reports. It is perfectly understood that the seven sections of the Quo Warranto act of 1843, are purely remedial in their nature, and that they do not, in the slightest degree, affect contracts entered into with the banks, or the estate, real and personal, belonging to said corporations. It is equally well understood, that the information in the nature of a Quo Warranto, provided for by the first and second sections of that act, is a civil, and not a criminal proceeding; and that the injunction provided for in the sixth section, does not impair the obligation of any contract between the banks and the State, and that it is not a violation of the constitution of the United States. It is also clearly ascertained that the said sixth section is not a violation of the constitution of this State; and that it does not confer judicial power upon the clerks of the circuit courts, whose duty it is made to issue the injunction. With such authorities in our own State, and those out of it, the Committee cannot for a moment doubt the action of this House.

It is said, that the original Quo Warranto Bill of 1843, if carried into effect, will release debtors from the payment of their just debts to the banks. The Committee believe that the charge is so utterly destitute of truth, that a few words in refutation, will put it at rest forever, with all honest and intelligent men. The original bill simply provides a common law remedy, perfectly familiar to the courts of England and the United States. It was said, before the introduction of that bill, that all the incorporated banks in the State had forfeited their charters. The original bill only provides a proceeding at law, by which it can be ascertained whether the banks have forfeited their charters. That proceeding is an information in the nature of a Quo Warranto, at the instance, and on behalf of the State. The original bill does not even allude in the remotest degree to the kind of judgment the court shall render up, upon the finding or verdict of the jury empanneled in the case; nor does it declare, in any manner, what shall be the effect and consequence of a forfeiture of a bank charter, judicially ascertained. The bill does not change the legal relations between the banks and their debtors and creditors, but leaves the general law of the land, untouched, to be administered by the judicial tribunals of our State. Can as much be said of the Senate's amendment? Does it not alter the law of the contract? Does it not impair the obligation of all contracts entered into with the banks? and does it not change—absolutely change—the whole law of forfeiture, which existed at the time the contracts were entered into with the banks, and which necessarily became a part of those contracts, and conferred rights and immunities upon the banks which they did not before possess?

Can any man, however able, successfully controvert these positions? The Committee think it would be a labor that even Hercules could not perform.

When an incorporated bank is proceeded against for a forfeiture of its charter, by an information in the nature of a writ of Quo Warranto, and it is judicially ascertained that it has forfeited its charter, what is the judgment of the court? The judgment is, that the parties, or corporators, be ousted, and the franchises seized into the hands of the government. The bank then is absolutely divested of its corporate capacity; it is dissolved, which dissolution is its civil death. When the corporators are ousted, the political body is utterly annihilated; and the franchises which constitute the existence—the vitality of the corporation, return to the bosom of the State, which gave them, as does the soul of man, after death, to the God who created him.

The Committee ask the indulgence of the House, while they attempt to show what the law was before the passage of the Senate's amendment. This general law, it will be recollected, existed in this State when the banks were incorporated, and when, and after the bank debts were contracted, and their property acquired. Sir Edward Coke says, the real estate remaining unsold, reverts to the grantor and his heirs, "because in the case of a body politic or incorporate, the fee is vested in their political or incorporate capacity, created by the policy of man; and therefore the law doth annex a condition in law to every such gift and grant that if such body politic or incorporate be dissolved, the donor or grantor shall re-enter, for that the cause of the gift or grant faileth." When a man dies, without heirs or representatives, his real estate escheats to the State, as well as personal property. And why? Because the fee is vested in his natural capacity, and passes out of the grantor without any reversionary interest. The law supposes him capable of having heirs or representatives; but it never yet entertained such a supposition, with regard to corporations. Who ever heard of a corporation procreating its species, or having heirs and representatives? Did any man ever hear, or read, of a corporation, on its death-bed, making its last will and testament, and appointing its executors? or of letters of administration being granted by the Probate Court, to the afflicted wife or husband, as the gender may be, to administer on its estate? Mr. Thomas, in his note, at the end of Coke on Corporations, says emphatically, that upon the dissolution of a corporation, all the debts, both to and from it are totally extinguished. The right of the grantor to his land, if unsold by the corporation previous to a dissolution, is just as strong, as if specified in the deed; that it should revert to him on the dissolution of the corporation. Sir William Blackstone, the greatest genius that ever shed intellectual light on the constitution and laws of England, says, "a corporation may be dissolved by forfeiture of its charter, through negligence or abuse of its franchises; in which case the law judges that the body politic has broken the condition, upon which it was incorporated, and thereupon the incorporation is void. And the regular course is to bring an information in nature of a writ of Quo Warranto, to inquire by what warrant the members now exercise their corporate power, having forfeited it by such and such proceedings." The "dissolution is the civil death of the corporation; and in this case their lands and tenements shall revert to the person, or his heirs, who granted them to the corporation; for the law doth annex a condition to every such grant, that if the corporation be dissolved, the grantor shall have the lands again, because the cause of the grant faileth. The grant is, indeed, only during the life of the corporation, which may endure forever: but, when that life is determined by the dissolution of the body politic, the grantor takes it back by reversion, as in the case of every other grant for life. The debts of a corporation, either to or from it, are totally extinguished by its dissolution, so that the members thereof cannot recover, or be charged with them, in their natural capacities." The members cannot recover, or be charged with the debts, either owing to, or from, the corporation, in their natural capacities; that is, as citizens of the community, without reference to the corporation. And as they cannot recover, or be charged with the debts in their unnatural, or artificial capacities, there is no possible way known in the law, by which they can either recover, or be charged with them; and, therefore, as a natural corollary, ex necessetati rei, they are totally extinguished and utterly annihilated. If stronger terms can be used to express an idea, the Committee are wholly ignorant of them.

The Committee will now refer to some of the many American authorities on the subject, and show to the entire satisfaction of this House, that the English common law, with regard to the effects of a forfeiture of charter, is recognised and enforced, in all its rigor and stringency, in the United States. The assertion, by the enemies and sworn foes of the original Quo Warranto bill, that the common law of England, with regard to corporations, does not apply to banks in this country, is so utterly demolished by every respectable decision on the question in the United States, that the Committee cannot but contemplate with profound astonishment their bold effrontery, and reckless disregard of truth. Is a bank a different institution from a corporation? Is it a sacred body that the law must not polute and contaminate, by its unholy touch? Is it above the constitution and the laws of the land, and more to be favored than its creators, the people? Surely, Satan has rebelled, and requires to be hurled over the battlements, by the potent arm and thunderbolts of the law! Every tyro in the law, knows that our banks are corporations, and that corporations are erected for different purposes; some for the promotion of religion and charity; others, education, manufactures, commerce, mining, agriculture, and the emission of paper or notes, which last existed to a fearful extent at one time in our State; and it may be said of our State, as Mr. Duncan said of Pennsylvania, it "was an extensive manufacturer of home made corporations" covering the land as thick as the frogs and locusts of Egypt.

Chancellor Kent, of New York, the Blackstone of America, says, "according to the settled law of the land, where there is no special statute provision to the contrary, upon the civil death of a corporation, all its real estate, remaining unsold, reverts back to the original grantor and his heirs. The debts due to and from the corporation are all extinguished. Neither the stockholders, nor the directors or trustees of the corporation, can recover those debts, or be charged with them, in their natural capacity. All the personal estate of the corporation vests in the people, as succeeding to this right and prerogative of the crown at common law." He informs us, that in New York, "a legislative reservation" was annexed to a charter, in 1822, giving to the Legislature power to alter, modify and expunge the act. But that it was also provided that no alteration, modification or repeal should annul or invalidate the contracts made by or with the corporation, and that it should still continue a corporation so as to collect and recover, and dispose of their estate, real and personal, and pay their debts, and divide the surplus. It is unquestionably true, that if the charter of incorporation changes the common law, and provides for the collection of debts, both to and from it, and for the disposition of the estate, real and personal, after forfeiture of charter, it is constitutional. Or, if an act of the Legislature is passed, subsequent to the act of incorporation, and before the debts to and from it are contracted, providing for the collection of debts to and from it, and for the disposition of the estate, real and personal, it is constitutional; and in both cases it being the law of the land at the time the contracts are entered into, and forming a necessary part of the contracts, it will govern them and the estate, real and personal, after a forfeiture of charter is judicially ascertained, or altered, modified or expunged. But, the Legislature can pass no law, after the debts are contracted, (as in the case of the Senate's amendment,) and the charters in fact forfeited, so as to do away with the common law or forfeiture. What does the learned Judge Story say on this identical subject? The House are referred to the 8th vol. of Peters' Reports, page 281, where that great jurist has decided, that "a corporation, by the very terms and nature of its political existence, is subject to dissolution, by a surrender of its corporate franchises, and by a forfeiture of them for wilful misuser and nonuser. Every creditor must be presumed to understand the nature and incidents of such a body politic, and to contract with reference to them. It would be a doctrine new in the law, that the existence of a private contract of the corporation should force upon it a perpetuity of existence contrary to public policy, and the nature and objects of its charter." How plain! How positively conclusive!! It is therefore a part of the substance of every contract with a corporation, whether by a debtor or creditor, that upon its dissolution the debts shall be extinguished. In the case decided by Judge Story, the Potomac Company were the defendants, and Jacob Mumma the Plaintiff. That single decision, in the opinion of the Committee, settles forever the fate of the Senate's amendment to the original Briscoe bill.

Angell & Ames, two distinguished lawyers in Rhode Island, in their justly celebrated work on corporations, inform us, that "at common law, upon the civil death of a corporation, all its real estate remaining unsold, reverts to the grantor and his heirs; for reversion, in such an event, is a condition annexed by the laws inasmuch as the cause of the grant has failed. The personal estate in England, vests in the King, and in our own country, (the U. S.) in the people, or State, as succeeding to this right and prerogative of the crown, the debts due to and from it, are totally extinguished; so that neither the members nor directors of the corporation, can recover, or be charged with them in their natural capacities. According to that maxim of the civil law, "si quid universitati debetur, singulis non debetur; nec, quod debet universitas, singuli debent." The common law, in this particular, is however, frequently modified by charter or statute." It is unquestionably the meaning of the authors, that the common law may be modified by the charter; and when this is done the modification takes place before the corporation begins business; and the modification being the law at the time the contracts are made, and the estate, real or personal, is acquired, enters into those contracts, and governs and controls the property after forfeiture. But, say the authors, it may be modified by statute. This plain proposition, the committee would not be understood as controverting at all; but they assert, that where the common law is modified, or changed by statute, that it cannot have a retrospective bearing, so as to affect contracts entered into prior to its passage; but that it must be prospective, and govern only contracts entered into, and property acquired after its enactment. For the truth of these positions, the committee appeal to the common sense of the world.

In 1843, after the passage of the quo warranto act, Chancellor Buckner delivered an opinion on "an assignment," by the rail road bank of Vicksburg, for the benefit of its creditors, to Thomas E. Robbins, William S. Bodley and William W. Frazier. In the course of that opinion, the Chancellor remarks, "only about twelve months of the time within which the road was to be completed then remained, and; by the expressed terms of the charter, it was to become null and void, if the road was not finished within that time." If a forfeiture of the charter was suffered, not only the rail road would be lost, but the bank would have been disabled from realizing the other portion of its assets, which were assigned. A large portion of the assets consisted in outstanding debts due the bank; if the charter had been forfeited, these debts, upon well settled principles of law, would all have been extinguished. The real estate of the bank would have reverted back to the original grantors, and the personal estate have vested in the government." To show conclusively, that the common law doctrine of forfeiture, existed in this State, up to the time of the passage of the quo warranto act of 1843, the committee will quote another sentence, to-wit: "Injurious and destructive to all parties concerned, as these consequences would have been, yet they would inevitably have followed a forfeiture of the charter; because there is no provision in the charter, nor in the general laws of the land, guarding against such a result." If the Senate's amendment could have affected these debts, and property of the bank, so as to have saved them from the effects of forfeiture, why this declaration of the Chancellor? Can any thing be plainer?—Can any doubting political Thomas want stronger demonstration? When the Senate's amendment was passed, all contracts had been entered into with the banks, and according to Judge Story, with reference to the consequences and effects of a forfeiture of their charters. This law then, became a part of every contract with the banks, as much so, as if it had been expressed, declared and set forth in them. It was the measure of the obligation, and therefore, the legislature could not pass an act retrospective in its operations, and which conferred rights upon the banks, they did not possess by the contracts. It is therefore unconstitutional, and should be repealed. But, it is said, that Chancellor Buckner decided, also, in that opinion, "that the property of a banking corporation is a trust fund for all its creditors," and, that "banking corporations are trustees, not only for the stockholders, but also, for the creditors, who have a prior and paramount equity." The committee are satisfied that Chancellor Buckner decided correctly; but must beg leave to state, that it has no application to the subject under discussion. The Chancellor was speaking of banks that had not forfeited their charters; for the decision was upon a mere assignment. When a bank forfeits its charter, and it is judicially ascertained, it has no property—no trust fund; it has no stockholders—no creditors; nor can it be trustee for any body. How can that be a trustee which does not exist? It is a monstrous absurdity! While the charter exists, then, the property is a trust fund for all its creditors; and the corporation is a trustee not only for the stockholders, but also for the creditors, who have a prior and paramount equity. The committee believe that a moments serious reflection, will satisfy every candid mind on this subject.

The committee invoke the representatives of the people to give this interesting subject a deliberate investigation; and if they will but divest themselves of all prejudice, and approach its consideration with a determination to ascertain and elicit "the truth—the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," they do not fear the issue.

For the ascertainment of this desideratum they call the legislature to the consideration of the case of the State bank of Indiana vs. the State of Indiana, as reported in the 1st vol. of Blackford's Reports. In 1821, it was suggested to the legislature then in session, that the bank had violated its charter. The legislature then passed an act directing the Governor to appoint an agent to cause suit to be instituted against it in the name of the State, by writ of quo warranto, for the purpose of determining whether it had violated its charter. An information in the nature of a quo warranto, was filed, in Knox Circuit Court, against the said bank. A summons was issued against it—served, and returned into court. The bank appeared by attorney, and pleaded. The State replied. On the trial, the jury found the bank guilty of all the breaches set forth, except three, of which they did not find it guilty. The bank appealed to the Supreme Court of Indiana, and Judge Holman delivered the opinion of the court. The court decided, that "a quo warranto information, is a criminal proceeding, only in name and in form; in its nature it is a civil proceeding." They further say, "it is urged that those charges are only against the President and Directors of the corporation, and not against the stockholders who compose the great body of the company; and that the franchises should not be seized to the manifest injury of the whole corporation, by the misconduct of a few; but it must be recollected that where the government of a corporation exists in a select body, as is the case in most corporations, the act of the select body is the act of the corporation." The court say, "the land and tenements revert to the person or his heirs, who granted them to the corporation;" the goods and chattels go to the State, and as to the rights and credits of the corporation, "these, as applying to the debts due the corporation, are supposed to be of considerable amount, and have formed a principle feature in every view of this case. But the importance of the case, arising from the amount in controversy, cannot affect the principles by which it is governed; and when those principles are fixed, they must be declared; let the consequences, to individuals or the community, be what they may.—That the debts are necessarily lost to the corporation, naturally follows from the principles we have examined: for when dissolved they have no existence, and can have no claim to, or control over any thing whatever. They not only die, but leave no representative behind them. This, in every respect, is the case with aggregate corporations. But although the debts fall out of the lifeless hands of the corporation, at the same time with their real and personal estates, yet, when thus out of their hands, they are very different in their natures from the real and personal estate. Lands and goods have a necessary existence, although they may be without an owner in being or in expectancy. They continue in being, and may be made the subject of possession by occupancy. But this is not the case with respect to debts. They have no necessary existence, and are so conclusively personal, that they cannot exist without an obligor and obligee in being, or in expectancy.—And on the death of the obligor or obligee, without the posibility of a representative, the obligation ceases. Such appears to be the case on the dissolution of a corporation aggregate." The legislature, by law, appointed commissioners to collect the corporation debts, as the Senate's amendment does trustees in this State.—And what do the court say in regard to the law? The State "has no connexion with the obligor or obligation, and cannot recover the debt by suit; nor does the act of assembly, authorizing the collection of the corporation debts by commissioners to be appointed for that purpose, make any alteration in the case. This act was not intended to make a new law to regulate those debts, or to alter the principles that govered the corporation contracts, but seems founded on the supposition that the debts would become due to the State, by the seizure of the corporation franchises; and therefore, makes provision for having them collected by commissioners.—There is nothing in the act calculated to give those debts a continued existence after the dissolution of the corporation. The act only presumes they would by law have such an existence, and therefore makes a disposition of them. The debts must therefore be considered, on common law principles, unaffected by the act, and therefore subject to extinguishment by a dissolution of the corporation."

The committee will now call the attention of this House to the case of Stephen Fox vs. William H. Horah, decided by the Superior Court of North Carolina. A loan of money was obtained by one John G. Hoskino, from the late State bank of North Carolina, by a discount of a note, executed by said Hoskins as principal, and Stephen Fox and William W. Long as sureties, payable at said bank to William H. Horah, Cashier thereof. Upon this note suit was brought by Horah against the makers, and judgment obtained; but before the note could be collected, the bank charter expired by its own limitation. Fox filed his bill in Chancery against Horah, alleging, that by the expiration of the charter, the debt was extinguished; and prayed for a perpetual injunction. Judge Gaston delivered the opinion of the court. They decide that the real estate remaining unsold, reverts to the grantor and his heirs, and the goods and chattels vest in the State. "Choses in action," say the court, "are under the operation of a different will. They were rights of the corporation to demand money in the hands of persons by whom it was withheld. They derived their existence from contracts or quasi contracts, by which the relation of debtor and creditor was created. When the creditor corporation died, and there was no successor—no representative, the relation of debtor and creditor ceased, and the debt became necessarily extinct. None but the creditor had a right to demand the money; and when his right is gone, the money becomes to all purposes, the money of the possessor." "It is not to be questioned, we think, that on the expiration of the charter, the debts of every kind due from the bank, were extinguished as completely as the debts due to it. The stockholders as such, were not responsible for those debts, and the expiration of the charter did not throw upon them any such responsibility. ☞There are therefore, no outstanding demands against the late corporation, or those who were stockholders therein, which in law or equity, can claim to be satisfied out of the money which the defendant seeks to collect.☜ If he collects it, he cannot be compelled to account therefor to any one, and may therefore keep it to his own use." "The bank was in truth the creditor. The note and the judgment were but securities belonging to the bank, and proper to be enforced to compel payment to the bank of what was due to it. No one could rightfully put these securities in use, but by the presumed or expressed direction of the bank. Upon the death of the bank without succession or representative, this debt became by law, as completely extinguished, as it could have been by a release from the corporation. While there was a debt and a creditor, the trustee could not rightfully enforce the securities but for the payment of the debt to the creditor. After the extinguishment of the debt, he cannot rightfully enforce the securities, because there is no debt to be paid and no creditor to be satisfied." Can any thing be made plainer?—The court absolutely decide, that the claims or debts, after expiration of charter, or dissolution of the corporation, can neither be enforced or collected, at law, or in a court of Chancery. And this decision, be it known, was delivered by Judge Gaston, a jurist whose fame is co-extensive with the Union, and which has even passed the Atlantic, and challenged the respect of the courts of England, and the continent of Europe.

The committee will now direct the attention of the House to the provisions of the Senate's amendment; and they feel satisfied that every member will be convinced of its unconstitutionality, who will divest himself of all prejudice and preconceived opinions on the subject. The eighth section enacts "that upon judgment of forfeiture against any bank or banks, corporation or corporations, person or persons, pretending to exercise corporate powers in this State, as contemplated by this act, the debtors of such bank or banks, corporation or corporations, person or persons, pretending to exercise corporate privileges, shall not be released by such judgment from their debts and liabilities to the same; but it shall be the duty of the court rendering such judgment, to appoint one or more trustees to take charge of the books and assets of the same; to sue for, and collect all debts due such bank or banks, corporation or corporations, person or persons, pretending to exercise corporate powers, and to sell and dispose of all property owned by such bank or banks, corporation or corporations, person or persons, pretending to exercise corporate powers, or held by others, for its or their use; and the proceeds of the debts, when collected, and of the property, when sold, to apply as may hereafter be directed by law, to the payment of the debts of such bank or banks, corporation or corporations, or persons, pretending to exercise corporate powers." The first thing that strikes the mind upon reading this section, is the admission by the mover of the amendment, and the legislature which passed it, that after "judgment of forfeiture," the debtors of the banks are released from the payment of their debts and liabilities to said banks. Can any man doubt it for a moment? It absolutely places the question beyond controversy; and should forever, hermetically seal the lips of those who so loudly denounce the principles contended for, by the friends of the original quo warranto bill. Suppose a bond in the penalty of one thousand dollars, with a condition that it should be void on the payment of five hundred dollars, could the legislature take away this condition, and provide that the bond should not be void on the payment of five hundred dollars, but should stand good for the penalty? Suppose a man borrows ten thousand dollars, and executes his promissory note for the same, payable one day after date? Now, what is the law of the contract? Unless suit is instituted within six years, the holder shall be barred by the statute of limitations. Suppose seven years should intervene before suit is instituted, would not the holder be forever barred, unless the maker should acknowledge the debt and promise to pay it? And could the legislature pass a law enabling the holder to collect the note? They could not. The interest on that amount of money borrowed, would be eight per cent. per annum. After the note was made and executed, could the legislature pass a law declaring that fifteen per cent. per annum should be paid instead of eight. Will any man in his senses say it could be collected, or that the law would be constitutional? Would it not impair the obligation of the contract? Yet such cases are identical with this in principle. Suppose a man, in 1839, or 1842, obtained a loan of money from a bank, by the discount of a note? Suppose that amount to have been fifty thousand dollars? Now, what was the general law of the land at the time the contract was made with the bank or corporation? It was, if the bank or corporation violated its charter, and a forfeiture should be judicially ascertained, the debt should become extinct, or totally extinguished. Now, what say the Supreme Court of the United States, in their application of the general law of the land, to contracts entered into while those laws exist? They decide in the case of McCracken vs. Hayword, 2 How. S. C. R. 612, "the laws in existence when a contract is made, are necessarily referred to in all contracts, and form a part of them, as the measure of obligation to perform them by one party, and the right acquired by the other. If any subsequent law affect to diminish the duty, or to impair the right, it necessarily bears on the obligation of the contract in favor of one party, to the injury of the other. The law defines the duty and the right compells one party to perform the thing contracted for, and gives the other a right to enforce the performance, by the remedies then in force. Hence, any law which, in its operation, amounts to a denial or obstruction of the rights accruing by a contract, though professing to act only on the remedy, is directly obnoxious to the prohibition of the constitution." Judge Clayton, in 4th Smede's & Marshall's Reports, 495, distinctly recognizes this to be the law. This law, then, which declared, that on dissolution of the incorporated bank, the debt should be extinguished, was a part of the contract, and cannot be changed by subsepuent legislation, so as to affect the contract. And, "any law which enlarges, abridges, or in any manner changes the intention of the parties, resulting from the stipulations of the contract, necessarily impairs it."—4 Wheaton, 197—8 Wheaton, 84—12 Wheaton, 327. The general laws became the stipulations of the contract, and subsequent legislation cannot change them. But what says Judge Story, with regard to the understanding of the parties in law, at the time they contracted? In 8 Peter's Reports, 281, he says, "a corporation, by the very terms and nature of its political existence, is subject to dissolution by a surrender of its corporate franchises, and by a forfeiture of them for wilful misuser and nonuser. Every creditor must be presumed to understand the nature and incidents of such a body politic, and to contract with reference to them. It would be a doctrine now in the law, that the existence of a private contract of the corporation should force upon it a perpetuity of existence contrary to public policy, and the nature and objects of its charter." The argument against the constitutionality of the eighth section, as regards the reversion of the real estate, the vesting of the personal property, and the extinguishment of the debts of the banks, is thus clear and conclusive. Indeed the effect of it is to create a new contract without the consent of the parties. The debtors never promised to pay these trustees. There is no privity of contract between them, and they have no right to sue.

One argument relied upon by the enemies of the original bill, is, that the enforcement of the forfeiture depends upon the state, and that the state may pardon the forfeiture. Hence this statute is good. It is true, the state may pardon the forfeiture of the corporate franchises; and that if the state does not chose to prosecute, the dissolution of the corporation will not take place, nor will the debts be extinguished. Whether the forfeiture of charter will be enforced, depends upon the state. The state may pardon it—or connive at it—and individuals cannot complain. But if the state does enforce the forfeiture, and the corporation becomes dissolved, then the debts are thereby totally extinguished. No reason, or judicial authority can be found for the position that the state can enforce the forfeiture, and pardon the extinguishment of the debts. The former is a matter under the control, but the latter is a condition of the contract between the parties, and cannot be reached without impairing its obligation.

If the eighth section of the quo warranto act of 1843, is unconstitutional, that is sufficient reason why it ought to be repealed, with the ninth, tenth, and eleventh sections, which are founded, and rest upon it.

The House will not fail to notice, that the said eighth section provides further, "That the notes of any such bank or banks, corporation or corporations, or others pretending to exercise corporate powers, shall at all times be received in payment of any debts due the same." Suppose said Trustees under said eighth section, should institute suit against the debtors of the banks, and obtain judgment; would not the said debtors have the right to pay and satisfy those judgments in the notes of said banks? Unquestionably they would. Would it, or could it benefit the creditors of the banks? It would and could not. For who would have the worthless and irredeemable notes of these banks? Then, who would it benefit? The question is plain and easily answered. That Trustees appointed by the Courts and the Bank Attorneys employed to prosecute these claims. It would produce endless and perplexing litigation; and would all ultimate in injury and expense, and benefit no creditor. The man who believes that the creditors of the banks would be paid by these Trustees, is more completely behind the times, than even old Rip Van Winkle, when he awoke from a long sleep of twenty years, and discovered, instead of King George and the British Lion, Washington and the American Eagle. The lessons taught by experience, are sadly forgotten, if men think the creditors of the banks will be benefitted by these Trustees, and the money collected, applied in that way. It is madness—it is folly to think so; and even if the Supreme Court of our state, were to declare the amendment operative, efficient, and constitutional, we should still demand its repeal. And if the question is narrowed down to Trustees or debtors, we unhesitatingly declare for the debtors. If either of the two, are alone to be benefitted, the committee say, let the debtors be benefitted, in preference to the Trustees, to whom the debtors never contracted or agreed to pay a dollar.

But it is urged by some, who evidently consider themselves driven to the wall, that the constitution of our state has abolished the common law doctrine on this subject. And they cite us to the 1st article, 10th section of the organic law of the state, where it declares that "no conviction for any offence shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate;" the common law of England, never yet, from the Heptarchy to the reign of Queen Victoria, declared, that the conviction of a corporation of an offence, or violation of its charter, worked corruption of blood, or forfeiture of estate. That portion of the common law is wholly applicable to individuals. The common law applicable to corporations, is totally different. A corporation forfeits nothing but its franchises; and the real estate reverts to the grantor and his heirs, because the corporation is dead; and the fee being only vested in their political capacity, as soon as it ceases to exist. The original grantor and his heirs, by operation of law, become seized and possessed of it again. The goods and chattels are not forfeited. They are deemed of too transitory and fluctuating a nature, to be susceptible of reversionary interests after an estate for life, and, on the death of a corporation, they do not revert to the grantor or donor, but being bona vacantia or goods wanting an owner, they vest in the state, as well to preserve the peace of the public, as in trust to be employed for the safty, good and ornament of the commonwealth. The advancement of such an argument is perfectly rediculous, and should be driven from this chamber, under the sixty-second rule. It is known to every respectable lawyer, that that portion of the law, abolished by our constitution, is only applicable to individuals, and does not relate to corporations. In England, when a man is convicted of treason, or murder, and the judgment of the court is rendered, upon that conviction, it works corruption of blood, and forfeiture of estate. The committee will not insult the intelligence of the house, by any further argument on the subject.

But there are other reasons founded in propriety and expediency, why it should be repealed. The legislature have wisely determined to abolish the banking system in this state—a system productive of no good, and only fraught with evil and disaster. To this end they have directed proceedings against all banks which have forfeited their charters, to put them out of existence. This is the only way to get rid of them, and few now object to it. It has become the settled policy of the state, and seems to be generally acquiesced in. Is there any reason in this state of things, why the legislature should interfere between the debtors and the banks, or the creditors of the banks, for the purpose of conferring new privileges upon the latter, at the expense of the former? Both the debtors and creditors of the banks contracted on the same terms, and with reference to the same probable contingency, to-wit; The extinguishment of the debts on the dissolution of the corporations. The contracts of both are subject to the same condition. On the dissolution, the creditor loses his right to enforce payment, and the debtor becomes released from his obligation to pay. Why should the legislature attempt to draw distinctions between them? Why relax the law as it affects the corporations, and render it more stringent upon the debtors? What merit has the creditor, that the debtor should be made to bleed from every pore for his benefit? The true, and only just policy, is to leave the parties to their respective rights, as they existed when they entered into their contracts. Legislative interference with contracts, ought always to be avoided, and a few years ago, was deprecated by none more than by the banks and their dear friends. Why abandon this wise principle for the benefit of the banks, their stockholders and creditors, and that too, at the expense of the debtor? If any interference of the kind should take place, reasons are cogent and at hand why it ought to be directed towards facilitating the release of the debtors of the banks. But we ask no such interference in behalf of the debtors. All we do demand is, a fair field, and even handed justice.

But the enemies of the original Briscoe Bill, now admit, that the common law doctrine contended for, by its friends, is in force in this country, and applicable to banks. A distinguished lawyer, in a speech of his, published in the Southron of September 24th, 1845, says, "we concur with them as to the common law, but then proceed to show the equitable doctrine of trusts, and that that embraces the case." He declares that "trusts are creatures of equity, of which the common law takes no notice, and over which courts of equity have an original, a peculiar and exclusive jurisdiction." But he forgot to tell us that these trusts of which equity alone takes notice, must have a substantial and real existence at the time equity takes such original, peculiar and exclusive jurisdiction. We admit that there are subjects over which a court of law has no jurisdiction; and that those subjects are peculiarly referable to a court of equity; but we candidly confess, we never yet have learned, in all our reading, that a court of equity has jurisdiction over that which the laws of the land declare totally extinguished. If it has, there is certainly something about a court of equity, which is most felicitously and exquisitely original, peculiar, and exclusive. He cites Story's Equity, where he says, "another peculiarity of courts of equity is, that they can administer remedies for rights, which rights, courts of common law do not recognize at all." We do not deny the cold, abstract principle as stated, for the existence of courts of chancery, abundantly prove the principle. But every lawyer and intelligent man knows the application, and that it has nothing to do with the subject in dispute. But he says, "if the advocates of the Briscoe Bill fully maintain their position, that upon the dissolution of a corporation, all debts to and from it, are totally extinguished, at law, they have established nothing material to the result, as it relates to the debtors of the banks, unless they also succeed in maintaining that the President and Directors of the banks are not Trustees for the creditors or bill holders." But the advocates of the Briscoe Bill, do not contend that upon the dissolution of a corporation, all the debts to and from it, are totally extinguished, only at law; we prefer stating our own position on this subject. We contend that they are totally extinguished, in the full and absolute meaning of the terms; for if only totally extinguished, at law, why have not the law books so stated? We challenge the production of a single line, sentence, or word, in either, Kyd, Wilcox, Blackstone, Kent, Angell, Ames, or any other author who has treated on the subject, where it is stated, that the debts are only totally extinguished at law. All the authorities say they are "totally extinguished," and when a debt, or any thing else is totally extinguished, how can it exist? Is a court of chancery vested with one of the attributes of Deity, that it can say, "Lazarus come forth," and the dead shall obey? He then admits, in substance, that if we can show that the President and Directors of the banks, after dissolution, are not trustees for the benefit of the creditors or bill holders, we have settled the question in our favor. This we will proceed to do by as high authority as any in the U. States; and much higher than many adduced by the gentleman, to sustain a contrary position. We allude to Judge Gaston of North Carolina, in the case of Fox against Horah. He says, "it is not to be questioned, we think, that on the expiration of the charter, the debts of every kind due from the bank, were extinguished as completely as the debts due to it. The stockholders as such were not responsible for those debts, and the expiration of the charter did not throw upon them any such responsibility. There are therefore no outstanding demands against the late corporation, or those who were stockholders therein, which in law or eq y, can claim to be satisfied out of the money which the defendent seeks to collect." "Upon the death of the bank without succession or representative, this debt became by law as completely extinguished, as it could have been by a release from the corporation. While there was a debt and a creditor, the trustees could not rightfully enforce the securities but for the payment of the debt to the creditor. After the extinguishment of the debt, he cannot rightfully enforce the securities, because there is no debt to be paid and no creditor to be satisfied." No decision in this state has been made on the question in controversy.

The committee, therefore, recommend the repeal of the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh sections of the quo warranto act of 1843, and have instructed me to introduce a bill for that purpose, which accompanies this report, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of said subject. All of which is respectfully submitted.

The following message was received from his excellency the governor, by Mr. Nicholson, his secretary:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The trustees of the state library, at a meeting yesterday, unanimously passed the following resolution:

Resolved, (by the trustees of the state library,) That the governor be requested to lay before the legislature, now in session, the present financial condition of the library and the amount now due from it, and to request the aid of the legislature in paying the debts.

In conformity to the above resolution, I submit to the legislature the following statement: In 1841 the governor contracted a considerable debt in the purchase of books from Messrs. Gould, Banks & Co., of New York, and Messrs. Grigg & Elliott, of Philadelphia. The library was then in its infancy, and the executive was actuated by a laudable anxiety to give it a firm and respectable standing—and relying on the then liberal appropriation of one thousand dollars per annum, in good funds, he contracted the debt, with the consent of the then trustees. Soon after this, the legislature reduced the annual appropriations one-half, and that half has generally been paid in depreciated paper, so that with all the exertions of the present trustees to pay the library out of debt, there are of these old liabilities twelve hundred dollars still unsettled—all of which is due Messrs. Gould, Banks & Co., of New York. These gentlemen have waited patiently since 1841, not doubting, as they have repeatedly assured me, that the state would do them justice. I submit the facts to the legislature.

The following communication was received from the commissioner of public buildings:

Office of Commis'r of Public Buildings,
Jackson, January 22, 1846.

To the Hon. James Whitfield, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Sir: I had the honor, on the evening of the 20th inst., to receive from the house of representatives, over which you preside, the following resolution:

Resolved, That the commissioner of public buildings be requested to furnish this house with a statement of all contracts entered into by him, in behalf of the state, for the last two years;

To which I ask leave to reply.

The document marked "A," presents the contracts entered into, and their final payment, as well as the appropriation made at the January session, 1844.

The painting could not be contracted for, at the sum estimated by the state architect, and I ventured, under the exigencies of the case, to transfer the unexpended balance of the appropriation for the capitol, to this act. The legislature was governed in the appropriation, by the estimate of the state architect, who admitted the inadequacy of his estimate.

If the painting had not been executed until a new appropriation could be made, great injury must have been the result.

The governor had contracted with J. H. Kerr to enclose his garden, and do other work on the premises, preparatory to gardening, &c., before the passage of the law, making the appropriation, for which Mr. Kerr was paid one hundred dollars. This is also embraced in this account.

The repairing fund is placed by law, under my discretion, and to be applied to the repair of the public buildings; I therefore believed myself justified in making the payment from this fund, to the repair of the executive mansion, and thus this account stands balanced.

Document marked "B," exhibits the contracts, with whom made, and their payment.

Document marked "C," shows the receipts and expenditures on account of the repairing fund.

Document marked "D," shows the sum expended in carrying into effect the law, in relation to the securing of the auditor's and treasurer's offices.

Document marked "E," exhibits the cost of putting Franklin rods to the state capitol and executive mansion. All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be, &c.,

[signed,] W. CLARK,

Com. of P. B.

January 22, 1846.

The commissioner of public buildings, would ask leave to avail himself of this opportunity, of representing to the legislature, that he has discharged the duties of commissioner of public buildings for nearly three years, without any compensation having been made to him for the same. The duties discharged, are onerous and important, entirely disconnected with the office of treasurer, to which he was elected by the freemen of the state; may he therefore indulge the hope, that such allowance may be made him, as you, in your judgment may think adequate and just.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

W. CLARK,
Com. P. B.

The following communication was presented to the house from the auditor of public accounts, viz:

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
Jackson, January 27, 1846.

Hon. James Whitfield, Speaker of the house of representatives:

I have this day been applied to, to issue a warrant for about $704 by virtue of a law, passed at the present session, for the relief of William Morris. The law was passed for Mr. Morris' relief, to enable him to refund to the governor the above sum, drawn by the governor, heretofore, to reimburse warrants said to have been burned and defaced while in the possession of James Wade. The applicant for the warrant to-day, deposited the burnt or defaced warrants with me, and after a careful examination of them, I find that they only amount to one hundred and fifty-six dollars and seventy-seven cents. From the manner in which said warrants were burnt, defacing the numbers, amounts, name of the drawer and department of expenditure, convinces me that the same is a base fraud upon the state by said James Wade, by which he has defrauded the state, if the act for Mr. Morris' relief be carried into effect, of about $547.

Most respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES E. MATTHEWS,

Auditor of Public Accounts.

On motion of Mr. Cushman,

The communication was referred to a select committee of three consisting of Messrs. Cushman, Totten and Simrall.

Resolved, the senate concurring, that the auditor of public accounts be instructed not to issue a warrant for the sum of about $700, in accordance with the provisions of a bill, passed by the present legislature, for the relief of Wm. Morris, until investigation be made into that subject.

On motion of Mr. Cushman,

The rule was suspended and the resolution adopted.

On motion of Mr. Allen,

Resolved, That the thanks of this house be tendered the commissioners of the rail road, and the citizens of Vicksburg, for their kind invitation to visit their city, and also for the cordial hospitalities with which the members of this house were treated, during their sojourn in said city.

Mr. McCaughan offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on education be instructed to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill, supplementary to an act, establishing a state university in this state, establishing seminaries of learning as auxiliaries to the state university, to be located at different suitable places throughout the state, and put in operation by an appropriation from the seminary fund, of $——— to each of said auxilliary seminaries, subject to the general supervision and control of special subordinate boards of trustees, of 5 members each, to be appointed by each of said auxiliary seminaries.

Mr. Cushman moved its indefinite postponement.

Pending said motion,

An act to define the manner of issuing warrants against offenders charged with the commission of felony;

Which was read the first time, and the report received and agreed to.

The following message was received from the senate, by Mr. Wilcox, their secretary:

A bill, to be entitled,

An act to authorize and empower the probate court of Hinds county, to appoint some suitable person or persons to be guardian or guardians to John Morrison of said county; and for other purposes;

The following message was received from his excellency the governor by Mr. Nicholson, his private secretary:

Correspondence between Hon. R. J. Walker and his Excellency A. G. Brown, in relation to the appointment of U. S. Senator.

To the House of Representatives:

The following resolution has this instant been placed in my hands by a committee of the House of Representatives:

Resolved, That a select committee of three be appointed, whose duty it shall be to wait upon His Excellency the Governor, and request of him all the official correspondence between himself and Robert J. Walker, Esq., in relation to the appointment of a U. S. Senator to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of the said Robert J. Walker, Esq.; and that the said committee report the same to this House, at its earliest convenience.

Be it further resolved, That in the opinion of the Legislature, Gov. Brown should accompany the correspondence with a statement of the instructions given by him to Dr. Tate, the bearer of the commission to Washington city with, such other explanations as he may deem proper.

There appears to be no good reason why I should depart in this instance, from the ordinary usage of transmitting my communications directly to the House. I have thought proper, therefore, to send this paper through the officer appointed by me to convey it, instead of the committee appointed under the above resolution.

The call is limited to the OFFICIAL correspondence; but as Mr. Walker has requested me to "show his letter to any member of the Legislature who may desire to see it, and to publish it if necessary," I send the whole corresponcence, both public and private, so far as it relates to the subject embraced in the resolution before me. The following letter was received by me through the mail:

WASINGTON CITY, Feb. 11, 1845.

His Excellency A. G. Brown, Governor of the State of Mississippi:

SIR: I hereby tender you the resignation of my seat as a Senator of the United States, from the State of Mississippi, to take effect from and after the 10th of March next.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,

R. J. WALKER.

A private letter was received by me, by the hands of Dr. Tate, from which I make the following extract:

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 11, 1845.

DEAR SIR: I write to you in the confidence of friendship, personal and political, and for your eye alone. In consequence of the failure to elect Senators in Tennessee, Virginia and Indiana, the senate will stand, on the 4th of March next, 25 democrats, 24 whigs, and 3 vacancies. In the event of my withdrawal, it will stand 24 whigs, 24 democrats and 4 vacancies. The Vice President will have the casting vote; but unfortunately, it is feared he will have no vote in the election of officers of the Senate, such as printer. If then my seat be vacated and no person appointed in my place, we cannot elect a democratic printer, and the party will sustain very great, perhaps irreparable injury. It seems to be the universal opinion, here, that I am to be withdrawn from the Senate by an executive appointment, such as my friends will insist on my accepting, and in fact demand of me, as an act of justice to them and to the democratic party of Mississippi. No one knows better than yourself, that I am perfectly satisfied with my place in the Senate, and do not desire to change it, but such seems to be the aspect of the case, that I will be compelled to yield my own desires to the wishes of my friends.

I have determined to resign my seat in the Senate, and it becomes necessary that you should fill it immediately. The appointment, although dated of course on the day when you sign it, must be filled up by you to take effect from and after the 10th of March, 1845. You may accept this as a tender of my resignation, to take effect as above, but a more formal tender will be sent to you, as also handed sealed, to one of your friends in this city, to meet you, should you come on. It would be best that you should come on immediately, without one hour's delay, with a commission in your pocket, to be delivered here by you to meet the contingency, should it happen. I trust you will come on to ascertain the contingency, and select some one here on the spot, to take his seat in the Senate at once, and who will go with the real friends of the President in voting for a printer. Dr. Gwin we all think, who have conversed together, might be surely relied on, and so think some of the special friends of the President, and it is at their request that he agrees, as he informs me, to accept the appointment temporarily, not designing to become a candidate before the Legislature for the station. The Doctor will accept only to prevent the defeat of Col. Polk's administration in the election of a printer, assuring me that he does not desire the station, having other views which he desires to carry out, and which can only be done by his withdrawal from the Senate in March next. You may converse freely, and rely with implicit confidence on the statements of my friend Dr. Tate.

Yours most truly,

R. J. WALKER.

Gov. A. G. Brown.

The above is a correct transcript of Mr. Walker's letter, omitting a few sentences no way relating to the commission of his successor, or his own resignation. The day after its reception, I forwarded a package to Mr. Walker, containing a commission for Mr. Jacob Thompson, and some letters. I insert a copy of the commission, and the official letter.

ALBERT G. BROWN,

GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI,

To whom it may Concern:

KNOW YE, That I have this day appointed Hon. Jacob Thompson, of the county of Lafayette, and State of Mississipi, to fill the vacancy in the Senate of the United States, occasioned by the resignation of the Hon. R. J. Walker, a Senator from the said State of Mississippi, to serve the unexpired term of said Walker, or until he shall be superceded by an election of the Legislature of this State. The appointment of said Thompson to take effect and be in force from and after the tenth day of March, 1845.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the [L. S.] State of Mississippi, at the City of Jackson, February 21st, 1845.

By the Governor, A. G. BROWN.

WM. HEMINGWAY, Sec'ry of State.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
City of Jackson, Mi., Feb. 21st, 1845.

Hon. Jacob Thompson, Washington City:

SIR: Hon. R. J. Walker having resigned his seat in the Senate of the United States, it becomes my duty to supply the vacancy thus created, by appointment. In consideration of your long and faithful services in the House of Representatives, and the strong hold which I know you have upon the confidence and good opinion of the people of this State, I have felt that the public interest would be subserved, and the public feeling gratified by your appointment. You will receive with this letter, a commission, the acceptance of which, will be gratifying to me, and satisfactory, I have no doubt, to the people of this State.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't, &., &c.,

A. G. BROWN.

This package contained two private letters, one to Mr. Walker, and one to Mr. Thompson. I have never been in the habit of keeping copies of my private letters, and kept none of these. Copying official papers is found to be somewhat toilsome, when taken together with the current duties of the Executive office. From some notes made at the time, I am enabled to transmit the subjoined letters, which, in all material points, conform to the originals.

JACKSON, MISS., Feb. 21, 1845.

Hon. R. J. Walker:

DEAR SIR: After the calmest consideration which I have been enabled to give your letter by the hands of Dr. Tate, I have felt constrained to decline appointing Dr. Gwin. In doing so, Dr. Gwin knows, and so do you, that I am actuated by no feeling of unkindness towards him personally or politically. He has done much for the success of the democratic party; much more indeed, than many have been willing to give him credit for. But it is very apparent, that with a considerable number of democrats Dr. Gwin is in bad odor. With all such, his elevation to the Senate at this time, would be the signal for attack. The opponents of Dr. Gwin may not constitute a majority of our party, but they are not the less formidable on that account. I speak what I absolutely know, when I say that his enemies will assail him most vehemently as certainly as he is appointed. The friends of Dr. Gwin would defend him. My friends would probably feel called on to defend the appointment. Thus we should have assaults on one side, and defences on the other, engendering the worst possible state of feeling; and under such circumstances it would be wonderful, if the democratic party was not the greatest sufferer.

Dr. Gwin may not shrink from such assaults. I do not intend to intimate that he should do so, but he ought not to covet them at the expense of harmony in the democratic ranks. I am sure if you and the other friends of the administration could see things here as as I see them, you would not ask this appointment; and I have had too many occasions to admire the self-sacrificing spirit in which Dr. Gwin has acted, to suppose he would now accept a more temporary appointment like this, at the expense of his party.

I still entertain a hope that you may remain in the Senate; and in this hope I have not announced the reception of your resignation, and will not until I hear from you again. It is discretionary with you to accept any appointment which may be offered you, or remain in the Senate, and to this end you may withdraw your resignation any time before the tenth day of March. You may possibly not get such a place from the President as your friends will be satisfied to have you accept; and in such contingency, it will be most gratifying to your numerous friends in Mississippi, that you remain in your place. Your long experience, talents and high standing, give you advantages which we should not have in the person of a new Senator, and for these reasons your constituents are unwilling to part with you, unless you are transferred to a theatre of greater usefulness. I have felt embarrassed in making the appointment of your successor, and nothing but the state of things in the Senate, which you represent, could have induced me to act at this time; and then after all it may turn out that the contingency of which you speak, may not happen. I hope you may review your present determination, and remain where you are; but if you finally resolve to quit, I must ask of you to write to me to that effect, before you hand the enclosed commission to Mr. Thompson. In case you deliver the commission, you will deliver the letters also. On the whole, I do not know what better to do, not knowing what contingency may happen when the commission reaches you, than to say, act according to circumstances. Should you determine to remain in the Senate, as you are left at liberty to do, the commission which I send you, will be destroyed or returned to me.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,

A. G. BROWN.

JACKSON, Mi., Feb. 21st, 1845.

Hon. J. Thompson:

DEAR SIR: Mr. Walker has intimated to me his intention to withdraw from the Senate; I have not yet accepted his resignation, in hopes that he may yet review his determination and remain where he is, and at the writing of this letter, I have left the subject open for his farther reflection. His valuable services ought not to be lost to the State and nation, by his withdrawal, but he may determine to pursue his present purpose. Besides the withdrawal of Mr. Walker, at this time, is likely to involve us in difficulty. You have always been a fast friend of the cause, and I wish you to act in concert with me to keep things out of perplexing entanglements. Your present term expires on the 30th of March. Mr. Walker does not go out, if he goes at all, until the 10th of March. I have therefore ventured, unsolicited by you, or your friends, to send you a commission as United States Senator, after the 10th of March, in the hope that you will consent to take your seat in the Senate, at least during the executive session.

You may not choose to surrender your place on the Congressional ticket for the more doubtful chances of an election to the Senate, and I will not embarrass you as to choice of positions, further than can be avoided. Nothing will be said here about your appointment, or Walker's resignation, until I hear from you. In your letter of acceptance, if you accept at all, you can take your own position before the country, either resuming your place on the Congressional ticket, or take the chances for the Senate.

I am well satisfied if you take your position at once; your accepting the appointment cannot injure you. I feel disposed to appoint some one at Washington. You are the oldest member of Congress; you have been three times elected, and always by an increased vote, giving earnest that the people have confidence in you. These considerations influenced me to give you the appointment. What you will do with it, I leave to your own decision, with the simple suggestion, that your acceptance of it, during the executive session at least, cannot injure you. Not knowing whether Mr. Walker will consent to remain in the Senate, or whether you will accept the commission, I have deemed it most proper to say nothing about the resignation or appointment until I hear from Washington. I must, therefore, urge you to write me your determination instantly, on its being made, and before you present your credentials to the Senate, for I do not want the first intelligence of your appointment to reach us in the newspapers.

Yours very truly,

A. G. BROWN.

From these letters I received no intelligence for several weeks Mr. Walker's letter apprising me, that he had withheld the commission, &c., and giving the reasons why he had done so—having been miscarried in the mail. When I sent the commission to Mr. Walker, I expected (and so meant to be understood,) if Mr. Walker withdrew from the Senate, that he was to deliver the commission to Mr. Thompson. It never occurred to me that any thing else could be done with it, and I may, on that account, have been less explicit in my instructions, than I should have been. When I said, "not knowing what contingency may happen, &c.," I meant to be understood as referring to his withdrawal from the Senate, for an executive appointment. Mr. Walker understood me, he says, to have reference to the contingency mentioned in his letter, to-wit: the election of a printer. And when I said, "act according to circumstances," I meant, "if you get an appointment which is satisfactory to yourself and friends, take it; and if you do not, remain where you are." Mr. Walker understood the circumstances according to which he was to act, to mean, if the vote of his successor was necessary in the election of a printer, then he was to deliver the commission; and if not, he was at liberty to withhold it. So at least Mr. Walker says, and so I believe.

Indeed it never occurred to me, that Mr. Walker was to do any thing else, than either keep the seat himself, or deliver the commission to Thompson. When I said, "after all, the contingency of which you speak, may not happen," &c., I meant simply to be understood as expressing a regret that I should be embarrassed with the appointment, if after all, it should turn out that there was no necessity for it. Mr. Walker mistook his discretionary power to extend to withholding the commission, if it should so turn out. It will be remembered that the private letters to Walker and Thompson, are not here introduced as literal transcripts, but as letters containing the material substance of the originals. Of the originals, I have before said, I have no copies. Mr. Walker is at perfect liberty to publish them as they were written, or any one who is curious on the subject, may procure them for publication, by applying to him.

It is entirely proper for me to say, that Mr. Walker has more than once expressed to me, the opinion in private letters, that the commission was illegally issued, in-as-muchas I had not accepted his resignation, and that he had failed to make a defence on this ground, lest he should involve me.

I believed the issuance of the commission legal at the time, and I think so now, and I can but express my deep regret that Mr. Walker's consideration for me, should have induced him to forego any advantage which a defence on this ground would have given him. The act, whether legal or illegal, was my own, wholly and entirely my own; unadvised by any living creature, and if it involves consequences of odium, THEY ARE MINE, AND NO MAN SHALL SHARE THEM WITH ME. As the act was mine, I court the entire responsibility. I am asked to state my instructions to Dr. Tate. I am not aware that I gave him any instructions inconsistent with the above letters, or that I instructed him to do any thing more than deliver the package to Mr. Walker, and to urge upon Walker the importance of communicating with me promptly on the subject. If he was charged with any thing more, it has escaped a somewhat treacherous memory.

I have thus submitted to the House, every material fact connected with this matter. Attempts have been made to injure me in connection with it. In reference to all such attempts, I have only to say, my own conscience acquits me of every design other than that of serving the best interests of the country, and I shall consult no other monitor in regard to the rectitude of my own conduct; nor will I be deterred from saying what I have always believed to be true, that Mr. Walker has not acted from any unworthy motive. He mistook my wishes and instructions in regard to the commission; this no one regretted more than myself, but I acquit him, as I have always done, of all sinister intentions, and of every improper design.

A. G. BROWN.

The following communication was received from the state treasurer:

TREASURER'S OFFICE,
28th January, 1846.

To the Legislature of the State of Mississippi:

I herewith transmit to you a communication from J. E. P. Hammond, by his attorney in fact, accompanied by six depositions. I have carefully examined his different allegations in their support. Two of the allegations, to wit: first, that the warrant for ninety-five dollars is now in the treasury; and secondly, that the warrant for $1628 40 was funded for John T. Hull, is of my own knowledge. The other allegations appear to be well supported by testimony. In addition to the evidence presented by Mr. Ware, the attorney in fact of said Hammond, I would state that there are no other claimants for the warrants specified in said communication; and that on the trial of the suit in Carroll circuit court, last fall, wherein the state of Mississippi was plaintiff, and the securities of R. S. Graves, late treasurer of the state of Mississippi, were defendants, I exhibited those warrants to the court, together with their history. The court refused to recognize them as belonging to Graves, and therefore they were not passed to Graves' credit. They bear no evidence of an intention to cancel them, for the word paid is not wrote in the face, nor is there any mark of cancelment. Upon a careful investigation of the premises, I am conducted to the conclusion that the warrants referred to, are of right the property of J. C. P. Hammond But as the legislature is now in session, and being unwilling unnecessarily to assume responsibility when it can be avoided, I have deemed it most prudent to lay the whole matter before you, and ask you to give me instructions upon the subject.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

W. CLARK,

State Treasurer.

JACKSON, January 21st, 1846.

I learn that neither the state nor any person but myself pretend to any claim to the above warrants; that they were not counted to the credit of R. S. Graves, nor regarded as his assets; neither funded, nor paid by the state.

The warrant No. 787, with others, I had placed in the hands of Mr. T. P. Ware, in December, 1842, and requested him to use his discretion in having them sold for cash, or having them funded; for this, see proof herewith, marked No. 1 and 2. Accordingly Mr. Ware handed it, with others, to the late Wm. H. Shelton, to sell; said Shelton never sold it or made any return or compensation for it, but soon after died, leaving it in the care of said Graves, as stated above. To this, see proof marked No. 3.

A warrant, No. 559, issued to W. C. Demoss in 1840, for $1,628 and 40 cents, passed into the hands of said Shelton, in the same manner of the above—[see proof Nos. 1, 2 and 3.] Said warrant was left by said Shelton, before his death, in the hands of

R. S. Graves—not sold or assignment to him, nor any one else—[see proof No. 4.]

The object of Shelton in leaving said warrant in the treasury with said Graves, was to get him to give him small warrants for it as soon as the small ones to that amount came into the treasury, [see proof No. 5.]

Afterwards, on the 9th March, 1843, John T. Hull put in the hands of Graves, divers small warrants to be funded to amount of about $1728. Graves funded my $1628 warrant to credit of said Hull, and placed the small warrants above described, (except No. 787,) as received from Mr. Hull in a separate drawer for Shelton, as I have no doubt—[see proof No. 6 and 3; and see also, the entry on the funding book.]

Besides the above proofs which I here submit to your examination, I also refer you to the testimony of Col. Jas. E. Matthews, in proof that it was Graves's habit to fund large warrants to the credit of those bringing in small ones, either to save labor in writing, or for the accommodation of those wanting change for the large ones.

Hoping this statement and proofs may authorize you consistently, with law and duty, to deliver to me the warrants above listed,

I remain, very respectfully,

your obedient servant,

J. C. P. HAMMOND.

by T. P. WARE, Att'y in fact.

T. P. Ware personally appeared before the undersigned, justice of the peace, and made oath that the facts above stated, are true to the best of his knowledge.

PROOF No. 1.

HOME, December 14, 1842.

MY DEAR SIR:—With regard to the warrants left with you by David, I am unable to decide what course would be best to pursue, but as your opportunities are much better than mine, in finding out every thing that would bear on a correct course, I must ask of you to do with them as you think best, hoping you will act with them as your own. David has told me the reasons which led you and himself to the course pursued, and there is only one other point that I can see, that has any bearing on a decision, (which he says was not mentioned,) 'tis this: in the event of a repeal of that law, would not the warrants funded, be placed on a footing with those that are not funded? If they would, I should think funding would be best.

Whether or not the subsequent (already) issues with those constantly being issued, are not sufficient to pay the taxes for a number of years, is a matter which I hope you will consider with as much information on the subject as you can get from your friend the auditor. In either event, I wish you to send them to me by George Fearn, as I may wish to raise some money by hypothecating them. Would there be a chance to purchase negroes with them?

For any trouble you may be at with my business, I shall feel grateful and ever remember.

Yours very truly,

J. C. P. HAMMOND.

T. P. Ware personally appeared before the undersigned justice of the peace in and for said county, and made oath that the date and writing and signature of J. C. P. Hammond to the above letter, are genuine.

T. P. WARE.

J. P. OLDHAM, J. P. [L. S.]

PROOF No. 3.

Thompson P. Ware, being duly sworn, saith, that he is not interested directly nor indirectly, nor under any liability on account of these warrants. That the warrant of the issue of 1840, issued to Claiborne Kyle for $95, and numbered No. 787, was placed in his hands (among other old warrants) by D. Shelby for J. C. P. Hammond, on the 2d December, 1842, with the request that said Ware would sell said warrants for cash, or fund them as said Hammond might afterwards direct. That he was directed to sell there at not less than 50 cents on the dollar, over [illegible] discretion. That he placed said warrant in the hands of the late Wm. H. Shelton, to sell as above, and pay over to said Ware. That said Shelton has not sold or disposed of the same, otherwise than leaving said warrant with R. S. Graves, in the treasurer's office, as this affiant believes. That on examination, this affiant finds among some loose warrants in the treasury department, the identical warrant above described, which he knows to be the same as placed by him in the hands of said Shelton, and that no return of any kind has ever been made for it; that it is not funded on the books of the state, or marked paid; that it is not claimed or treated as assets of said Shelton or Graves, or claimed by any one else.

Besides the warrant above described, there are also in the treasury department about 40 warrants mostly of small dimensions, and amounting in all to about $1,197 59, which this affiant believes and states to be in part the change which the late treasurer Graves gave said Shelton for the warrant No. 559, issued to W. C. DeMoss, in 1840, for $1,628 40 said warrants are enveloped in a paper, and marked thus: "1840, various pay warrants found loose in small drawer, in big safe, amounting to $1,456 11, F. S. H."

That said warrant for $1,628 40, (with others,) was placed in the hands of said Ware, at the time and on the terms of the above warrant of 95 dollars; and that said Shelton has never (as this affiant believes and states,) sold or disposed of the above $1,197 59, being part of said warrant for $1,628, otherwise than by leaving said warrants in the care of R. S. Graves, in the treasurer's office. That no return nor any proceeds of said warrant, was ever made by said Shelton; that the amount above described, is not claimed as the property of said Shelton, or Graves, nor is connected with the books of the treasury, as being funded or paid.

This affiant states, that after he saw the statement of said Shelton, made in the hour of his death, to-wit: "that the old warrant for $1,628, was in the treasury, he went to the treasury, to examine for it. He found it funded to the credit of John T. Hull; he immediately saw Mr. Hull, who said he had not funded said warrant; that he never owned or bought it from said Shelton, or any one else. He then showed this affiant a list of the warrants he had funded, to make the amount of $1,728, which he recollects to have been many in number—being small warrants—and it is his belief, from the above recollection, that the said warrants now in said envelope, in the treasury, amounting to $1,197 59, were among the list shown him by said Hull. Said Hull further states, that he could not account for the above facts in any way, unless Graves had given a part of his small warrants to Shelton in change for the large one, and funded the large one to his (Hull's) credit. That this affiant did not, until recently, know of said warrants being in the treasury, and when he called on said Hull for the list of them, it had, in the lapse of three years, been thrown aside and lost.

PROOF No. 4.

Before I take this last, this dreadful leap, I swear by the living God, that Graves has all the funds I could get. It was invested in state warrants, left with him under the promise, that gold should be paid at par, as soon as the examination was over. All is gone! The only warrants I can describe, which no doubt, are in the treasury, are:

An old warrant, 1628; Tracy warrant, 738, beloning to T. P. Ware.

$875 in warrants, wrapped in Tracy's account, left as collateral security, belonging to W. R. Crane.

I further swear I have not one dollar—my family has.

Mr. Graves has $7,283, and about $4,000 besides. Not one cent have I received, unless it be said $300, borrowed of Mr. Thomas, and $2,290 of E. Graves.

So help me God,

Personally appeared before the undersigned justice of the peace, in and for said county, Thomas J. Coffee, and made oath that the above memorandum signed by W. H. Shelton, and dated 30th day of March, 1843, was found in his hat on the bank of Pearl river, on the day it was written, and not exceeding 30 minutes after he drowned himself. The said memorandum is in the hand writing of said Shelton, and bears his signature, and was found by this affiant in a few minutes, as aforesaid, after he committed suicide. This affiant delayed a half hour at Laban Taylor's, two miles from Pearl river, until the said Shelton wrote the above memorandum, on the day it bears date.

A short time before the arrest of R. S. Graves for embezzlement, the late Wm. H. PROOF No. 6.

At the request of Maj. T. P. Ware, I looked over the books of the late treasurer, R. S. Graves, for the purpose of refreshing my recollection as to some state warrants I had funded, while he was in office. I find that on the 20th Feb., 1843, I had a warrant for $4,000, which I remember giving to the treasurer to be funded, and on the 9th of March, I find sundry warrants, amounting to $1,728 and 19 cents, and my recollection is, that I gave him a number more small ones than appear on the book, and that I had none as large as $1,628 40. This is what I now remember about it; it is so long since, that I am unable to recollect the exact warrants paid into the treasury.

Mr. McCaughan, from the joint standing committee on the penitentiary, made the following report:

REPORT of the Joint Standing Committee on the Penitentiary.

Mr. Speaker:—The joint standing committee on the Penitentiary, having completed their investigations of the condition of that institution, beg leave to report:

That they have diligently enquired into all matters pertaining to that institution, have compared the reports of its various officers with the facts and books as far as was practicable, and find said reports and accounts strictly correct.

Every attention seems to have been paid to keeping the prison clean, comfortable and healthy, and a wholesome moral discipline seems not to have been neglected in the institution.

Your committee finding this institution in a prosperous condition, paying all its annual expenses in every way, and apparently answering fully the expectations of the public, having ceased to be a burthen on the State Treasury, while it prevents the violators of law and morals from committing further offences for a time deemed sufficient to atone for the injury done and reform them for a life of usefulness, have had their attention mostly directed to important changes in the labor of the convicts, so as to remove the just complaints of a large and respectable class of our citizens; and after a careful investigation of this subject, your committee have arrived at the conclusion that the appropriation of the funds now on hand, and such as will necessarily accumulate in the course of a few months, will enable the institution to purchase a good engine of from twenty to thirty horse power and necessary fixtures to put the same into operation, while a portion of the labor of the convicts could be directed to erecting the necessary furnace, and buildings sufficient to contain the machinery at present on hand, to be propelled by such engine, and also allow room to attach such other machinery for manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods as would be sufficient to employ almost the entire labor of the convicts in this branch of industry. So soon as such machinery could be obtained, and in consequence of the great public anxiety manifested on this subject, your committee have given it due consideration, and arrived at the conclusion that it is advisable to make an advance to the institution for the purpose of facilitating this object, from the State Treasury, of the sum of four thousand dollars, believing that this sum, in addition to the amount now on hand and accumulating, would enable the institution in the course of the present year, to employ most of the convicts in manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods, which business is considered as profitable as their present occupations, and the institution would in a short time, without any further aid from the State, be able to purchase as much more machinery of this kind as would be necessary to employ all the labor of the convicts, and thus divert it from its present employment in the mechanic arts.

Your committee have had their attention directed to the subject of leasing out to individuals, the Penitentiary for a term of years, and after a thorough examination have arrived at the conclusion, that it is better to continue its management by officers appointed by the State.

Your committee take pleasure in stating that so far as they have been able to judge, the present officers have discharged their duties faithfully and efficiently, in every respect.

In conclusion your committee beg leave to suggest the following resolutions, to-wit:

1st. Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That the Superintendent of the State Penitentiary, under the direction of the Board of Inspectors, is hereby authorized and directed to erect suitable buildings for the reception of an engine and machinery for manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods, sufficient for the labor of eighty hands.

2d. Resolved, That said Superintendent, under the direction of the Board of Inspectors, procure a suitable engine and fixtures to propel said machinery, with the funds now on hand and accumulating, and employ the same in putting into operation such machinery as is now on hand.

3d. Resolved, That it is expedient to appropriate out of the State Treasury the sum of $4,000, to be applied to the purchase of such additional machinery as may be suitable for manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods, to be driven by said engine, and have said machinery ready to attach thereto, as soon as possible after said engine and buildings are ready therefor.

4th. Resolved, That all the said machinery be kept constantly at work, and as much labor applied to the manufacturing coarse cotton and woollen goods as can be advantageously employed for that purpose.

5th. Resolved, That all the nett proceeds of said institution, after putting the said machinery into operation, shall be applied to repay to the State the above sum of $4,000, unless the next Legislature should direct an extension of machinery therewith.

All of which, referring to the documents already printed, is respectfully submitted.

Mr. Sharkey, from the committee to whom was referred that portion of the governor's message relating to banks, and the proceeding by quo warranto, made the following minority report:

REPORT of the Minority of the Committee on the Quo Warranto.

Mr. Speaker—The undersigned, as a member of the committee to which was referred that portion of the Governor's message relating to Banks, and the proceeding by quo warranto, being unable to concur with the majority of the committee, begs leave to tender a separate report. In doing this, he will endeavor to confine himself to the subjects referred. His Excellency has thought proper to recommend, that this Legislature should "make an enduring record of the hostility," that the events of a few years past "have engendered to banks and banking." And to that end he has thought proper to recommend a change in the constitution, "forever prohibiting the establishment of banks in this State." The undersigned does not so much object to the end, as to the means of its accomplishment. The constitution is the supreme law, prescribed by the people, limiting the powers of the members of the several departments of the government, and securing the great principles of liberty. It is too sacred to be tampered with, except in cases of pressing emergency. When such occur, changes may be proper. But frequent changes must impair the force of that instrument, and diminish its moral power. Its character is changed from a fixed, inflexible rule, to a thing of mere nominal force. One change is a precedent for another, and their frequency must impair the confidence which the people have in their organic law, and ultimately lead to confusion. The provisions of a constitution which is continually undergoing changes, must soon, to some extent, be buried in mystery. But besides, it will be a fruitful source of exciting and expensive legislation. The several sections of the State may each desire to accomplish some favorite change, until the main business of legislation will be to effect some change in the constitution. It may not be long until this body shall again be called on to make an "enduring record" of some other "hostility," "engendered" by some imaginary evil that pervades the minds of those who assemble here to legislate. legislation can be wise, which has not moral justice towards all men for its landmarks. The legitimate power of legislation is confined to a due regard for individual right. No class of the community is to be made the sacrifice for another. The rights of all are equally sacred. It is just that the creditors of the banks should receive the assets of the banks—it is equally just that the debtors should pay their debts. If, by legislative act, these debts and credits are destroyed, do we not legislate for the benefit of one class, at the cost of another, and thus violate the plainest principles of justice. Whatever may have been the conduct of the banks, the creditors are not implicated. The stockholders are mostly innocent persons, who have made their investments in our State, in good faith: shall we deride their confidence and prostrate their fortunes? Before us the rich and the poor stand on equal grounds. We can draw no distinction. No favored classes can here be known. Good faith must be observed towards all. We must not permit our hostility to banks, to lead us into legislation which must work injustice to individual rights. Punish the offender if you will, but spare the victim to the offence. The injury is already sufficiently great; do not add to its magnitude, and tarnish our moral integrity.

The undersigned cannot conceive why the debtors to the banks should desire a repeal of the 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th sections of that law; he feels confident that no such consequences as those contended for by a majority of the committee, are to follow a repeal of those sections; on the contrary, he is well satisfied that each creditor would be left to pursue the debtors through a court of equity, and coerce justice at the end of useless, harrassing and expensive litigation, which would render their situation infinitely worse than it is now. He will not attempt to follow the example of the committee in making a legal argument upon the constitutionality of the law, but simply advert to what is now settled. The doctrine is now well established, that the property, money and credits of a banking corporation, constitute a trust fund for the benefit of creditors, which it is the province of a court of equity to follow wherever it may be found, and apply it to its appropriate purpose; and the idea that a trust fails because the trustee is dead or annihilated, is as absurd as it is new.

After the rich encomium which the committee have bestowed on the late Judge Story for his great legal ability, his authority will not be questioned. He decided that even after the dissolution of a banking corporation, a creditor would be entitled to recover of a stockholder, an amount which had been withdrawn on the dissolution of the corporation, on the ground that every creditor had an existing equity on whatever was once a part of the corporate fund; Mumma vs. Wood, 3 Mason C. C. Reports, 309. The majority of the committee have invoked the name of Kent as an authority not to be questioned, and by his opinion I am willing to abide. Let us hear him speak, not on an analagous case; not by inference, but on the very question under consideration. In reply to an interrogatory put to him, whether, if this Legislature were to repeal the 8th, 9th and 10th sections of this law, the creditors could recover in a court of equity, he says: "I am of opinion, that if the three sections of the act were to be repealed without any provision for the payment and collection of debts and property belonging to the bank, it would remain a trust fund subject to the cognizance and control of a court of equity for the benefit of creditors. The idea is not to be indulged or conceded that the jurisprudence of the State of Mississippi, or that throughout the Uunited States, is so lame and defective, as not to take due and efficient care of the appropriation of the assets of the bank, to the just demands of the creditors; and eventually stockholders. It would be a deplorable failure of duty if such a protection was denied."

"By the legislative creation of a bank, with its capital and organization, a fraud upon the public could not have been intended. The just intention of the charter must undoubtedly have been, that the capital authorized to be invested, should constitute a trust fund for the benefit of depositors and bill-holders, who by the institution are considered to be invited and induced to place confidence in the bank, and its powers, and capital, as requisite means for their security and indemnity. To permit the odious and obsolete doctrine of ancient date, before monied institutions were introduced, to be applied on the dissolution of the bank, perhaps by its own mismanagement and abuse, so that all its assets were to be considered as dispersed to the wind without any owner or power any where to collect and justly apply, would be a disgrace to any civilized State. But this cannot be supposed to take place. The improved and enlightened administration of equity jurisprudence in every part of our country, have taught and established sounder and juster doctrines, and his is apparent in the legislative acts and in the decrees of courts of equity relative to insolvent and dissolved monied charters" The above quotation is from Chancellor Kent's manuscript opinion now in this city, and ought to be satisfactory to the committee which has introduced him as authority.

In view of these decisions there may be much cause for apprehending, that should the last sections be repealed, the creditors of the banks will immediately institute proceedings against debtors, and exact payment in specie. Are our constituents prepared for such a result? Can they desire it? No one can doubt the response they would make. Under all circumstances, the undersigned cannot doubt the propriety of affording to the creditors an expeditious and cheap remedy for the collection of the amount to which they may be entitled: a remedy with which the people are familiar, and which is well calculated to prevent litigation. Such a remedy it is believed, is offered by the sections proposed to be repealed, with some slight amendments.

The undersigned cannot subscribe to the idea conveyed by his Excellency when he says: "What is to be the effect of a forfeiture judicially ascertained, as to the property of the corporation, or as to debts due to or from it, is a question properly referable to the Judiciary, and with which the Legislature and Executive have no concern." True, it is for the courts to determine what the effect of a forfeiture is, but it is for the Legislature to determine what it ought to be. The undersigned believes it is the peculiar province of the Legislature to guard against injustice, to avert injurious consequences resulting from inadequate laws. If the law is defective and operates injuriously to any one, let the blame fall on that branch of government having the power and authority to change or repeal it. Why should the Legislature have no "concern" about the effect of a measure it is called on to project? The Legislature (with due deference to his Excellency) has "concern" with all laws on the statute-book, and is accountable for their effect on the rights of the community, and equally as censurable for the failure to repeal unwise and impolitic acts as they are for repealing wise and salutary ones. They are, and will be held accountable at the bar of public opinion.

What the advocates of repeal desire to accomplish is not easily perceived. It cannot be the extermination of banks, for the first seven sections of the act provide the whole remedy for taht purpose, and no life is breathed into them as banking corporations by the Senate's amendment. The majority of the committee cannot believe that a repeal of those sections would have any effect on the banks that have been adjudged to have forfeited their charters, and for which trustees have been appointed, to take charge of the assets for the benefit of all concerned. In such cases rights have vested and cannot be taken away. And why should not the banks that have not yet had judgment of ouster and seizure pronounced against them, be placed on an equal footing with the others? The same measure of justice should be awarded to all who have offended.

The undersigned would add a few words in answer to the argument of the majority of the committee. He will not offer an argument on the constitutionality of the law as it now stands, but leave that question to be decided by another department of the government. The constitution has divided the powers of government into three distinct departments, to-wit: those which are Legislative to one, those which are Judicial to another, and those which are Executive to another, and it has provided that no person or collection of persons being of one of these departments, shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others. To decide on the constitutionality of a law is the highest exercise o Judicial power, and can be exercised by the Judicial department only. And yet a report has been made to this House, which decides that a law passed by a previous Legislature is unconstitutional. If any one existing law may be declared unconstitutional by us, the whole body of law may, by the exercise of the same power, be declared null and void. Or laws which have been declared void, may, by the same power, be pronounced valid. The departments of the government must be kept separate and distinct, and by every attempt to exercise a power which does not properly belong to us, we violate the constitution. If we can declare laws void, we can legislate away the life, liberty and property of individuals. The undersigned would solemnly protest, in behalf of his constituents, against any legislative act which declares laws to be void.

But why are these sections declared void? Because, say the committee, it was part of the contract of each individual that the obligation should cease with the being of the corporation, and yet the committee use this language: "It is said, that the original quo warranto bill of 1843, if carried into effect, will release debtors from the payment of their debts to the banks. The committee believe that the charge is so utterly destitute of truth, that a few words in refutation will put it at rest forever with all honest and intelligent men." This argument destroys the proposition. The language is a flat denial that the obligation does cease with the existence of the corporation.

The undersigned recommends, that the bill reported by the majority of the committee, shall not pass this House.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The following communication was received from the auditor of public accounts:

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
Jackson, Jan. 31, 1846,

Hon. James Whitfield,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution, adopted by the house of representatives, on yesterday, requesting me to furnish "a statement showing the aggregate disbursements which have been made each year, from the state treasury, on account of the penitentiary; distinguishing between the expenditures for buildings, and those for the current expenses of the institution. Also showing the aggregate amount of the proceeds of convict labor each year, from the establishment of the penitentiary, to the 1st of January, 1846."

In reply I will remark, that the books in this office show that there has been expended in the erection of the penitentiary buildings, the sum of : : : : $134,794 35

Of this sum, there were drawn in 1836, by H. K. Moss, : :	$10,00
In 1838, there were drawn by Charles Lynch, : : :	36,000
In 1839, there were drawn by Charles Lynch, : : :	45,700
In 1839, there were drawn by A. B. Reading, : : :	1,608
In 1839, there were drawn by Wm. Jackson & D. Daley, : :	213 25
In 1840, there were drawn by sundry persons, : : :	38,777 14

In 1841, there were drawn by sundry persons, : : :	2,245 96
And in January, 1842, : :	250 00	$134,794 35

But I will further remark, that there were other expenditures in erecting the penitentiary, which on my books, are not debited to the penitentiary department, but to appropriations, made to liquidate contracts for furnishing materials. What amount was thus expended, I am unable to determine, as in one instance which I recollect, an appropriation for about $8,000 was made to John Long for lime used in part for the penitentiary, and part for the executive mansion.

The expenditures to support or defray the expenses of the penitentiary since its erection, amount to		$89,327 36½
Of this, there were expended in 1840,	$12,241 94
" " " " " 1841,	32,447 25
Of this, there were expended in January and February, 1842, : :	3,824 20
Of this, there were expended during fiscal year, ending 1st March, 1843,	23,506 61
Of this, there were expended during fiscal year, ending 1st March, 1844,	7,593 17½
Of this, there were expended from March, 1844, to 1st January, 1845,	4,682 36
And for the calendar year 1845, (to 1st January, 1846,) : :	5,03 83	$89,327 36½

In reply to the latter inquiry contained in the resolution of the house, I reply, that the proceeds of the labor of the convicts, are not paid into the treasury, and of course this office has no record of the amount. In this respect, the penitentiary is an institution independent of all the other departments of the government. If the proceeds of the penitentiary were paid into the treasury, and all expenditures paid on warrant of the auditor out of the treasury, then I should be able at all times to exhibit a balance sheet, showing the receipts and expenditures of the institution. But as this is not the case, I am unable to answer the last inqury. But I will suggest, that upon application to the superintendent of the penitentiary, doubtless, the house can obtain the information desired.

I have the honor to be,

most respectfully,

Your obedient serv't,

JAMES E. MATTHEWS,

Auditor Pub. Ac.

Mr. McCaughan, from the select committee, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Harrison county, made the following report:

REPORT of a select Committee on the subject of Repealing all Laws for the Collection of debts.

The select committee to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Harrison county, praying the abolition of our Legal Credit system, have had the same under consideration, and arrrived at the following conclusions:

That the interference of government with contracts of individuals is entirely wrong, and not only unproductive of good, but a source of much evil and social discord—causing great unnecessary expense to the State and a large number of its citizens, in nowise interested—creating a necessity for swarms of officers, agents, and attornies, who perform no service which would be of utility to mankind, under a wholesome system of laws and government: who indeed live, and often are enriched by the strife and discord engendered by our erroneous system of laws—most of which evils would end with the abrogation of those laws—substituting an artificial legal obligation for that high and noble moral principle of justice implanted in the organization of every human being, by the Great Author of his existence.

Your committee are of the opinion that this interference of government with the contracts of citizens, was first introduced for selfish, sinister and unfair purposes, when the few ruled the great mass of mankind, and that it has well answered the ends of its creation. If man is so constituted and organized as to possess a sense of justice and benevolence—a natural disposition to do unto others as he would they should under similar circumstances, do unto him,—it must be very evident that the conduct resulting from such natural organization, would be more correct, and the obligation felt more binding and certain, than any artificial and unnatural obligation—the mere invention of man. To suppose otherwise would be to impiously ussume that the creature, man, is superior to his creator, God. If, however, we arrive at the conclusion, that man does not possess this constitution and organization, we are placed in a worse dilemma, by assuming that without it he can enact laws for his government, right, just or benevolent.

Your committee, in elucidation of this view of the subject, would sate such facts in relation to it, as are familiar to most men. First, that the only kind of obligations in this country which can be called strictly moral, are those incurred by gambling. Gambling debts are not recognized as legal, by our laws, hence there is no legal obligation to pay them; nor is there any obligation on mankind to pay such debts, save that dictated or imposed by the moral principle in his nature already referred to. Now what are the facts in relation to the fulfilment of such obligations? In comparison with the fulfilment of those engagements recognized by the laws of the country, the advantage is notoriously on the side of gambling obligations, which proves to demonstration, the correctness of our position. It will be of no avail to argue that gamblers pay their debts promptly, as a matter of policy, because there being no law to make them pay, they would lose all credit and confidence among their friends were they to fail to pay, &c.,—for if this is the fact, it only tends to strengthen our argument. Let us then make it the policy of all men to be honest and punctual in their engagements—let the penalty for failure to perform which, be loss of credit and confidence among their friends, by those who violate their contracts—as in gambling transactions—and, as a matter of course, the same results must be produced. Secondly, in many of the early settlements of our frontier country, years elapsed before the introduction of law, lawyers, and officers of the law; and, so far as your committee have been able to learn, from persons of observation, information and experience, acquainted with the business transactions of those settlements in their infancy, there was then greater punctuality observed by men, in all their dealings—more social harmony and concord, and less avarice and cupidity---than after the introduction of law, lawyers, &c., to coerce a compliance with contracts.

In the third place, we would instance the social condition of the Quakers---a numerous, intelligent, prosperous, enterprising and highly respectable class of our population; who have always refused to resort to law for the settlement of their transactions with one another. As a consequence of this abstinence from litigation, there is no such thing as extreme want or poverty among them. All their children are educated, and the salutary principles of man's social organization more fully developed and practised upon, than by any other class of our population. What the Quakers have effected, can be accomplished by others, if they will but act upon the same principles. If man is a moral and social being, a high moral and social, not political destiny, awaits him, and must develope the great end of his existence---health and contentment. If man, untrammeled by the artificial errors in laws, government and society, does not possess principle prompting him to do right, (which is not here admitted,) then let us make it his policy to do right. There is an old adage, that "honesty is the best policy," and some wit has remarked, that if rogues could appreciate its truth, they would be honest, if from policy alone. Now, if honesty and punctuality are the great objects to be attained among the citizens of the State, your committee are of the opinion that their transactions of a virtuous and useful character, should at least be placed on as favorable a basis as the gambling transactions of the country.

From the best calculations your committee have been able to make on the subject, they have arrived at the conclusion that the annual expense to the people of the United States, on account of the legal credit system alone, in the pay of judges, clerks, sheriffs, marshals, magistrates, constables, deputies, jurors, witnesses, lawyers, loss of time in litigation, &c., &c., cannot be short of the immense sum of to say nothing of the vice, corruption, perjuries, strife, discord, and crimes, embittered feelings, destruction of friendship, and social feelings between man and man, and of amity and love among members of families; poverty and utter ruin of both plaintiff and defendant, in which the innocent wives and helpless children are oftentimes the greatest sufferers. Is it possible that a system which produces such consequences can be right? Or are we not to judge the tree by its fruit?

This principle of legal obligation is one of inheritance, and never could have obtained in this country, had it been a new question at the close of the Revolution; but, unfortunately, like many other errors and absurdities adopted with the European system of laws---a system framed for a people having different forms of government from ours, where, under the specious name of law, every species of villainous chicanery and fraud was resorted to by the few to oppress the many. Your committee are not disposed to reproach the memory of any of the great statesmen, patriots, and philanthropists who failed to establish, under our first constitution, a better form of laws. They had done enough. They had struggled through a long and bloody war, at the close of which they established and handed to us, and to all posterity, a constitution based upon the dogma of man's political equality; under which all are entitled to equal rights and privileges, with a representative form of government, by which we are enabled to alter, amend or annul our laws at pleasure. Having done so much, it is but reasonable to infer that they required repose---that, as they had approximated perfection, they imagined it was attainable; and we, to whom they had bequeathed such an inheritance, would not only preserve it in all its purity, as we had received it, but improve and perfect it, as time and experience should point out its errors and defects. Have we done this? Have we honestly and studiously examined what manner of beings we are, and framed a code of laws and institutions in harmony with our own organization? Your committee think not; or whence all the misery, poverty, ignorance and wretchedness which we know to exist throughout the length and breadth of our land, so highly favored by nature, and in the enjoyment of unequalled civil and religious privileges.

Another argument your committee would offer in favor of this change, is the necessity, which the present legal credit system creates for a host of our population to engage in the otherwise useless, and always non-productive, profession of law, civil officers, &c., &c., all of whom must live on the labor of others. By changing our policy, this necessity ceases, and the numerous class of our population alluded to, must at once adopt other pursuits directly useful to themselves, their country and their kind.

The increase of productive industry—the saving to the nation of two hundred millions of dollars annually—the misery, strife, discord, poverty, and human suffering in every way—which would be avoided—the good, peace, prosperity and happiness which would result from this change—are all considerations, which has induced your committee to direct me to report the bill herewith submitted, and recommend its passage.

All which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. McCAUGHAN, Chairman.

Mr. Adams made the following minority report:

The undersigned dissenting, from the report made by the majority of the committee, appointed to take into consideration the petition of Sundry citizens of Issaquena county, [illegible] house presented the following as the reasons which [illegible] him in refusing to grant the prayer of the petitioners:

The petition sets forth the grievances and inconveniences [illegible] petitioners, in getting to their seat of justice, &c., &c., and is signed by forty persons, a majority of whom do not reside in the district sought to be attached to Yazoo county, and of course could not be benefitted by the grant of their petition. The remaining portion are chiefly overseers and wood-choppers, who own no lands in the county, and have no permanent residence either there, or in any other county. This district is low and [illegible] and subject to inundation, and the citizens, who labor under the greatest inconvenience in high water, would be compelled to use skiffs and other water crafts in getting to the seat of justice, even in Yazoo county. The owners of property and plantations, do not in general, reside there, but in the adjoining counties, and of course their more important business is transacted out of Issaquena, but in the county of their residence. It is believed that the object of at least one-half of the petitioners was to call off all opposition to the project of locating the seat of justice upon the Mississippi river, and accordingly it will be recollected that their representative at an early day in the session, introduced a bill for that purpose, thereby greatly increasing the inconveniences of the citizens on the eastern side of the county in reaching their seat of justice, and rendering the project of attaching them to Yazoo more plausible, and the necessity more urgent. It will be seen by reference to the map of Issaquena, that the extreme length of the county, is about thirty-nine miles, and the extreme width thirty-three miles; now if the seat of justice be located on or near the centre of the county, and the roads be laid out in any way near a straight line, no citizen would have to travel a greater distance than twenty-five miles in going to it. It is believed that this would be entirely practicable during the summer months and fall seasons, and in the winter and spring, the inconveniences must be borne until the water courses in the county are laveed, or the citizens seek more favored and convenient locations. The undersigned denies the right of the legislature to relieve the petitioners from the difficulties and inconveniences in which they have voluntarily placed themselves, particularly when that relief is afforded at the expense of their unoffending neighbors, which will surely be the case in the present instance. The bill reported, proposes to attach about nine additional townships to Yazoo county, lying directly west of Yazoo city; this would place that town near the centre of the county, and as a matter of course, would carry the court house to that place, at no very distant day; the majority of the citizens reside south and east of Benton, the present seat of justice. To these it would increase the distance to the court house, ten miles, while a majority of the balance of the citizens would be greatly inconvenienced. Surely the convenience of at least seven hundred voters in Yazoo county, should be consulted, rather than twenty voters in Issaquena. The representative from that county, proposes to let the seat of justice remain as at present located; if so, I should think to attach the petitioners to Yazoo, would be no convenience to the most of them who live chiefly on Silver Creek and would have to travel from twenty to thirty miles to get to the court house; whereas, if the county boundaries remain as they now are, with the county site in the centre of the county, a majority of the citizens on Silver Creek would be nearer on a straight line by one half to their own court house, than they would to the court house in Yazoo county. This fact will be plainly seen, by reference to the map of the counties, and should convince any man of the ultimate object of the petitioners. The majority of the committee, in their extreme liberality and great zeal for the interests of Yazoo, and sufferings of others, have not confined themselves to the relief of the suffering petitioners of Issaquena, but have extended their commiseration to suffering citizens in other portions of the state, and have therefore, in their reported bill, proposed to attach a large portion—two whole townships of Washington county, lying still north of Issaquena, the citizens of which, no doubt, are similarly situated, and should be relieved.

Should the proposed addition of territory result as I have shown it would do, in the removal of the seat of justice from its present location, it will involve the county in a heavy debt and burthensome taxation for the next ten years: for in addition to the sum necessary to erect new public buildings, the county will be compelled to pay the whole value of all lots and improvements in the town of Benton, the cost of which, is estimated at $100,000.

These lots were donated to the county by an individual, upon the express condition, that it should remain the permanent seat of justice for the county, and of course, when the condition on which it was granted fails, the property will revert to the grantor, and in as much as the county has sold and warranted the title to the lots, it would be compelled to pay not only the price of the lots, but the whole value of the improvements placed upon them. This cannot and will not be denied.

For refusing the prayer of the petition, these reasons are deemed sufficient to out-weigh any grievances under which the petitioners may labor; and it is hoped, will influance the action of the legislature upon this matter. All of which is respectfully submitted.

ADAMS.

Which was laid on the table.

Mr. Lemly made the following minority report:

MR. SPEAKER—The undersigned members of the committee to whom was referred the governor's special message, relating to the Newton and Lauderdale rail road and turnpike company, differing with the majority of the committee in some respects, beg leave to submit the following report.

The undersigned have not been able to determine from the evidence before them, whether the amount of money loaned by the state to said company, has been appropriated by the company as directed by the act making the loan, or not. They are satisfied, however, that the subject should be judicially inquired into, to the end that the obligors may have a fair opportunity of making their defence, and if they have not discharged the duties imposed upon them, that the state shall recover the amount loaned.

The undersigned have heard that the whole amount has not been appropriated, and that the company are ready to settle with any person authorized to settle the same. If this be the fact, (which we do not vouch for,) the undersigned would recommend that the governor and attorney general be authorized and empowered to settle the same without suit, but if the company should fail to make such settlement, as in the opinion of the governor and attorney general is fair and equitable, then, that he be required to institute suit. All of which is respectfully submitted.

The 3d section provides that the selectmen of said town shall choose from among themselves a president, who shall, ex-officio, have and exercise all the powers of a justice of the peace in said town. This provision conflicts with the 23d section of the 4th article of the constitution, which declares that a competent number of justices of the peace and constables shall be chosen in each county by the qualified electors thereof, by districts. The qualified electors alone have a right to select justices of the peace, according to the constitution. The selectmen may choose a president; but being thus chosen, he cannot constitutionally exercise the powers of a justice of the peace.

Which was received and agreed to, the bill read the third time, and passed as amended.

Mr. Wade, from the standing committee on ways and means, made the following report:

REPORT of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. Speaker—The committee of ways and means, to which that portion of the governor's message, relating to the domestic debt, was referred, have had the same under consideration, and as intimately connected with the same subject, your committee (tho' not instructed so to do,) have also, under the impression, that the legislature is disposed to reimburse certain trust funds, viz: the seminary fund, the sinking fund, and the two per cent. funds, so far as the same have been paid into the state treasury, in auditor's warrants upon the state treasury, have considered of the means necessary to reimburse said funds, and have instructed me to report: That they have thought proper to recur to the commencement of the year 1844, and to extend their calculations to the termination of the fiscal year of 1850. It will be seen by the showing hereinafter made, based upon the auditor's report to the last and present sessions of the legislature, that the revenue raised under the act of 1844, contributed greatly towards the extinguishment of the domestic debt of the state. The taxes, however, under the existing revenue laws, having been justly complained of by the people, as onerous, and the expenses of the state government being greatly diminished by the action of the last legislature, which reduced the salaries of public officers; which action has been inoperative, owing to the fact, that most of the salaries which were reduced, could not be effected, until the expiration of the term for which officers were elected. Your committee have, therefore, ventured to recommend a reduction in the revenue of this state, to the amount of about seventy-nine thousand dollars annually; assuming the assessment list of 1845, as the basis of their estimate.

The reduction proposed is as follows:

On jacks,	$ 445 00
" Free white polls,	10,381 00
" Negroes under five years of age,	12,523 00
" Negroes over five and under sixty,	26,138 00
" Merchandize, (estimated,)	2,700 00
" Lands,	27,000 00
Aggregate amount of reduction,	$79,187 00

With this reduction in the revenue, it will be seen, by the table of calculation, exhibited below, that on or before the expiration of the fiscal year of 1850, the state will have more than realized means sufficient, after paying the ordinary current expenses of the state government, to pay all of the outstanding auditor's warrants upon the state treasury, (both funded and unfunded,) and to reimburse all of the trust funds alluded to, and have a balance in the treasury, of $300,000, (three hundred thousand dollars,) or more. Your committee, in their estimate, have only set down the principal of the amounts outstanding against the state, under the impression, that the increase of taxable property, up to the period assumed, will be amply sufficient to meet any interest that may accrue.

The auditor's report in January 1, 1844, exhibits the amount due by the state on account of auditor's warrants,	$ 614,743 00
There were issued between 1st January 1844, and 1st January, 1846,	436,508 00
Making an aggregate of	$1,051,251 00
There has been paid into the treasury since 1st January, 1844, and up to 1st January, 1846,	779,711 00
Showing a balance due 1st January, 1846, of	271,540 00
To which may be added the amount due to the seminary fund of	103,000 00
Amount due the sinking fund,	84,000 00
Due the two per cent. fund,	48,000 00
Probable expense of the present session of the legislature,	60,000 00
Probable amount of appropriations, besides that already made to seminary fund,	30,000 00
State government for 1846,	125,000 00
Probable expenses for 1847,	125,000 00
Probable expense of legislature for 1848,	60,000 00
Appropriations by same,	30,000 00
Expenses of the government for 1848,	125,000 00
" " " 1849,	125,000 00
" " legislature " 1850,	60,000 00
" " appropriations, 1850,	30,000 00
Expenses of government to 1st May, 1850,	40,000 00
Making an aggregate sum of	$1,316,540 00
To pay which, there will be probably realized from the assessment list of 1845, and miscellaneous sources,	390,000 00
Under the proposed revenue bill of 1846,	311,000 00
" " " " 1847,	311,000 00
" " " " 1848,	311,000 00
" " " " 1849,	311,000 00
	$1,634,000 00
Deduct the aggregate of expenses up to 1st May, 1850,	1,316,000 00
Amount remaining in the treasury on the 1st day of May, 1850,	$ 318,000 00

Thus it will be seen, that if the above calculation be not materially defective, that there will be in the treasury, a sum sufficient, under the revenue bill herewith presented, to pay all probable demands upon the state, and to take up all of the outstanding auditor's warrants, and to reimburse the trust funds heretofore named; and on the first day of May, 1850, to leave a balance in the treasury of more than $300,000, (three hundred thousand dollars.) Your committee cannot close this report without expressing their thorough conviction of the necessity of a reduction of the present rate of taxation. All of which, together with the accompanying bill, is respectfully submitted.

The following communication was received from the auditor o public accounts:

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
Jackson, February 20th, 1846.

HON. JAMES WHITFIELD,
Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of the house of representatives, adopted on the 18th instant, instructing me to lay before that body the amount of taxes due the state of Mississippi from the various banks in said state.

In reply, I will remark, that I presume the object of the resolution is to elicit information as to the amount of taxes assessed against banks, which they have failed to pay.

I will state that the board of police of Adams county, assumed the power, as far back as 1841, of reducing the amount of taxes due from the Agricultural and Commercial banks, at Natchez, in proportion to the decline in the value of the stock of those institutions. The tax on bank stock being a specific, and not an ad valorem tax, I refused at first to credit the collectors with the allowance, but as the board interposed between the collectors and the banks their authority, and the collectors were thereby unable to collect the taxes, I have been compelled to admit the allowances, and place them to the collectors' credit. In my judgment, the board have just as much power to reduce the tax upon a negro, because he may not be worth as much as other negroes, as to reduce the tax on bank stock, because in the market it will not bring par value.

In opposition to the opinion of the attorney general and myself, which I forwarded to the board, they have continued to make these allowances, until they only estimate the stock of the Agricultural bank at $5, and that of the Commercial bank at $10 per share of $100, and the taxes are reduced accordingly.

The reduction of the state tax of the Agricultural bank for 1841, was

	1842,	4,505
	1843,	4,260
	1844,	5,157
	1845,	4,260
Total,		$21,831
On the Commercial bank for	1841,	$2,551
	1842,	2,424 12
	1843,	2,417 50
	1844,	3,868 00
	1845,	6,406 00
Total,		$17,666 62
The Commercial bank of Rodney failed to pay for 1844,	$1,747 84
And the Port Gibson bank for 1844,	1,208 09
		2,955 93
The total amount of the above, is		$42,454 28

There was a failure of about $1000 for the taxes of 1843, on the part of the Port Gibson bank, but the committee in their examination of this office so deranged my vouchers, that in the short time I have been able to examine, I have not been able to find it, by which, only, I can determine the precise amount.

Mr. Woodbury, from the committee to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Yazoo and Issaquena counties, praying for the formation of a new county, reported,

Mr. Brooks, from the select committee to whom was referred the petition in relation to the improvement of the navigation of the Noxubee river, made the following report:

Mr. Speaker—The select committee to whom was referred the report of the company for the improvement of the navigation of the Noxubee river, have had the same under considnration, and beg leave to make the following report.

The company for the improvement of the Noxubee river was organized under the law of 1833, in the year 1842, and has been in efficient operation since that time. Notwithstanding many obstructions have presented themselves in this enterprise, many of them have gradually given way before the industry and energy of this company. From year to year, since its organization, they have been industrious in appropriating their united means to the improvement of the navigation of said river.

The committee would take this occasion to call the attention of the legislature to the worthy objects of legislation in making a wise and equitable distribution of the funds that may hereafter accrue to the state from the sale of the 500,000 acres of land donated to the state by the general government for purposes of internal improvement. The committee respectfully submit that it would be wise policy to aid the efforts that are now making by the citizens of the state for the improvement of the natural channels of water courses opened to them by a wise and benificent creator. Your committee are of opinion that the best interest of the people of the state would be promoted by improving our navigable streams.

The Noxubee river has its course through a section of the state where the lands are fertile and productive. As a public high way it is of the greatest importance to a considerable portion of our citizens. The products of the great staple of the country, contiguous to this stream, constitute no inconsiderable item in the amount of exportations of Mississippi. The labor already bestowed on the Noxubee by the company, for the improvement of its navigation, has already demonstrated the fact that it is navigable for steam boats carrying seven or eight hundred bales of cotton, the best evidence of which is, that there has been during the present season, no less than four steamboat arrivals as high as the town of Macon. The committee are firmly impressed with the belief, that some additional labor in removing the obstructions from the bed of the river, which the company have been unable to accomplish, on account of their limited means, would render the Noxubee river equal to any stream in the state, of the same volume of water, in point of steamboat navigation. The company have never applied to the legislature for assistance, but having exhausted their means in furtherance of an object with which is connected the interest of a considerable portion of the citizens of the state, it is submitted to the legislature, if it would not be a wise appropriation of money arising from the sale of the 500,000 acres of land before alluded to, upon such streams in the state as the Noxubee, and others of equal importance.

Should the legislature adopt a just system of internal improvement, the committee feel warranted in saying that the people interested in the navigation of the Noxubee river will be able to give the most satisfactory security that the funds for its improvement would be faithfully applied to the same. All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. M. MAXCY,
Chairman.

Which was received and agreed to.

Mr. Allen, from the select committee to whom was referred the resolution in relation to the military academy at West Point, reported a memorial and resolution in relation to the same;

Which was received.

The question was then taken on agreeing to the report, and decided in the negative by yeas and nays as follows:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Mr. Speaker, Abbott, Adams, Allen, Archer, Beaty, Buford, Carson, Chambers, Connell, Crain, Cypert, Dilworth of Monroe, Dilworth of Tishemingo, Ewing, Foster, Frost, Gibbs, Harrison, Holleman, Hyneman, Kennedy, Loper, McCaughan, McDonald, McInnis, Metcalf, Millsaps, Moody, Nash, Pope, Robertson, Rushing, Simmons, Smyth of Winston, Spann, Thompson, Wade, Walker, Warren, Weathersby, Woodbury—42.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Alcorn, Baily, Berry of Tippah, Binford, Brooks, Bynum, Campbell, Cannon, Cowan, Emanuel, Farrar, Fontaine, Fowles, Gilleland, Greene of Tippah, Griffin, Guy, Harris, Hinds, Hughs, Leigh, Lemly, Leonard, May, McAfee, McNabb, Moore, Netterville, North, Pendleton, Pettus, Potts, Randall, Rogers, Rossman, Sessions, Sharkey, Simrall, Singleton, Smith of Washington, Stuart, Totten and White—43.

Mr. Warren, from the standing committee on accounts, made the follgwing report:

Mr. Speaker—The joint standing committee on accounts, after a thorough examination of the books of the auditor of public accounts and state treasurer, together with the vouchers on file in their respective offices, have instructed me to report, that they found the various books, which serve as a check on each other in the auditor's office, neatly kept, the references from one to another, simple and plain, and for the most part agreeing critically.

From the immense press of business which devolves upon that officer, he had not been able to examine and check his books with the vouchers, and consequently, some errors of a few cents were occasionally detected, which were easily rectified. Owing to the depreciated state of the warrants, it had become almost absolutely necessary for the accommodation of the state creditors, to issue a great number of small warrants. This system is still kept up, thereby causing nearly every mistake that has been discovered, encumbering the books at least three fold, and adding greatly to the labor of both the auditor and treasurer. In view of the future condition of the treasury, your committee are of opinion that but few warrants will be taken away, the holder preferring them cashed by the treasurer; I am therefore instructed to recommend, that hereafter no claim against the state shall be divided on different warrants. Your committee are convinced that the redemption of lands bid in by the state for taxes, has greatly increased the labor and responsibilities of the auditor; without allowing him any additional compensation, it is deemed most proper to recommend, that instead of giving him additional clerks, that he shall be allowed the same per cent. on all amounts heretofore and hereafter to be collected by him, that is allowed to tax collectors; and this, your committee think, will work no hardship to the state, as we find in every instance of redemption, the state has received sixteen per cent., amounting to no inconsiderable sum. Upon comparison of the last appropriation bill with the vouchers, it is found that thirty-three dollars were paid to Hendrick and Clyne, more than was authorized by said appropriation bill. In explanation, the auditor states that he drew his warrants in accordance with a manuscript, furnished him by the clerk of the house of representatives, purporting to be a true copy of the appropriation bill, and that he believes that there is a typographical error in the printed copy, which is not competent for your committee to decide, and therefore hold the auditor accountable for said sum. In the settlement of a large account with Hardin S. Adams, in which there were a number of warrants issued, your committee find that the auditor issued his warrants for fifty dollars too much, for which he is also held accountable. Also, in the account of Charles W. Moody there was no voucher for an entry in his favor for nine dollars. The above are all the errors, not heretofore rectified, that your committee were able to discover; and we would here remark, that the great wonder is, that more mistakes in the great press of business has not occurred. Your committee are of opinion that the erection of a counter across the auditor's office, would be of great convenience and benefit to that officer, behind which settlements would be made and papers remain undisturbed by the crowds, which frequently assemble there. In reference to the auditor's office, your committee beg leave to make one other suggestion. It is very important that a book shall be kept, in which the name of every county, and individual, having transactions with the office, shall be raised, with the usual debit and credit on different pages, which at a glance would show the precise state of each account, thereby greatly simplyfying and preventing the possibility of impositions in the vast number of jury and witness tickets as is liable at present. And it is believed that enough of the labor will be cut off by the prevention of the farther issuance of more than one warrant to each claim, to enable the auditor with the present assistance to keep said books, especially if he shall be allowed a fair compensation for the redemption of lands.

Your committee take great pleasure in stating that upon a careful examination of the books and vouchers in the treasurer's office, but one error of twenty cents was discovered, and that was in favor of the state.

The register, journal, and disbursement books are all neatly kept, and agree in all the references with each other. Upon comparison of the books of the auditor and treasurer, there is a discrepancy of thirty-two dollars and sixty-six cents, the treasurer acknowledging the receipt into the treasury of that amount more than the auditor has charged against him. That officer having accounted for said amount to the state, your committee deemed it unnecessary to institute a labored investigation to ascertain at what particular time or place the discrepancy occurred. We find ninety-two thousand six hundred dollars in United States treasury notes, now in the treasury, on account of the two and three per cent. funds. The five millions of bonds issued on account of the Union bank, have been entered regularly on the treasurer's book, and are now canceled and lying in that office. Your committee would recommend that a bond fire be made of them in front of the capitol on some day previous to the adjournment of the present session of the legislature. Your committee would present the same inducements for the erection of a counter across the treasurer's office, which induced the recommendation as to the auditor's. And in view of the probable future state of the treasury, it is believed that the money would not be safe in the office as at present, and would therefore recommend the erection of a fire proof vault in said office. Upon footing up the accounts of the treasurer, your committee find the sum of one hundred and sixty six dollars, sixty hundredths, due that officer on the 1st of January last.

The books of the commissioner of public buildings are found to be correct; and your committee beg to remark that it is believed that the legitimate duties of the treasurer will require the undivided attention of that officer; and consequently, if the additional duties of commissioner of public buildings shall be required of the treasurer, it is but just that a reasonable compensation shall be allowed him.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. R. CANNON,
Chairman.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That said courts of law, or the judges thereof, shall limit a time (not less than one year, nor more than two years,) for the creditors of such bank to present their claims to said trustee or trustees, and direct public notice to be given thereof, by publication in some newspaper published in the city of Jackson, in this state, for at least three months; and all claims not presented within the time allotted, shall be barred; it shall further be the duty of said trustee or trustees, to keep a well bound book in which he or they shall be compelled to register the name of each person presenting a claim, the date of its presentation, its nature and description, and its amount; and to endorse upon all claims the time when they were presented, and return the same to the owner. It shall also be his or their duty to allow all just claims against such bank, and reject such as are unjust, marking each claim as allowed or rejected, in the book required to be kept by him or them as aforesaid, collect the debts due such bank, sell its property and convert all its assets into money, and make report of all the claims allowed against such bank, as well as those rejected, and of his or their other proceedings to the courts or the judges thereof, at such time or times, and in such manner as the court or judge shall direct or approve, and give such notice as the court or judge shall prescribe, to any creditor whose claim shall have been rejected either in whole or in part. time of such renewal with the principal, so as to make such interest hereafter bear interest; and such renewed debts shall hereafter bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That any trustee or trustees that have heretofore been appointed, or that may hereafter be appointed by any of said courts, shall be compelled to enter into bond, the amount to be ascertained by the probable value of the assetts, in a penalty, and with security to be approved by the court or judge thereof, appointing him or them; which bond shall be made payable to the governor of this state for the time being, and his successors in office, conditioned that said trustee or trustees shall well and faithfully stand to, abide by and perform all and singular the requirements of this act, and also the act to which this is an amendment, and shall also stand to, abide by and perform such orders, rules and judgments, as the court appointing him or them, or the judge thereof shall make; and upon satisfactory proof being made to the court or the judge thereof, that the amount or security of such bond is insufficient, it shall be the duty of said court or judge, to require said trustee or trustees to give a new and sufficient bond, and on his or their failure to do so, the said court or judge shall remove said trustee or trustees, and appoint a successor or successors, who shall also give bond as required by this act; and in case of the death of said trustee or trustees, or his or their resignation, or otherwise refusing or neglecting to act, the said court, or the judge thereof, shall appoint a successor or successors, who shall also give bond as required by this act; and such newly appointed trustee or trustees, shall be vested with all the powers and authorities, and charged with all the duties of the original trustee or trustees; and that said judge may do all acts and things required in this section, either in vacation or term time.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Jackson, 26 Feb., 1846.

To the hon. the legislature of the State of Mississippi:

The undersigned had the honor at the commencement of the present session, to inform your honorable body, that specie would so accumulate in this department, that it would be necessary to provide new and safe receptacles for the public treasure. This event has occurred, and I now ask leave to inform the legislature, that there is cash enough now in the treasury room when counted, to fill the safe, the only place for its deposite in this room that locks. The insecurity of the pulic treasure in this room, not under lock and key, is apparent to all.

The undersigned, therefore, asks your honorable body to provide for him a place where he can keep the money of the state in safety. He is informed that there is a large safe in the Union bank, in this city.

Very respectfully,
your obedient servant,
WM. CLARK,

I will remark that I had some doubts whether the law granting a contingent fund to the auditor to enable him to furnish "books, stationary and fuel, for the legislature and state officers," authorized payments for water, cutting up the wood, sweeping and scouring up the furniture in the capitol, and state offices, &c. But upon consultation with the other officers, it was thought that as it could not be expected that the state officers should perform these labors themselves, and as they were for the benefit of the public, it was judged those payments were at least within the spirit of the law, and being appproved by the executive, they were made accordingly.

Very respectfully,
your obedient servant,
JAMES E. MATTHEWS,
Auditor of P. A.

Warrant to Samuel Matthews for boy cutting up 35 1-2 cords wood,	26 62

To the House of Representatives:

The bill for the relief of William Rawles, of Tunica county, W. W. Laseter, of Coahoma, and Thomas Brewster, of Tishemingo, is returned to the house in which it originated, with my objections to its becoming a law. It is essential to the preservation and the due administration of justice, that each of the three great departments of government should act within the sphere of its constitutional authority, and that powers which have been delegated to one department should not be exercised by another. The tenth section, article five, of the constitution, gives to the governor "the power to grant reprieves and pardons, and to remit fines; and in cases of forfeiture to stay the collector until the next session of the legislature; and to remit forfeitures by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

The first section of the bill before me remits a forfeiture against William Rawles. The second section remits a fine against William W. Lasseter. In the first of these cases, the legislative body is exercising a power which has been confided to the governor and senate; and in the second instance, a power which rests wholy and entirely with the executive. Such exercise of power by the legislative body is in derogation of the principle above laid down, and in violation of the second section of the second article of the constitution, which forbids "any person or collection of persons, being of one department of the government, to exercise any powers properly belonging to either of the others."

A. G. BROWN.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
4th March, 1846.

A message from the senate.

Mr. Speaker.—The senate have adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the secretary inform the house of representatives that the senate have completed its business, and are now ready to adjourn sine die.

The Speaker arose, and delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

The resolution which has just been read calls for an expression of my feelings on the present occasion.

The terms of approbation in which your resolution is couched, approving my course as the presiding officer of this house, during its present session, demands from me the expression of my gratitude for this expression of your confidence, and for which I tender to you my thanks. Gentlemen, I left home with no expectation of occupying, or a desire to occupy the distinguished office to which, by your partiality I have been called to fill. When I left home, my expectation and desire was, to occupy a seat on the floor of the house, where I could best serve and promote the interest of my constituents; but by your kindness, my labors have been directed differently.

On entering upon the duties of the office which I now occupy, the only promise made by me was, that the duties should be discharged with fidelity and impartiality, which promise I have endeavored to fulfil.

Next to the approbation and approval of my own conscience, my desire has been so to demean myself as to meet with the approval of the members of the house of representatives. Having received an expression of your approval of my official conduct, and the approval of my own conscience, my highest ambition has been attained.

It is exceedingly gratifying to know that the members of this house separate with the kindest feelings for each other, and it is still more gratifying that I am able to assure each member of the house of representatives, that I part with them with the best and kindest feelings. Your courtesy and forbearance toward me, have been most gratrful to my feelings; and for which I again tender you my thanks.

Gentlemen—our acts will go forth to the people of Mississippi, either for "weal or for woe," and we are now about to disperse and return to the bosom of our families, and to our constituents, and I trust we shall hear from them, the expression, "well done good and faithful servants." We are now about to separate, never, never, to meet again in this world, I must therefore be permitted to invoke the blessing of God to accompany us through life, comfort us in death, and be our lasting felicity beyond the grave.

The following remarks were made by the hon. Jas. W. Wade who was appointed speaker pro. tem., during the indisposition of the speaker. Mr. Wade being repeatedly called for, arose and said,

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I had not expected upon this occasion any marked attention; and it is with extreme diffidence that I now rise to respond to the call just made upon me. The circumstances, however, that surround me, forbid my silence, and the feelings that at this moment pervade my bosom, prompt me to offer some expression of the gratitude which I feel for your generous confidence heretofore expressed, which emotions, at this time, are enlivened by the call just made. Your kind and respectful deportment towards me, since we first assembled under this roof, in the character of public servants, calls on me for a grateful acknowledgment, and especially for the honor conferred upon me, by calling me to preside over your deliberations, for the brief period, during the illness of our proper presiding officer. Though sensible that there were others of this body, far more competent to perform the duties of presiding officer, than myself; yet I am quite certain that no one could have entered upon the discharge of these responsible duties, faithfully to perform them, than myself. From my inexperience in that capacity, I was frequently thrown upon your indulgence, which so far as I know, was kindly extended, and by me properly appreciated. We have been assembled in the public service, nearly nine weeks; our duties have been arduous, and it is hoped, and believed, will redound to the public weal.

During a portion of our delibetations, in the heat of excited debate, there were occurrences to be regretted, but I am happy to say that at this moment, so far as I know, none but the kindest feelings pervades the bosome of the members of this body. We are about to conclude our labors, and gentlemen, duty points out the necessity of separation; and as an individual, it is with feelings of approbation and regret that I look forward to the moment which fast approaches, when we shall retire from this hall and separate for an indefinite period; each repairing to his home and family, there to resume his usual vocation.—Gentlemen, for your civilities at all times extended towards me, you have my unfeigned thanks; and for your future welfare, you have my most fervent wishes.

Upon motion of Mr. Harris,

The clerk was requested to inform the Senate that the House of Representative have completed its business, and are now ready to adjourn sine die.

The speaker arose and announced that in conformity with the joint resolutions passed by the two houses, this house stand adjourn sine die.

JAMES WHITFIELD,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
